The Firemen made a fine showing last Sunday in their new uniforms. This is an organization that should have the liberal support of the public and thus be kept upon a high plane morally and financially. I have known fire companies under the stress of poverty to resort to immoral and law breaking methods of raising money.

There were 121 present at the C. E. Sunday, and a program that featured a debate on the subject, Resolved, That America owes Christ to the Heathen World, interested all that number. The debaters were, affirmative side, Miss Laura Rees and Martin Sutton; negative side, Miss Elizabeth Moffett and Hazel Rash.

Fifty members of the Epworth League of Asbury M. E. Church, Crisfild, Md., journeyed to Chestertown Sunday night and took charge of the religious services of Chestertown M. E. Church. The trip was in honor of the Rev. Dr. W. F. Corkran, pastor of the church here and, until recently, pastor of the Crisfield church.

The visiting organization boasts one of the largest Epworth Leagues on the Eastern Shore and in the number making the 135 mile trip were members from three years of age to eighty. The thirty-four piece orchestra of the League failed to arrive. Musical selections, addresses and vocal music was offered by the Crisfield organization to the audience of local church members. Chas. Goldsborough, League leader of Asbury Church, was in charge of the services and Thomas Nelson, former Washington College student, of Crisfield, made one of the principal addresses of the evening. It was an enjoyable affair and gave Chestertown folks an idea as to how to conduct a live Epworth League service. Come again.
