

Budget of Breezy Local Happenings Here and There

Miss Addie Glascock, of Chestertown, has been communicating with the Naval authorities in an effort to get an official report concerning the fate of her nephew, Lieut. Turner Ashby Glascock, one of the six officers of the submarine S-51, which sank with its crew after being rammed by the steamer City of Rome months ago.

The Lieutenant formerly was a Baltimorean, living on Druid Hill avenue until he was sixteen. Then he moved with his parents to San Antonio, Texas. He has a relative, Wm. E. Glascock, who lives at 3510 Clifton avenue, Walbrook. He said he had not seen the Naval officer for several years.

The people of Kent county and of St. James Church will have the opportunity next Sunday at 11 a. m. of hearing M. H. H. Joachim, of India, writer, traveler and lecturer. He has a distinct message and knows how to convey it. As a speaker, he has no peer among his people. His natural gift of eloquence has amazed European and American audiences. His ability to captivate any audience is remarkable. Don't miss this treat.

Fire of undetermined origin destroyed the Methodist Protestant Church at Downs' Chapel, Saturday afternoon entailing a loss of $4,000 on which there was an insurance of about $2,500. The chapel is one of the many old churches of Delaware, and its erection dates back almost 100 years. The congregation which is served by a circuit pastor, is composed of about 40 members. The organ and some of the furniture was saved. The Rev. E. G. Mumford, pastor of Ewell's Church, Clayton, is pastor.

The house on the farm of W. E. Hart, tenanted by Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Hebron, near VanDyke's school house, at Blackbird, was burned on Friday night, the family barely escaped, not saving any of their furniture or clothing. Mr. Hart will rebuild at once.

Col. T. Coleman Dupont was in the Chestertown harbor on his fine yacht Wednesday. He and his party spent a short time in the town and then went on for a cruise on the Chester river.

A popularity contest being conducted in connection with the Chestertown carnival under Mrs. James G. Beck's direction, is causing rivalry in the county for the honor of wearing the designation, "Miss Kent County" and seven attractive girls are in the contest. The committee conducting the affair has selected the following contestants: Miss Rebecca Jarrell, Susie Smith and Dorothy Pennington, Chestertown; Helen Tyler, Millington; Julia Williams, Worton; Elizabeth Smith, Fairlee, and Elizabeth Crew, Betterton. The winner of the designation, "Miss Kent County," will be announced this Saturday evening, at the closing of the carnival.

Some malicious persons have injured the new State Road warning signs along the State Roads of the county and Chairman Mackall states that he has offered a reward of $100 for information leading to the arrest of the guilty persons. These persons have used shotguns to injure the signs.

Signals of this type, he says, have been erected on State roads at a cost to the commission of $130,000. We have found that the signals are being used as targets to shoot at and to throw stones at; we have found that they have been hacked at with hammers.

"In one instance we found a signal that had been torn from its post by means of a wire cable attached to a motor truck. We propose to stop the malicious destruction of the signals.

Mr. Mackall said the signals cost $40 apiece. Erection of the signals along State Highways was completed in August.
