Vast Store of Nectar That Is Unproductive

Apiculture, or bee-keeping, is one of the few branches of agriculture that does not tend to exhaust the soil. The account with the honey crop therefore does not include the usual item, "cost of fertilizer," says a report in the New York Times.

The nectar produced in the flowers is wasted unless gathered by bees or similar insects. It has been conservatively estimated that not over one tenth of all the nectar produced in the United States is actually harvested. The amount that goes to waste in a dozen counties near New York city is over 1,500,000 pounds.

The study of the honey bee and bee-keeping methods is becoming more popular, and to satisfy those desirous of knowing more about this subject short courses are being offered in several of the leading schools and colleges, among them Columbia university. Many people living in the suburbs cannot go in for poultry raising, gardening, etc., because of lack of space. For them a few hives of bees should afford an interesting and remunerative enterprise.

World Illuminated by Spread of the Bible

A man from Corea arrived recently in London with his two sons. He could not speak a word of English, but he showed an address inside a little Bible and was guided to the Bible house, in Queen Victoria street. Then he poured out a heap of money on a table and pointed to his two sons. When an interpreter was found, writes a London correspondent of the Christian Science Monitor, the man related how he knew of nothing else in England but the place which had sent his Bible to him in Corea, and he had come there with his sons because he wanted them to be educated as Christians.

In the windows of the Bible house are Bibles which show the link with little peoples and great peoples all over the world. Because of this work, the Bible, or parts of the Bible, are printed in 572 languages today. By reason of such efforts the Gospel has been published in a fresh language every six weeks for the last ten years.

New Mechanical Marvel

Cigars have been sorted by hand according to color. The process was slow, expensive and inaccurate. To eliminate the hand-sorter a machine was invented and is now in use. It recognizes 32 shades of brown in the cigar wrappers, puts each by itself and does it all at a rate better than one a second. Some of the principles of radio and photography are used, but the description is too technical for us laymen. The machine is called a triumph of science. Most of us could not understand how it distinguishes such fine shades, when the average eye cannot do it.

The machine is another development in mechanical invention. Like the linotype, it displays an "intelligence" almost beyond belief. Perhaps if the inventors keep working they eventually will create a machine with "superhuman intelligence" that can be placed behind the automobile steering wheels and prevent some of the grade-crossing accidents.—New Orleans Item.

Sunlight and Health

We now know that health and well-being are directly dependent on the sun through acting through the medium of the sunbeams sent down to earth. There is something more essential in the sun than the glowing splendors of the sunrise and sunset, the brightness of the day and its mental effect of creating hope, joy. It has the power of stimulating growth and building up resistance. It is one of the best medicines that God has given to man.

The ultra-violet rays, those invisible waves of light which the camera only can see, are the life-giving, health-creating element of sunlight. They are that part of the sunshine that helps to prevent rickets, a disease all too common in nursing infants.

Rich but Unhealthy

The climate of British Honduras is hot, moist and generally unhealthy for foreigners. The coast is, as a rule low and swampy and a large part of the interior is covered with forests yielding large quantities of mahogany and logwood. Over 50,000 acres are under cultivation and yield fruits, rubber, coffee, etc. The colony is administered by a governor, and has an executive and legislative council. United States gold currency was adopted as legal tender in 1894. The majority of the population is composed of negroes, mulattoes and Indians.

No Blare of Trumpets

With the opera flourishing, and the names of prima donna figuring in all the papers, it is interesting to recall the modest announcement which heralded the first appearance of such a lady on the British stage. It appeared in 1692, and ran as follows: "The Italian lady, just come over sea, who is so famous for her singing, will perform." No more than that, not a word about her palaces, her jewels, her pets, or her differences with other gifted ladies. No mention even of her name.

Must Make Opportunity

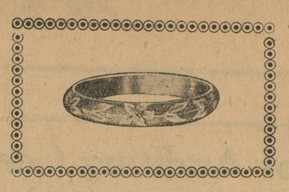

Time and tide, the adage says, wait for no man; neither does anything else that nowadays is run on schedule. The great struggle of modern life is to make connection with opportunity, for this makes possible success.—Grit.

The Fool's Fire

Every morning in the country forest fires burn up the equivalent of a bushel basket full of $10 bills. When the last bill is in ashes our daily waste of $100,000 is accomplished and we square away for the day's work to replace with thought and sweat what folly has destroyed.—Colliers.

Mahogany

Loggers of mahogany settled British Honduras more than 200 years ago and today the wood is still the important factor in the colony's business life.

MEN ARE PECULIAR

about such things as ice cream and candy. As boys they were quick to admit their appetite for such goodies. But as they grow older and become men they seldom admit a likeness for such sweets. However, the men who know Gill Bros. pure ice cream are quite willing to confess that they have as big an appetite for it now as they did in summer months. Quality counts!
