THE UNKNOWN'S TOMB

By Nellie Hill

From North and South and East and West,

From every point they come,

Bringing gay flowers fresh with life,

For the unknown's quiet tomb.

Symbol of love this sacred shrine,

Tribute we bring to our dead,

We lay red roses at his feet,

White lilies at the head.

Here is a place where peace will dwell.

And never molest know,

Death is the conquerer of time,

Victor of hate and woe,

Oh, unknown with thy flaming light.

Send gleaming near and far

A message o'er the great wide earth.

Forever banish war.

November 11, 1926.

COLLEGE NOTES

Western Maryland College defeated Washington College eleven here Saturday, 60 to 0. Every man on the Western Maryland squad, with the exception of three regulars, Neale, McMains and Havens, was given an opportunity to take part in the fray.

Also every man on the Washington College squad, both regular and substitute, got in the game. Straight-line plays abounded with an occasional forward pass. Of the six passes attempted by Harlow's team, four were completed. Washington's attack was unable to penetrate the Terriers' line by straight line rushing, the only two first downs registered by the Shore eleven being made by the forward route.

In the inter-class handicap track meet at Washington College Saturday the Freshmen won with 28 points. The Juniors were second with 5 points and the Sophs trailed along with 3 points. In the mile run Stanley Long was winner with J. J. Vaughn second. In the quarter mile Wortham came first. C. S. Powell, second; Wood, third, and Boston, fourth. Crouse won the 100 yard dash and Powell and Wood tied for second place. Giratis won the high jump with Crouse, second and Wortham, third. The broad jump was won by Crouse with Giratis, second.
