WEDDING EVENTS

A beautiful wedding was solemnized Friday in Saint Peter's Episcopal Church, when Miss Maude Ringgold Toulson, the older daughter of Dr. and Mrs. John M. Toulson, became the bride of Eric Metzeroth, son of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Metzeroth, of Washington, D. C. The ceremony was performed at 12 o'clock by the rector of the church, Dr. Henry F. Kloman. An organ and violin recital was given previous to the ceremony by Miss Frances and Miss Ethelyn Hopkins. Miss Thelma Dryden sang before the entrance of the bridal party "Dawning," and "O Perfect Love," during the ceremony. The bridal party entered the church to the strains of Lohengrin's Wedding March while Mendelssohn was rendered as they left.

Miss Toulson, who was given in marriage by her grandfather, M. A. Toulson, President of The Kent County Savings Bank, Chestertown, Md., made a very charming bride in white crepe meteor, simply made with a court train of Spanish Lace, which was used at the wedding of her mother, and long pointed sleeves with a girdle of silver.

Her bouquet was of bride's roses and lillies of the valley while her veil of tulle was held in place by a wreath of orange blossoms and a band of silver.

The bride had as maid-of-honor her sister, Miss Isabelle Toulson, who wore a gown of maize georgette with picture hat of maize taffeta with gold shoes and carried an arm bouquet of gold dahlias and autumn leaves. The bridesmaids were Miss Nellie Mitchell, of Salisbury, and Miss Mary Robertson, of Atlantic City, wearing gowns of apricott georgette, Miss Margaret Metzeroth, sister of the groom, of Washington, and Miss Margaret White, o fPittsburgh, Pa., wearing orange georgette, Miss Iris White, of Salisbury, and Miss Spence of College Park, Md., wearing blood orange dresses. The bride's maids dresses were made in bouffant style their picture hats of rosewood taffeta were faced with georgette, of the same hue as their gowns, while their shoes were of satin and they carried arm bouquets of dahlias and autumn leaves. Little Miss Frances Pilchard, of Salisbury, and Miss Martha Speicher, of Chestertown, Md., were the flower girls, wearing dresses of white organdy, with rosettes of orange shaded ribbons falling from the shoulder, and carrying gold baskets filled with dahlia petals.

The best man was George Madison McCauley, of Washington, D. C., and the groomsmen were: Howard P. Ward, James McFadeon Dick, Claude Collier Dorman, all of Salisbury. Wm. Eric Bishop, of Elba, Alabama, Eldred Sidney Lanier, of Hartford, Ala., and Thomas Brooke Crawford, of Havre de Grace, Md.

The church was decorated with white dahlias and autumn leaves, a breakfast for the immediate families and friends was held at the home of the bride's parents, immediately after the nuptials, after which Mr. and Mrs. Metzeroth left on a wedding trip. Upon their return they will reside in Salisbury.

Among the out of town guests who attended the wedding were Governor Albert C. Ritchie, Congressman T. Alan Goldsborough and Mrs. Goldsborough, of Denton, Mrs. John Roberts, Mrs. James G. Beck, Mr. and Mrs. Allan A. Harris, Mrs. Eben F. Perkins, Miss Blanche Constable, Dr. and Mrs. Frank B. Hines, Miss Grace Wilkins, Miss Jennie Wilkins, Md. and Mrs. M. A. Toulson, Miss Mabel Toulson, Mrs. John E. Speicher, of Chestertown, Dr. and Mrs. Wm. Houston Toulson, of Baltimore.
