—are you? Are you balancing your daily affairs? You should be, because balance is just as vital in your life as it is in wire-walking, aviation or book-keeping.

Balance your finances, it will make your life easier and prevent dire circumstances. Just like carrying water—it is easier to carry a bucket on each shoulder than both on one shoulder. They balance!

The same principle applies to your affairs. Balance work with play—sorrow with gladness—and balance your expenses with SAVINGS.

The man who fails to save money is forced to pass up opportunities, business success, future comforts, and happiness for the man who does.

SIX INJURED IN ROAD SMASH

Leaping overboard with life preservers when flames swept their motor boat at 8 o'clock Sunday night, two men and two women swam and drifted through the darkness in the Chesapeake Bay until they were picked up at 7.30 o'clock Monday morning by a keeper of the Tub lighthouse off Bay Shore.

The party of four had left the ferry pier at Bay Shore at 5 p. m. Sunday. They were cruising about nine miles off shore near Betterton when the fire, caused either by the backfiring of the motor or a leaking pipe, started. A rowboat which the motor boat had in tow capsized before they could get into it.

Neither of the men experienced any apparent ill effects from the many hours they were forced to spend in the water. Both of the young women last night were confined to their beds. All are good swimmers.

Members of the party were:
H. Monroe Helm, 25 years old, 1101 West Lanvale street.
Vernon E. Gass 26 years old, 1325 North Fulton avenue.
Miss Rosalia McKnew, 919 Edmondson avenue.
Miss Erma O'Keefe, Maple avenue, Overlea.

Mr. Helm is a captain and Mr. Gass is a lieutenant in the United Boys' Brigade, which, until Monday had been in encampment on the Magothy river. Mr. Helm, swimming ahead of the others, reached the Tub lighthouse after the all-night swim attracted the attention of one of the keepers and told him of the plight of his companions. The keeper put out in a rowboat and picked them up.

The motor boat that was burned to the water's edge and which is thought to have sunk was the Desdemona, 48 feet long and 12 feet beam. It belonged to Capt. John Burgess, also an officer of the United Boys' Brigade. In it Mr. Helm and Mr. Glass set out from the Magothy encampment. Mr. Helm said they met the two young women at the Bay Shore ferry pier.

The men then strapped life preservers around the women themselves. All four went overboard and struck out for Bay Shore.

Sought To Reach Bay Shore.

"We were all good swimmers," said Mr. Helm last night, "and we had little hope of being picked up in the darkness. We felt that we must make Bay Shore or go down." But while they were proceeding toward Bay Shore the lights of the park went out, Mr. Helm continued, and the four were unable to make out where they were.

Alternately swimming and floating, Mr. Helm said, they were carried by the current toward the Tub lighthouse. When daylight came, Mr. Helm said, he swam ahead of the others to the lighthouse. One of the keepers, whose name is Van Hansen, according to Mr. Helm, then put out in a rowboat and picked up the other three.

At the lighthouse, Mr. Van Hansen and another keeper gave them hot coffee and helped them to dry their clothing. Then on the lighthouse bell a distress signal was sounded. Between 9.30 and 10 a. m., this signal was heard by Herman F. Jacobs, a Rock Hall fisherman. Mr. Jacobs steered his fishing boat to the lighthouse.

Mr. Jacobs was told what had happened and volunteered to land the men and women at the Bay Shore ferry pier. Since the clothing of none of the four had dried, the lighthouse keepers supplied the women as well as the men with overalls which they drew on over their wet garments.

Persons at Bay Shore and at Rock Hall reported Sunday night that they had seen smoke and flame from a burning craft in the bay. None of the captains of bay steamers reported seeing the blaze and efforts made at that time to locate the burining boat were fruitless.

One of the largest crops of wheat raised in Kent county for many years was threshed by George C. Johnson on his farm near Kennedyville the past week. From a tillage of 160 acres Mr. Johnson received a total yield of 5,862 bushels and he believes that had the wheat been in prime condition it would have produced total yield of 6,000 bushels, or an average of more than 36 bushels per acre.

The semi-annual meeting of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of the Middletown District of the Wilmington Conference, will be held in Still Pond M. E. Church on Wednesday, September 22, for which a fine program is being arranged.
