RED STAR OIL STOVE

Think of getting vigorous "Lively Heat" from an oil stove! Yes, the same intense cooking heat given by a bed of red-hot coals or a modern gas or electric burner. That is the kind of "Lively Heat" you get from a Red Star Oil Stove—produced from common kerosene or gasoline, without smoke. Converts these fuels into a gaseous vapor which, when burned, gives the active, keen heat required for perfect cooking and baking. As beautiful, sturdy, sanitary and easy to clean as the best gas or electric stove. Yet it costs no more than any good oil stove.

A type and size for every home

The Red Star brings freedom from the inconveniences of a coal or wood stove. It starts cooking the instant burner is lighted. It means a cool kitchen in summer. The oven burner provides delightful warmth for cool days. Your furnace insures a comfortable kitchen in winter. Convenient terms of payment gladly arranged.

Our Thanksgiving
Emily Burks Adams

WE HAVE all heard remarks similar to the following: "Well, I don't know what I have to be thankful for! Just think of the money we have lost, and then we had to give up our dear home. It just seems like our lot is worse than anybody's!"

One, on hearing such, feels like singing. "Look all around you, find some one in need, help somebody today." We thankless creatures! The only thing that occasions such a remark is the fact that we are all blessed with too much. We are all millionaires, if we would but take into account our wonderful opportunities and the grand privileges with which God has endowed us. When one has a feeling that his is a sorrowful plight, he has only to look around to see many in worse circumstances. We are too prone to count money a great asset, and if we do not figure a large bank account on which to draw, or live in a mansion, like unto our neighbor, we are inclined to feel that our blessings are few, great love being manifested by humanity. We have all learned that we cannot exist, one without the other. Water never rises above the source. The home is the source of civilization, and we have awakened to the fact that the humblest home, the vilest hovel, the one great thing for which we can all be thankful, and it reaches hovel and palace, and is more pronounced than at any period since the days of our Pilgrim fathers—is the great love being manifested by humanity. We have all learned that we cannot exist, one without the other. Water never rises above the source. The home is the source of civilization, and we have awakened to the fact that the humblest home, the vilest hovel, the one great thing for which we can all be thankful, and it reaches hovel and palace, and is more pronounced than at any period since the days of our Pilgrim fathers—is the great love being manifested by humanity. We have all learned that we cannot exist, one without the other. Water never rises above the source. The home is the source of civilization, and we have awakened to the fact that the humblest home, the vilest hovel,

"Home is Where Contentment Is, and Love Abounds."

have a place in the great scheme of American civilization. Truly we are our brother's keeper; we cannot live unto ourselves nor can we rise above the source—the nucleus of civilization—the home. All our great leaders have come to this realization. The ministers are advocating social and community service—the government is backing it. The nation has failed to become christianized from within the four walls of churches, and so on every hand is a cry for social betterment—a call for the best of our talents to be used for the development of boys and girls socially. Back to the home is the slogan, for unless our homes are perfected, our community bettered and our love for humanity strengthened, our nation cannot attain the highest standard. So for this great move we are thankful, and as we render our thanks to God, let us pledge ourselves anew, realizing more fully our responsibilities to our home, to our community and to God.

A CHEERFUL GUY
I have absolutely nothing to be thankful for. You can be thankful you're not dead, can't you?
What! And me carrying a big life insurance.

We're Thankful
We're thankful for Mayflower Pilgrims. Those people of sturdy stock whose ocean was thirty thousand miles. When counted by the clock. Those travelers came with high purpose. "The Book" they brought along. And they've given us, as inheritance, God, and the Freeman's song. —Rebecca Z. McKay, in Chicago Post.

God's Goodness
God's goodness hath been great to thee. Let never day nor night unhalloed pass. But still remember what the Lord hath done.—Shakespeare.

Impatient Love
Love reckons hours for months, and days for years; and every little absence is an age.—Dryden.

WHO SAID
"All Is Lost Save Honor"

THESE words are attributed to Francis I, King of France, when he learned that his armies had been defeated by those of Emperor Charles of Austria, and that he would be forced to forfeit a large part of his dominions. In the year 1519, Francis became one of the competitors for the empire of Maximilian but the choice fell on Charles of Austria, the grandson of Maximilian, and from that time on the two monarchs were bitter rivals. Charles assumed the title of Charles V, and his armies and those of Francis I were continually warring. Both sought the aid of England and the support of the English government was, at different times, with Francis and then with Charles. It was with the idea of cementing the friendship existing between him and the king of England that Francis I invited the English monarch, Henry VIII, to an interview which took place near Calais. Francis spared no expense to see that this affair was the most magnificent that had been staged and money was spent so lavishly in arranging the details of the meeting that the place where it was held has been referred to as the "Field of the Cloth of Gold."

In the year 1521, war broke out between Francis and Charles and Francis was finally taken prisoner. He was granted his release only on condition that he renounce his claim to some of his greatest possessions. A later war in which England sided with Francis prevented the carrying out of these demands of Charles, but soon after this Francis found himself engaged in another war in which the Duke King of England sided with Charles. Peace was concluded at Crespy, very fortunately for the worn-out armies of the French monarch.

Buy Christmas Seals
A penny's worth of fresh air to bring color to pale little cheeks and brightness to dull eyes—
A penny's worth of yellow milk to be transformed into good red blood in the veins of a little child threatened with tuberculosis—
A penny's worth of hope for some family burdened with the specter of the great white plague—These are things your penny for a Christmas Seal will do.

Your Christmas Shopping
Is your Christmas shopping finished? Did you buy the pretty platinum bar pin for Mother that she so much wanted and the extra fine fountain pen for Father?
A little Betty to have the finest doll ever and will Bobby waken to find a small motor car so much like Father's that he will look for the real gas tank? Is Santa's pack all ready so that he will have no trouble getting down the chimneys?
If you have finished your gift-getting and have the satisfaction of knowing you have contributed to the happiness of your dear ones, you doubtless feel that you have fulfilled your obligation of social citizenship, but there may be one thing you have forgotten.
Have you purchased Christmas Seals to carry on the splendid work in the prevention and cure of tuberculosis? They are one cent each. Buy enough so that you can brighten each gift package with these messengers of health; paste one on every Christmas card and letter you send to a friend.
Make this your Christmas present to Humanity.

Penny Insurance!
Insurance for a penny! If this were offered you, surely you would buy. And it is offered. The Christmas seal is the answer. This little stamp, attractive in design, is not merely ornamental. It is sold for the proceeds of the sale are devoted to the fight on tuberculosis. It has been a potent weapon for good health in the past. It started a great work. And it carries the health message to the far corners of the earth. Every package and letter, adorned with a Christmas seal is a reminder that the call is to all to enlist in this battle against one of mankind's worst foes. For health's sake buy Christmas seals.

Why Worry With Coal

for your furnace with its uncertain heat, soot, ashes and constant work and bother, when you can have a satisfactory oil burner installed complete for less than $200.00. An oil burner for heating is one of the most essential of all modern home conveniences.

We have heated our large frame house for the past two years with an oil burner in a steam boiler with perfect satisfaction. The owners of ten other homes I installed burners like ours the same fall are all enthusiastic about oil burners, and my wife says she would not take a thousand dollars for ours if she could not get another like it. She never has to bother with the furnace when I am away for a day or more or worry about having plenty of heat all the time. It is practically noiseless and the oil is very little if any more expensive to use than coal. No janitor is needed to tend the furnace. I can install one for you and guarantee it to give you heating satisfaction if, after an examination, I find your conditions suitable for oil heating. Phone or write me if interested, giving size of house, make of furnace and average amount of coal used in a season, and I will help you to secure satisfactory heat if possible.
