A Delightful Occasion

Delightfully pleasant social relations have been established between the summer guests of Owens' Cottage, and the recreation seekers in Camp Prospect, on the Sassafras river, two miles above Betterton. On August 31st, the tent-dwellers from the camp were the guests of the Owenites at a watermelon party, at which the delicious fruit, with games and music, abounded.

On September 2nd the campers entertained their friends from town. A beach party has been planned with a roaring comp fire as an accompaniment. Drift wood has been gathered and heaped high, ready for the match; but, alas for human hopes! A wild northeast storm (which nearly claimed the lives of four of the campers who were caught far out on the river in an open canoe) raged all the afternoon, and sobbed itself to rest during the night, blasted all thought of revels on the shore.

The town-people were game, however, and kept their engagement. They found the campers surprised and sadly lacking in entertainment facilities, the camp-fire, owing to the storm, being an impossibility; but the large mess hall on the camp ground proved a last refuge, and into it the entire party crowded. By means of an oil lamp and several lanterns (recalling the days of our grandfathers), together with a large number of flash lights, (which the Betterton folks had used to find their way from town) enough light was afforded to prevent too much love-making among the younger and more impressionable set. "Hot dogs" and rolls took the place of the more luscious melon, and the evening was spent most pleasantly, with the aid of story-telling and games.

Out into a night that was darkness intensified, the townspeople went and by means of the flash-light, which gleamed here and there among the beautiful cedars like fire-flies, were enabled to find their cars, parked at some distance away, and to reach home in safety.

In the Owens' party were Mr. and Mrs. William Norcross, Miss Grace Norcross, of Glenside, Pa., Mrs. Howard Owens and Jimmie, of Betterton, Miss Charlotte Meekland, of Philadelphia, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Wylie, of New York, and the Misses Dorothy and Edith Mosenback, of Long Island.

The campers were Mr. and Mrs. Harry Pringle Ford, Miss Mary E. Ford, Carroll P. Ford, Miss Anna Barr, William M. and William H. Hamilton, of Norwood, Pa., Miss Dorothy West, of Germantown, Pa., and Miss Marion Jarvis, Robert Jarvis, Earl Beck, Spencer McGaw, Miss Jeanette McClure and Leslie Ambler, of Moores, Pa.,

PARTICIPANT.

FRESHMAN WEEK AT WASH. COLLEGE

President Paul Emerson Titsworth, of Washington College, nas announced the program for the first annual Freshman Week ever held at the Shore institution, and which will begin on Tuesday afternoon, September 14 and continue throughout the week. There will be chapel exercises each morning of the week at 9 o'clock. Tuesday afternoon will be devoted to addresses by Dr. Frederick G. Livingood, Prof. A. Roy Woodland, registrar. In the evening the Freshman reception will be held in the gymnasium. On Wednesday morning Frederick W. Dumschott, president of the Students Council, will talk on "The Student Council;" T. D. Bowers will bring greetings from the citizens of Chestertown. In the afternoon, Miss Bahnie Wedekind, college librarian, will talk on "The Use of the Library," and there will be tests for students beginning the study of modern foreign languages. At 3 p. m. the first assembly will be held on the football field, and the new coach, Prof. Philip C. Brown will explain the points of the game, and there will be the first organized cheering. At 7.30 p. m. Y. M. C. A. service will be held in William Smith Hall.

On Thursday there will be talks by Dean J. S. W. Jones, and Prof. Genevieve Boland, dean of women, and library discussions and tests. At 7.30 p. m. President Titswotrh will deliver an address on "The History, Traditions, and Aims of Washington College." Friday will be given over to addresses by Prof. Raymond Kilpatrick, Prof. John T. Kibler, director of athletics, talks by various captains, Prof. Wm. R. Howell, graduate manager of athletics, and talks by the heads of the college organizations. In the evening the literary societies will have charge.

On Saturday, there will be consultations with the heads of departments relative to programs of work, a practice game of football, and in the evening the Silver Pentagon reception will be held. On Sunday morning at 10 o'clock committees from the town churches will assemble at the college and escort the students to the church of their choice. At 3 p. m. there will be the college religious assembly in William Smith Hall, with a musical program, a song service and an inspirational address by Rev. R. W. Trapnell, of Wilmington, Del.

Regular class exercises will begin on Monday morning, September 20, When asked his reason for observing Freshman Week at the college President Titsworth said: "The object of Freshman Week is to acquaint every member of the large class with his class mates and his teachers, to induct the freshman into the ways of college life, to introduce the freshman to the history, traditions, and ideals of Washington, to give the newcomers something of an idea of what will be expected of them in the class room, in the dormitory, and on the campus, to save them from wrong ideas and ideals at the outset of their college life and in every possible way to make less abrupt the transition from school life in their home town to college life away from home where the boy or girl has to stand on his or her own feet."
