AUGUST WARWICK IS KILLED NEAR MASSEY

A Nephew Charged With Crime Escapes To Philadelphia — Now Under Arrest And Awaiting Extradition Papers — Drink At the Bottom Of Affair.

August Warwick, colored, aged 30 years, a resident of the Negro section in Gibbstown, near Massey, was shot and instantly killed last Sunday evening at 7 o'clock while in his home. His nephew, Oscar Warwick, aged 28 years, said to have done the shooting, made his escape to Philadelphia and is under arrest awaiting extradition papers.

The two men with several others were at the elder Warwick's home and are said to have been drinking.

Elias Warwick, colored, aged 35 is alleged to have charged his nephew with going with Mrs. Elias Warwich. This started an argument during which Oscar is said to have drawn a revolver and shot and killed his uncle.

Warwick's arrest was due to the fact that a white girl, Hanna Moore, came to Massey to get Ida Boyer, eight year old negro girl who is said to be Warwick's child. After being held by police of that town the 18 year old white girl was questioned by Harrison W. Vickers, of Chestertown, acting State's Attorney, and gave him Warwick's address. Philadelphia police were immediately notified and made the arrest just before the accused is said to have been preparing his getaway. He was waiting the return of the white girl with his child. The arrest is indirectly due to John Warwick, brother of the murdered man, who boarded the Pennsylvania Railroad train at New Castle, Del., on which the white girl was coming to Maryland. She told him her intention and he notified the local authorities upon his arrival at Massey and the woman is being held in the Chestertown jail as a material witness. Tom Rankins and Harry Johnson, both colored, who assisted the accused in making his escape from Massey the night of the crime, will be held in conspiracy to obstruct justice. The accused and the witness will be held for the April term of the Circuit Court of Kent County, Md., when the trial will take place.

Drive to Improve Flocks

Farmers' wives at Church Hill and in Rich Neck are now busily engaged in a poultry improvement project almost entirely new in the flock annals of the county. Old, unprofitable hens are being selected from farm flocks to be exchanged for settings of purebred Barred Plymouth Rock eggs. The Church Hill-Rich Neck Local of the Farm Bureau has completed arrangements for the distribution of forty such settings to its members at the March meeting in Church Hill, scheduled for Monday evening, March 8th. Wm. C. Smith, Chairman of the Church Hill organization, approached recently in this connection, stated, we are only trying by this means to improve the poultry flocks of our members by removing unprofitable hens and replacing these with pullets hatched from purebred eggs. We have completed arrangements with C. M. Byrd, of Salisbury, Md., for the purchase of our eggs, and Mr. Byrd tells us that we may have forty setting ready for distribution on March 8. Our members are going to be asked to bring in two or three old hens that will be sold in Church Hill and devote the proceeds to the purchase of two settings of these eggs per farm. Since we know that our source of these eggs has been certified as an excellent source by the State University we think we can accomplish some thing in this way toward poultry improvement."

The Church Hill-Rich Neck Local headed during the past three years by Chairman Smith, has engaged in many extremely successful and profitable undertakings of a sort similar to this poultry improvement project. The section in which this live organization exists is rich in opportunities for such combined efforts, and the Farm Bureau seems to be losing no opportunities open to it for assisting in any form of improvement.

PRICE PER TON FOR TOMATOES AT $12

The Tri-State Canners' Association, composed of packers on the Eastern Shore of Maryland, the Eastern Shore of Virginia and of Delaware, is very much concerned over the outlook of the 1926 pack, and the canning industry in general. A meeting of the Worcester County branch of the association was held in the Purnell Hotel, Snow Hill, Tuesday, for the purpose of reviewing the situation, and adopting such remedial measures as would tend to put the industry in a more stable and prosperous condition.

An address to the packers was made by Field Secretary Shook, who pointed out the serious conditions affecting the packing of tomatoes. It appears that Italy has become a strong competitor of American packers for the consumption of tomatoes in the United States. The total annual consumption of tomatoes in this country is said to be about 14,000,000 cases. In 1925 the pack reached 19,750,000 cases, and Italy imported 2,000,000 cases, produced by labor that cost about 60 cents per day, and by growers who received only a few dollars per ton for their product.

An agreement was reached at the meeting, fixing the price to be paid for tomatoes this year at $12 per ton, as against $16.50 last year. The drastic cut in the price per ton is expected to result in less acreage, but in view of the deplorable conditions affecting the sale and marketing of the pack, the packers maintain that they cannot afford to pay a higher price.

A committee from the association will go to Washington to represent the situation to the Tariff Commission, with the view of obtaining legislation that will restrict the importation from foreign countries of cheap canned tomatoes, placed on the market in competition with home-grown products.

Similar group meetings will be held in every county on the Del-Mar-Va Peninsula.—Snow Hill Messenger.
