DEATHS !

Mrs. Annie Durding, nee Brown, wife of William P. Durding,, died Thursday evening, July 8th, 1926, at the home of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Bayard Sutton, near Chestertown. The remains were taken to her well-loved home and rested there. Mrs. Durding had spent all her married life in Rock Hall, coming from Baltimore, and was widely known and respected in lower Kent. She was a member of the M. E. Church and of the Daughters of America. Besides her husband and daughter she leaves three sons, Maurice, William and Benjamin Durding, all of Baltimore, four grandchildren, three sisters and a brother. The floral tributes were profuse and beautiful. The sermon was preached by her pastor, the Rev. William H. Revelle, who spoke in high praise of her fine Christian character. Interment was made in Wesley Chapel Cemetery, the bearers being six nephews, Elwood Burgess, Trew Durding, Irvin, Olin and Granville Ashley and Charles McCormick. Thomas H. Casey, directing.

John H. Husfelt passed away at his home near Earleville, Md., Friday evening, aged 77 years. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Jane Husfelt, three children, Mrs. Hattie Biggs, Montgomery Husfelt and John Jr., and a number of grandchildren.

Funeral services were held from his late residence on Monday afternoon, Rev. G. W. Dawson officiating, with interment in St. Paul's Cemetery at Johnstown.

Charles Hawkins Bennett, the nine year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Bennett, of Chestertown, died Wednesday morning. Funeral was held Friday afternoon, services conducted by Rev. Dr. W. F. Corkran; interment in Chester cemetery. Undertaker, W. T. Hicks.

Besides parents, leaves the following sisters and brothers: Mrs. W. M. Jones, Mrs. W. T. K. Legg, Mrs. Marion Legg, Mary Frances and Walter T. Jr. Also grandfather, James M. Lecates.

Mrs. Sarah E. Hurlock, one of the oldest women in Kent Co., and a member of one of its most prominent families, died at her home four miles from town on Saturday morning in her ninetieth year. The deceased was the widow of Abraham Hurlock, for years one of the county's leading agriculturists and landowners, and had spent pratically all of her life in this county. She was for many years identified with St. James Methodist Protestant Church and was active in the social affairs of the county for many years. She is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Julia Byrd, four grandsons, Max H., A. Hurlock, Julian C., and Howard G. Byrd, and one sister, Mrs. Emma Cosden.

Funeral services were held Sunday at 1 p. m., with interment in Chester Cemetery. The bearers were M. H. Byrd, A. H. Byrd, H. G. Byrd, Earle Nicholson, Walter Francis, C. Romie Skirven. C. L. Dodd, undertaker.

Entered into rest Tuesday morning, July 13th, at her home in Chestertown, Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Walters, widow of the late George Dallas Walters, of Howard county. She had been a patient sufferer for many months and had the loving ministrations of her devoted daughters, Mrs. Arthur C. Hurlock, of Cambridge, Mrs. Thomas B. Kilbourne and Mrs. Laurence P. Strong, of Chestertown, and of her son, Jean Walters, of Howard county.

Mrs. Walters was a Miss Parker, of Prince George's county. Her married life was all spent in Howard county.

In 1917 she removed to Kent county where she became endeared by her sweet, loving disposition, to a host of friends, who mourn her loss.

A short service was held Thursday by the Rev. John White, rector of St. Paul's Church, at her home on South High street. The regular burial service was held at St. Mark's Church, Howard county. Interment at the cemetery there.

"None knew her but to love her,
None named her, but to praise."

After an illness of seven years, Mrs. Mary E. Jewell, widow of the late Charles F. Jewell, died Sunday, Jersville. Mrs. Jewell was a daughter, Mrs. Theodore Walbert, of Sudlersville. Mrs. Jewell was a dauughter of the late Noah C. and Mary A. Merchant.

She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Lee Sparks, of Chester, Pa., and Mrs. Theodore Walbert, of Sudlersville, and two sons, Cooper Jewell, of Crumpton, and Harry Jewell, of Price.

Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon. Interment in Chesterfield Cemetery.

The funeral of Mrs. Joshua R. Jarrell took place from her late residence in Still Pond, Monday at 2 p. m., Rev. C. W. Clark and Rev. E. H. Collins officiated. Interment in Still Pond Cemetery, B. R. Fellows, undertaker, with brothers and nephews acting as pall bearers.

Thus has ended the earthly life of Mrs. Jarrell, nee Emma Cornelius. Great sufferer that she was one could not grieve at her going, feeling that it was a happy release.

Three children survive: Hettie, of New York, who so lovingly ministered to her mother until the end. Oscar of Boston, who still detained at a hospital recovering from an operation, was unable to be at his mother's funeral; and Fred, of Morgnec, of the Cornelius family four brothers and three sisters survive.

In the death of Mrs. Jarrell not only has her family sustained an irreparable loss, but members of Still Pond Church, and of the W. C. T. U. both of which the deceased was a member for thirty-seven years, feel keenly the void that is always made in the passing of such a worthwhile Christian character. Still Pond community is also the loser.

For Mrs. Jarrell's death following so closely the death of Mr. Jarrell means the breaking up of a Christian home that for over half a century has made its influence felt in many and varied ways of usefulness.

John E. Speicher, Jr., died at his home in Chestertown on Wednesday night last. He was 31 years of age. Since November 5, 1925, he has been confined to his bed with a most baffling and distressing sickness. The best medical skill at home and away with loving nursing and care were all powerless to bring him back to health. His sickness has been very remarkable in many ways and his family have had the sympathy of a wide circle of friends and relatives.

John Speicher was a young man of most extraordinary ability and energy. He was a member of the firm of the Eliason Motors, Inc., and of the Shore Radio Co. He never knew what failure meant as his persistency and stick-to-it-tiveness were the wonder of all.

He leaves a wife, Rebecca Toulson Speicher and two daughters, Martha and Sarah, parents, Jos. E. Speicher and wife, of Cumberland, and two sisters.

The funeral will be held from his late home in Chestertown today, Saturday, at 2 p. m., Rev. Mr. Corkran will officiate with interment at Chester Cemetery.

The bearers will be Dr. J. P. Franklin, J. D. Maxwell, Carl Bordley, Belt Townshend, Wm. Cheshire, Senator Harvey Speicher. Chas. L. Dodd, undertaker.

THE PRESIDENT'S MEMORIAL DAY ADDRESS HEARD FAR AND WIDE—IS BROADCAST BY WCAP AT WASHINGTON

In his Memorial Day service at the Arlington Amphitheatre, President Coolidge appealed to the common sense of the nation and stressed world peace. He eulogized the dead, whose efforts had achieved the freedom of the country as it is today. Particular emphasis was placed on wars fought by the nation, not for military glory, but to secure conditions under which peace would be more permanent, liberty would be more secure, and justice would be more certain.

"Our military operations have been in the service of the cause of humanity, and this nation approaches no ceremony with such universal sanction as that which is held in commemoration over the graves of those who have performed military duty," the President said

The address was heard far and wide. An immense throng assembled at the amphitheatre to hear the service and to be present at the decoration of the tomb of the Unknown Soldier and the graves of the historic dead in the National Cemetery. In addition, the services were heard by millions of people throughout the United States from a hook-up of broadcasting stations, covering the eastern half of the country.

Assembly, sounded by a bugler, was followed by an overture of the Marine Band. Dr. Charles V. Petteys, commander of the Department of the Potomac, G. A. R., then called the meeting to order and John Middleton, officer of the day, and Hazard Wheeler, color bearer, presented the colors. Following the singing of the "Star Spangled Banner," by Mrs. Ruby Smith Stahl, the invocation was given by Dr. George F. Dudley.

After a few introductory remarks by Commander Petteys, Dr. H. A. Johnson, assistant adjutant general, read General Logan's order, establishing Memorial Day. Gertrude Lyons sang the "Bugle Retreat," accompanied by the Marine Band, after which Lincoln's Gettysburg Address was recited by Captain Lemuel Warner. After the "Battle Hymn of the Republic" had been sung by the Washington Quartette, accompanied by the Marine Band, the President made his address.

The Washington Quartette, accompanied by the Marine Band, gave the "Recessional," after which Senator Frank B. Willis, of Ohio, made an address. Following the singing of "America" by the audience, the benediction was pronounced by Chaplain R. F. McBride, of the G. A. R.

The service was picked up by the microphone of WCAP at Washington, and was broadcast jointly with WEAF, New York; WJAR, Providence; WIAE, Pittsburg; WSAI, Cincinnati; WTAM, Cleveland; WCCO, Minneapolis-St. Paul, and KSD, St. Louis. These broadcasting stations were connected by the long distance lines of the America Telephone and Telegraph Company.

Milk Can't Be Made On Tonic

Grass is a good tonic for the cow but she can't make milk on tonic, according to the Larrowe Institute of Animal Economics. If she is expected to continue to do a day's work every day, she will have to get enough to eat of a good nourishing feed.

"Few dairymen realize that in some respects a dairy cow is a great deal like a human being," states the Institute. "No human being would stop eating meat and potatoes simply because he was eating lettuce and spinach to tone up his system, yet many dairymen believe that their cows do not need grain simply because they have grass to graze on.

"Fresh spring grass is a good tonic for the cow. It is green, juicy and palatable. Cows like it. It tones them up and for a time will actually stimulate milk production. But grass at its best is half water, and a cow has to eat an enormous amount of pasture daily to get the feed she needs. Grass, therefore, should be used more as a tonic than as a feed. All dairymen should use pasture but they should use it intelligently and should use it with grain. The practice of turning out herds on pasture as soon as the grass comes up thick and green is always a costly move, both in damage to pasture, and, to an even greater extent, in the falling off in production on the part of cows relying on grass alone for their nourishment."

Actual tests by E. A. Hanson, in charge of cow test association work in Minnesota, of the effects of pasture feeding as compared to the use of grain, especially throughout the spring and early summer, showed that 1,231 cows receiving no grain on pasture averaged 228 pounds of butterfat per year at a feed cost of $41.87. In contrast to this, 572 cows receiving grain while on pasture averaged 296 pounds of butterfat per year, at a total feed cost of $49.35. That extra $7.48 spent for feed during the pasture season resulted in an additional 68 pounds of butterfat from each cow, which, on the basis of 40 cents a pound, was worth $27.20, or a net profit of $19.72 above the added cost of feed.
