Longest Telephone Cable

MAKING THE LAST SPLICE IN THE NEW YORK-CHICAGO LONG DISTANCE CABLE, JUST PLACED IN SERVICE

Again America leads with the longest telephone cable in the world. The new long distance cable, just placed in service between New York and Chicago, is 861 miles in length, nearly twice as long as any other telephone cable in the world. The construction work has been in progress for about seven years and the cost of the cable, fully equipped, will be approximately $25,000,000.

The cable was placed in underground conduit for 144 miles, through cities, while in the open country it was suspended on poles for a distance of 717 miles.

More than 250 telephone circuits are provided and over 500 telegraph messages can also be sent simultaneously through this cable. To provide facilities for the same number of telephone and telegraph circuits by open wire construction about ten heavily loaded pole lines of the usual type would be required.

Prior to the use of cables for long distance telephone circuits it was necessary to use the familiar type of open wire construction with 40 to 60 separate wires carried on a single pole line. This type of construction is subject to interference from severe storms, particularly when the wires are loaded with sleet. Furthermore, the number of routes which it is practicable to utilize for long distance lines of this kind are limited. Many years ago it was found necessary to use cables instead of open wire in the construction of local telephone plants in cities.

The problem of long distance telephone service through cables is distinctly different from the problem involved in the use of cables in local exchange plants, but after a large amount of research and engineering work, long distance telephone service through cables was successfully accomplished and cables have been utilized in various sections, as, for example, from Boston to Washington, 450 miles.

Following the successful operation of these cables and the better service which was thereby made available to the public, consideration was given to the use of cables for longer distances in other sections. After a thorough study of the situation it was decided to install a cable from New York to Chicago.

While the New York-Chicago cable is the longest telephone cable in the world, it is only a part of a comprehensive cable system which in a few years will link many of the important centers in the more densely populated sections of the country east of the Missouri and north of the Ohio and Potomac Rivers. This cable is designed to operate as an extension of other existing long toll cables, such as the Boston-Washington cable, which together with many of the Atlantic seaboard cities. It is also designed to operate in connection with cables which are under construction of planned, such as the cable from Chicago to St. Louis, 300 miles, to be completed in 1926, and a cable from New York via Albany, Utica, Rochester, Buffalo and Erie to Cleveland, which is under construction.

MAGIC OF RODEO ROPERS

Men with iron wrists, who can send a lasso snapping through the air with accuracy of a rifle bullet, will work their magic when famous ropers at the Chicago Roundup and World's Championship Rodeo to be held at Chicago, beginning August 15. A good portion of the prizes put up by the Association of Commerce, under whose auspices the cowboy contest is held, is set aside for the ropers. Champions, past and present, have to be in hand to compete for the awards and the championship title. Austin, who has won on many big rodeos, will be in the ring. A steer or calf in action makes remarkable speed and the loop of the lariat whirling through the air and to have it ring around horns or neck is one of the most difficult of cowboy stunts. The experts are bringing their own roping ponies, so that highly trained that some are almost priceless.

SECRETARY LIKES THE RODEO

He's "Bill." But in official Washington he's William Marion Taylor, secretary of agriculture, a member of President Coolidge's official staff. Secretary Jarline has been invited to attend the Chicago Roundup and World's Championship Rodeo, to be held for nine days, beginning August 15. He knows his man, for he has been on hand for this greatest of cowboy stunts. The experts are bringing their own roping ponies, so that highly trained that some are almost priceless.

When they like to tell how the secretary of agriculture busted through a rope. They're proud of their "Bill" and they're willing to bet cowhands battle for honors. The competitors will be in the arena at the Chicago Rodeo and the largest cash purses paid anywhere.

WHAT'S IN THE AIR?

Station W. C. A. P.'s Big Fall and Winter Programs.

During the fall and winter, station W. C. A. P. will present to the radio audience a well-balanced series of programs consisting of the better grade of music, both vocal and instrumental. Educational talks, both technical and non-technical will be used in proportions with the well balancing of an evening's program.

The management has given considerable attention to the broadcasting of symphony concerts, both in large and small ensembles. Also, a reasonable amount of dance music by well-known jazz orchestras will be put on the air during the late hours of the evening, which is the time that such music is demanded by the listening public.

This station will endeavor to bring to the radio audience all important affairs of the government that can be broadcast, including the President's Messages to Congress. Debates in the Senate and House of Representatives which have attracted very popular national importance are possibilities.

National sporting events are given special consideration, and will be heard at frequent intervals during the fall and winter.

Recently, W. C. A. P., inaugurated a series of organ recitals played by prominent organists of Washington on organs in the principal churches of the City. The recitals are usually of one hour duration. The organ program being interspersed with vocal solos by leading artists. As a weekly feature this has proven very popular and will be continued during the fall and winter.

W. C. A. P., "Washington Chesapeake and Potomac" is operated by the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company at Washington, and is one of the broadcasting stations of the Bell system. This station broadcasts on a frequency of 640 kilocycles, equivalent to 483.5 meters, and is on the air Monday, Wednesday and Friday usually from 7:15 to 12 midnight. On Sunday at 11 A. M. and 4 P. M. church services are broadcast, while from 6:20 to 9:30 P. M., a special musical program from the Capitol Theatre, New York, is also an attraction.

THE TELEPHONE'S 50TH ANNIVERSARY

Alexander Graham Bell's father was a teacher of the dumb and the son followed in his footsteps for a time. It was teaching the dumb to speak and pondering over deafness that got the younger Bell to fiddling with the thing we know today as the telephone. He worked away at his experiments until on June 2, 1875, he succeeded in transmitting sound over his invention.

THE FIRST TELEPHONE

He was no doubt a happy man and believed profoundly in the possibilities of his achievement. Yet it is extremely doubtful if in his wildest flights of fancy, the inventor of the telephone ever dreamed that in fifty years it would represent an industry of world-wide service, with 15,000,000 instruments in use, 40,000,000 miles of wire, and more than 350,000 operators.

The story is told of how Theodore N. Vail's friends in Washington deprecated his rashness in quitting a perfectly good government job and putting himself and his entire savings, $1,000, into this wild scheme of the dreamer, Bell. He wanted to lure Joe Cannon into it, too, but he was too foxy and escaped.

Fifty years doesn't even make an old man. The telephone has linked the world together in less than the span of a lifetime. Today it is leading to still greater wonders in its development.—From "Public Service Magazine."

BRITISH PUBLICIST LAUDS TELEPHONES IN AMERICA

Sir Charles F. Higham, the distinguished British publicist and authority on economic conditions, paid high tribute to the excellence of the American telephone service on his return to England after a recent trip to the United States.

"In America," said Sir Charles, in the course of an interview published in the Westminster Gazette of London, "every household has a telephone, and the housewife does most of her shopping over it. Every grocer and butcher, large or small, does nearly all his business over the telephone."

"The American telephone companies," Sir Charles pointed out, "make every effort to encourage the use of the telephone," but he added, "in England the people are not encouraged to install telephones."
