PLEASURE BOAT PILED ON KENT SHORE BY GALE

Driven on the rocks at Deep Point, Kent county, Md., owner and guests on a sixty-five-foot pleasure yacht braved death last Wednesday night to fight through darkness, fog and a Chesapeake bay gale to shore. All are reported to have landed safely.

The yacht, a fifty-ton vessel owned by R. W. Nelson, of Westfield, N. J., lies badly damaged some distance from shore.

The boat had just gone through the Chesapeake and Delaware Canal, en route down the bay to Norfolk, when it was seized in the grip of a strong northwest gale as it emerged from the waterway at Chesapeake City.

Enveloped in a dense fog, the ship was guided blindly, the pilot attempting to bring it safely out into the open water, when suddenly there was a crash and a huge hole was torn in its side.

Fearful lest the wind should toss the yacht into deep water, where it would sink, Mr. Nelson and his guests, N. R. Nelson and Edward C. Winter, both of Westfield, put off in the small boat. After a struggle they reached shore.

They had left Atlantic City Tuesday, entering the canal at Delaware City. An attempt will be made to tow the yacht to Betterton Harbor, five miles down the shore, in an effort to make repairs so that the trip to Norfolk can*be continued.

MILK PRICES ARE REDUCED 23 CENTS

City Market Weakens And Recent Increase Is Cancelled — Rate To Remain Same As During Last Year.

Dairymen of the Philadelphia milkshed area, which includes the whole of Kent county, will find their pay checks considerably curtailed as the result of a 23-cent reduction in milk prices, effective last Saturday.

The loss to Kent county dairymen, figured on the basis of milk quantities delivered is nearly $3,000.

Although the reduction in price is a disappointment to county producers, it does not represent a loss as compared with last year's prices, as the advance of 23 cents had been in effect only a little more than one month.

Last November at a conference of the Tri-State Dairymen's Association and representatives of dealers in the Philadelphia milk-shed, an agreement was reached whereby milk would be immediately advanced 23 cents per 100. Under the terms of the contract this price was to be continued if proportionate increases could be obtained for fluid milk delivered on the streets of Philadelphia.

In recent weeks, however, there has been a tremendous decline in the demand for milk, with the result that the price to farmers goes back to the old rate of $2.71 per 100, which existed throughout 1925.

REV. J. H. FITCHETT DROWNED

A telegram from Pocomoke City Tuesday says: The Pocomoke river at this point was dragged yesterday in a search for the body of Rev. J. H. Fitchett, colored, Methodist preacher, of this city, who disappeared the middle of last week.

That he was a possible victim of drowning was indicated by the finding of his umbrella on the wharf of R. I. Lednum's Packing Houses, only a few yards above the bridge spanning the river.

Rev. Fitchett served Bethel A. M. E. Church, colored, at Chestertown for five years and was popular with his people. He left here and went to Pocomoke.

The A. and P. Store at Rock Hall has closed its meat department until spring and the manager, Alvin Brown, has been transferred to Rehoboth, Del.

HAND OF DEATH

Charles M. Browne, 69, one of the most widely known farmers in Kent county, died at his home near Fairlee Friday following a short illness.

For thirty-five years Mr. Browne had been a tenant on the farm of the late Richard D. Hynson, near St. Paul's Church, and removed to his present home last year, the first change of location in his long experience as a progressive farmer.

During the political ascendancy of the late Mr. Hynson, Mr. Browne was one of the prominent district leaders, and though never having been elected to public office, wielded a strong influence in party councils. He was a man with a big heart and a jovial disposition.

Mr. Browne is survived by a widow, and three children, Morgan Browne, a farmer, Charles Browne, of Baltimore, and Miss Mary Miller Browne, a student at the University of Maryland.

The funeral took place Sunday at 2 p. m., interment at St. Paul's.

Dr. S. S. Hepburn officiating, interment in St. Paul's Cemetery. The pall bearers were Ellsworth Bowers, Wm. H. McKee, Robert R. Ayres, Thomas W. Trew, John Brice, A. Carroll Willson; C. L. Dodd, undertaker.

Mrs. Mary Marceline Burchinal, widow of the late John C. Burchinal, died at Chester Heights, Pa., Saturday, in her 75th year. Mrs. Burchinal was born near Chestertown and spent most of her life here. She radiated joy and sunshine wherever she went, a devoted mother and a sympathetic friend. One could not touch her life without feeling better for the contact. She leaves a brother, Arthur M. Brown, two daughters, Anna M. Payne and Mary C. Burchinal, and a host of friends. After services on Monday at her late residence the remains were brought to Chestertown.

Services were held on Tuesday from the residence of her nephew, A. Leon Brown, interment in Chester Cemetery. The bearers were A. Leon Brown, H. Staunton Brown, James H. Brown, C. C. Brown, Edward Wilkins, and Edw. W. Emory.

Rev. N. O. Gibson, pastor of Christ Methodist Protestant Church, was called to Philadelphia Tuesday on account of the death of his father, George H. Gibson, who died Sunday evening at the home of a second son in that city. Had the deceased lived until February 28th, he would have celebrated the 90th anniversary of his birth. He was born in Talbot county, near Oxford, February 28th, 1836, and for years was a prominent shipbuilder. He was for 15 years the superintendent of the M. P. Sunday school, and had represented the Oxford Church on several occasions as a delegate to the annual sessions of the Maryland Conference. During the past 25 years he had resided with his son in Philadelphia, and was engaged in the shipbuilding business until a few years ago when his health failed. His remains were taken to Merchantville, N. J., Wednesday for interment.

Rev. Dr. Harry Dawson Mitchell, a prominent minister of the Methodist Episcopal Church, died at his home in Ocean Grove, N. J., on Tuesday.

Mrs. Hester H. Pyle died Sunday morning at the home of her niece in Baltimore, aged 76 years and six months. The deceased was well known here, having frequently been the guest of her son, Edgar L. Pyle. Besides Mr. Pyle she is survived by another son by a former marriage, Wm. Everett, of Forest Hill, Md. Funeral services were held at the M. E. Church in Forest Hill, Tuesday, interment being made in the cemetery adjoining.

Mrs. Sophie Taggart Needham died at Peterboro, N. H., Monday. The deceased was a cousin to the late Mrs. C. H. Hurlock and formerly taught school at Piney Neck.

Mrs. David S. Melamet, prominent in musical circles in Baltimore, died at her home of heart trouble Saturday. She was the mother-in-law of Mrs. Ethel Bacchus Melamet.

Mrs. Fannie Wilmer, aged seventy-seven years, and widow of the late William H. Wilmer, died at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Story, of Queenstown, Thursday.

The deceased for a great many years before the death of Mr. Wilmer resided at "Land's End." Before her marriage she was a Miss Chambers, and was a daughter of the late John Chambers. Her only close relative is a nephew, Charles S. Smith, of Chestertown.

Funeral services were held Saturday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Story, in Queenstown, and interment in the Wilmer Burying Ground, at "Land's End" farm, on Chester river.

Whittier C. Copper, retired purser of the Chester River Line, died on Thursday last at his home in Chestertown, of paralysis after patiently suffering for more than a year. He was 54 years of age. He was the son of the late John F. and Regina M. Copper.

Mr. Copper was graduated from Washington College in the class of 1895. Taught in the schools of this county for several years at Sassafras, Still Pond and Betterton. Later he went with the Chester River Line and was purser of the Steamer B. S. Ford for nineteen years. He was a member of the Chester Lodge of Masons and of the P. O. S. of A. During his illness he had the constant care of his loving wife and son, Calvin, and a devoted sister, Miss Annie L. Copper. Funeral services will be held at his residence Sunday at 2 p. m. Rev. T. J, Sard assisted by Rev. N. O. Gibson officiating. The bearers are W. R. Startt, Charles M. Vickers, Joseph Trew, Dr. H. G. Simpers, H. B. Rote and R. Roy Walbert. Interment in Chester Cemetery. W. T. Hicks, undertaker.

Charles Knight, aged 68, a half-brother to the Misses Emma and Mary Knight and Wm. Knight, died in Philadelphia Wednesday.

Richard H. Massey, aged 76, died at his home in Quenn Anne's, after a short illness. He leaves a sister, Mrs. A. C. Armstrong, of Chestertown.

Mrs. Anna E. Crouch, aged 86, beloved wife of the late Ben R. Crouch, died in Baltimore Tuesday. Interment yesterday at Still Pond Cemetery.

COUNTY-WIDE MEETING FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 5

A county-wide meeting will be held in Chestertown Court House next Friday, February 5th, at 2 p. m. for the purpose of forming a permanent association to act in conjunction with the Del-Mar-Via Association. The speakers will be Harvey J. Avery, Fred. P. Adkins, Senator Orlando Harrison and others.

Everybody is invited. Come and help a good cause.

A preliminary meeting of the bankers' committee of the Kent county branch of the Del-Mar-Via Eastern Shore Development Association was held Wednesday afternoon in Kent County Savings Bank, when a tentative agreement was reached that each bank's appropriation to the county quota of $6,000 should be two-fifths of 1 per cent of the combined capital and surplus of each institution making a total assessment of $1600 upon the six banks in the county.

The sum of $1150 had previously been subscribed at the organization meeting in Salisbury several weeks ago by a dozen Kent countians.

SALE OF SLACUM BUS LINES

The Public Service Commission has granted Lonie I. Slacum the right to transfer his franchise for operating busses on the Eastern Shore by confirming the sale of the Lonie Slacum Bus Lines, to the Red Star Motor Coaches, Inc. The lines operated are between Cambridge and Claiborne, Cambridge and Hurlock and Cambridge and Salisbury.

Mr. Slacum started the first bus line on the shore some ten or eleven years ago by operating a bus between Cambridge and Hurlock. Later this line was extended to Salisbury and sometime after another bus was put on at Hurlock, giving them both morning and afternoon service. With the inauguration of the Claiborne-Annapolis ferry in 1919, the line was extended to Clairborne with a bus leaving Cambridge 4.45 to make connection with the evening ferry. On January 1st, of this year the Public Service Commission granted Mr. Slacum the right to operate a morning bus so that now five trips a day are made to and from Cambridge.

The transfer of the bus lines will take effect today. Mr. Slacum continuing in the garage business.

J. S. Kreeger's big jewelry stock moving sale has been a great success. The public has shown its appreciation on all sides. This sale ends tonight.

Over a ton of hog meat was stolen from the meat house of Web. Hill, of Morgnec, early Wednesday evening when no one was home. The thieves left a clue behind which is being run down.

Representatives of High Schools of five counties met at Chestertown High School yesterday and held an interesting session discussing various matters. A luncheon was served by the Domestic Science Department of the High School.
