SCHOOLS OF KENT DEMAND THOUSANDS OF DOLLARS MORE

Prof. Louis C. Robinson, Superintendent of Kent County's Public Schools, appeared before the Board of County Commissioners Tuesday and asked $8,000 additional to provide for the continuation of schools. He stated that unless this sum was provided at once the schools of Kent would be closed May 1st.

The Commissioners under the State School Law are compelled to levy 67 cents on the $100 for the maintenance of schools. This sum was not only provided but 6 cents additional making 73 cents levied. Under this assessment the Kent schools were given $106,000. This sum amounts to about one-half of the total expenditures of the county.

The Commissioners are anxious to do everything possible for schools but are appalled at the increasing cost. They have asked the Superintendent to submit an itemized statement of the additional needs of the school and will consider same next Tuesday.

L. HARRIS CREW'S WOUNDS PROVE FATAL

In the News last week was the report of the shooting of one of Kent's popular young men, L. Harris Crewe, owner and proprietor of Bayside Inn at Betterton. He died at 4 o'clock Saturday morning in Jefferson Hospital, Philadelphia, to which institution he had been removed Thursday

His brother, Roland Crewe, of Huntington, Pa., was at his bedside when he expired. His sister. Mrs. Samuel G. Roseberry, of Still Pond, Md., spent Friday with him but she was compelled to return to her home Saturday. She was advised of his death Sunday morning by long distance telephone message.

Mr. Crewe was a son of the late L. Harris Crewe and Mrs. Sarah C. Crewe who made her home with him at the Bayside Inn at Betterton. He was 51 years old and had never married. The body was removed to his sister's home in Still Pond Sunday evening.

He was one of the pioneers in the summer hotel business at Betterton and had done much to make that resort one of the most popular along the Chesapeake Bay. He had left his home in Betterton the first of the week ostensibly to seek treatment for nervous trouble from which he suffered following a severe attack of influenza during the winter. He gave

The remains were brought to Still Pond by train Sunday evening to the home of his sister, Mrs. Samuel G. Roseberry, here services were held on Monday afternoon at 2.30 p. m., Rev. S. S. Hepbron officiating, interment Still Pond Cemetery, The pall bearers were H. D. Hendrickson, S. G. Roseberry, Roland Crew. Wm. Medders, W. H. Bonwill, W. H. Krusen. Undertaker, B. R. Fellows.

He is survived by his mother, Mrs. Sara C. Crew, two sisters, Mrs. S. G. Roseberry and Mrs. H. D. Hendrickson, and one brother. Roland Crew, of Huntingdon, Pa.

REAL ESTATE SALES

Frank H. Meeks has sold his 219-acre farm, near Betterton, for $9,500 to Mary E. Webb. The sale was made through the Betterton Realty Company. Mr. Meeks will give possession on May 15 and expects to stop farming and have a sale of personalty soon.

The Betterton Construction Company has sold to Wm. H. Covey, of Queen Anne's, a house and lot in Betterton and moved into the same.

Betterton and vicinity real estate is booming.

Dr. J. W. Urie has sold to H. D. Sheppard, of Hanover, Pa., the Urieville Mill property for $3.000. The mill has been torn away some years ago and only the pond with a few acres remains. Mr. Sheppard will stock the pond with fish.

The Betterton Realty Company has sold the Albert B. Groves Still Pond property to Frank H. Meeks this week. Mr. Meeks will remove there.

CANNERS OFFER 20C FOR TOMATOES

That twenty cents a basket will be the prevailing contract price for tomatoes this season, is announced by some canners.

Asserting that the present market price of canned goods does not even warrant the twenty-cent rate, E. Elmer Langrall, of J. Langrall & Bro., Inc., one of the largest pea and tomato canners on the Del-Mar-Va Peninsula, cites three outstanding causes for this condition:

Tremendous overproduction last year in the four staples including peas, corn, stringless beans and tomatoes.

Importation of two million cases of tomatoes from Italy into the United States during the year 1925.

The open market evil, which permitted many canners to pack 10c and 15c tomatoes and undersell packers who were contracted for 30-cent tomatoes.

Mr. Langrall frankly admitted that his firm had seriously considered closing the plant this year, just as was necessary in 1921. But finally the decision was reached to curtail the acreage approximately one-half and thereby reduce the pack.

WEDDING NOTES

Miss Margaret Ruth Startt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Startt, of Chestertown, and Edward A. Becker son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Becker, of Baltimore, were married Monday in the parsonage of St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran Church, Saratoga street and Fremont avenue, by the Rev. O. F. P. Weinbach. George M. Becker, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Miss Marguerite E. Hinkle was bridesmaid. Mr. and Mrs. Becker will make their home with the parents of the bridegroom at 2918 Edmondson avenue, Baltimore.

DR E. C. MAKOSKY NEW PRESIDENT OF M. P. CONFERENCE

Elected on the first ballot, Rev. E. C. Makoskey, pastor of the First M. P. Church, of Newark, N. J. was named president of the Maryland Annual Conference of the Methodist Protestant Church, which convened in its 98th annual session in the Peninsula M. P. Church, Twentieth and Washington streets Wednesday.

Mr. Makoskey received 127 votes, 117 being necessary for an election, Rev. R. L. Shipley, of Salisbury, Md., received 87 votes. In addition to the votes cast for Mr. Makoskey and Mr. Shipley, there was scattered voting for Rev. Leonard B. Smith, who received 10 votes; Rev. J. H. Straughn, 3; Rev. J. Franklin Bryan, 3; Rev. W. H. Litsinger, 1, and others 1 each.

Mr. Makoskey was received into the ministry in 1893, and wa sordained in 1895. He has been pastor of the First Church, Newark, N. J., for thirteen years. The new president is a native of Bohemia, coming to this country with his parents when he was an infant. His mother died when he was placed in a home for boys in Baltimore. At 13, he was apprenticed to a printer, left home and went to live with the parents of the Rev. B. F. Ruley, of Baltimore. He became interested in church work early in his youth, and at 20 decided to study for the ministry.

Mr. Makoskey was graduated from Westminster Seminary a few years later, and about ten years ago was given the degree of doctor of divinity by Adrian College. He is married, and has three children. One son is in the navy, and another is a student at Columbia University.

He was formerly pastor of St. James Church where he had a successful ministry.

There are as usual rumors of many changes. The position of secretary to the Church Extension Society will make a few changes, while the election of Dr. Makoskey makes Newark open.

BRILLANT SOCIAL EVENT

One of the most brilliant weddings of the season was solemnized Saturday afternoon, when Miss Mary Lavinia Skeggs, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. Mortimer Skeggs, of 854 Haddon avenue, became the bride of S. Herbert Taylor, Jr., of 214 Gilmore street, Merchantville.

Miss Skeggs is one of the social leaders of the younger set in South Jersey, and her wedding excited considerable interest. She is a graduate of Camden High School and West Chester Normal School and has been teaching school in Philadelphia. She is a vocalist and sings in the choir of St. Stephen's Church, Philadelphia.

Mr. Taylor is a graduate of Camden High School and Pennsylvania State College. He is a member of Tau Upsilon Omega fraternity. Miss Skeggs is a member of Phi Epsilon Sorority.

Dr. Edwin Forest Hann, pastor of Broadway M. E. Church officiated at the nuptials, which were solemnized in his church. He was assisted by Rev. Gordon Russell, pastor of First Presbyterian Church, Merchantville.

Edward Shippen Barnes, organist of St. Stephen's Church, was at the organ. Miss Emily Houck, soprano soloist of St. Stephen's choir, sang "The Wedding Song." The choir, consisting of Miss Houck. Mrs. F. M. Wilson, contralto; Norman Meade Broderick, tenor, and William Hargraves, basso, also sang.

The bride was given away in marriage by her father. Miss Marie Yost Williams, of Philadelphia, was maid of honor. Mrs. John Daneke, of Collingswood, was matron of honor. The bridesmaids were Miss Ruth Taylor, sister of the groom; Miss Margaret Kerzman, of Collingswood; Miss Dorothy Locke, of Parkside, and Miss Charlotte Carrick, of Philadelphia.

Alvin Pascall, of Merchantville, was best man. The ushers were Harold Locke, of Camden; John Daneke, Collingswood; Bennett Clark, Merchantville; Hilton Stone, Haddonfield and Arthur Blackman, Philadelphia.

A reception followed the wedding in Hotel Walt Witman. After a wedding trip in the South Mr. and Mrs. Taylor will reside at 40 Dill Terrace, Merchantville.

A clinic for diseases of the chest will be conducted in The Health Center, Chestertown, Monday, Apr. 12, at 10.30. Individuals complaining of any of the following: Cough, expectoration of blood (spitting), tired feeling, loss of weight and appetite, indigestion, hoarseness, etc., should see their family physician and obtain permission to attend clinic at the place announced above.
