CITIZENS AROUSED FORM LAW AND ORDER LEAGUE

Conditions in Chestertown and parts of Kent county have become so obnoxious to law-abiding citizens that several public meetings have been held and steps taken to try to remedy conditions.

Monday evening a number of citizens from Chestertown met the Town Commissioners and formally organized a Law and Order League of Kent County. Herbert E. Perkins, Esq., was elected President; Fred. G. Usilton, secretary and treasurer. An executive committee composed of John C. Davis, of the M. E. Church; Charles F. Wheatley, representing the M. P. Church; Thomas G. Wroth of the P. E. Church; Daniel Miller, representing Janes M. E. Church, colored, and John Gillian, of Bethel A. M. E. Church, colored, was appointed who, with the above officers are to select one vice-president from each of the seven election districts in the county. These, with the officers and church representatives, will constitute a county-wide committee for devising ways and means of breaking up bootlegging in the town and county.

Sheriff Hadaway has appointed Town Officers Samuel E. Cooper and Rufus E. Collins deputy sheriffs with power to make arrests, and committees will be appointed to investigate alleged violations of law and report to the officers.

Every citizen is invited to become a member of this organization and the hearty support of all is expected.

Betterton Notes

Mr. and Mrs. John Crew gave a party last Friday evening in honor of the sixteenth birthday of their daughter, Anna. Wm. Bowman had his ankle badly sprained from a fall last week.

Lawrence Crew, six, son of Mr. and Mrs. Caldwell Crew, of Betterton presented a half bushel of English walnuts to the police of the Eastern District in Baltimore. While in Baltimore last June on a visit he wandered away while going to the market with his mother. He was found and returned by the police. The nuts will be put into Christmas baskets which are distributed by the Eastern police to the poor kiddies in their district.

Edward Lambert and G. W. Burke, well-known former Kent countians, were in Chestertown this week introducing a fire extinguisher. It is a wonder and promises to be used by nearly every business house, auto owners and others. The factory is located in Pottstown, Pa.

OLD KRIS TO ARRIVE IN TOWN DEC. 18

The Merchants' Association of Chestertown have arranged for the arrival of Old Kris on Saturday, Dec. 18th. He will come on the train, and after visiting the various stores and eating his dinner, will distribute gifts to the children in the Park at 1 p. m.

And the joy of this great Santa Claus Day in Chestertown is not confined solely to the little tots who eagerly await his coming on ChrismasEve, but extends to the grown-up and even Old Kris himself. Hundreds of grown-ups, whose hearts yet beat with the sentiment of youth, have zealously entered into the spirit of this early Christmas celebration and are planning to make the occasion a memorably joyous one. And up at the North Pole, an old white-whiskered man is very, very happy, as he loads his big pack and prepares to deliver a personal gift to every good little boy and girl who comes to Chestertown, Saturday, December 18. A souvenir of the coming of Old Kris will be given to each boy and girl present on that day.

Remember the day — Saturday, December 18th.

WILL OF MRS. MARY E.N.MELVIN

The will of the late Mrs. Mary E. Melvin was filed in the Kent County Orphans' Court last week. The farm in the Second District of Kent county was bequeathed to Bennett P. Stafford, of near Sudlersville. He to pay Mrs. Rissa Stafford, of Middletown, Del., one thousand dollars; Raymond Stafford, of Queen Anne's, $500, and to the children of Ray Stafford $500. Mr. Stafford is given two years to pay these legacies.

All personal property to be sold and following legacies paid: To Jos. C. Tharp $500, to Francis Brown, colored, $400; to Eugene Pearce, colored, $100; to Anne Pearce, colored, $25; to Miss Minnie A. Hudson, of Chestertown, $500; to Wm. M. Culp, two liberty bonds in Kent County Savings Bank; to A. M. Culp, $100; to Susiebelle Culp Evans, $100; to Willord Culp, $50; to Eliz. Culp, $50.

To Chester T. Melvin, $100; to Maud Melvin Brown, $100; to Florence Melvin, $100; to D. B. Stewart. Jr., $500; to M. Melvin Stewart, $100 and a sealed envelope; to Howard Melvin, $100; Amanda M. The will was made August 31, 1925.

The will of the late Eugene Bonwill was filed for probate in the Orphans' Court for Kent county Tuesday. It divides the estate equally among the heirs.

The five heirs are William H., Eugene M., Jr., Mrs. Lulu Dukes, children of the late Carson Harris, and Raymond Bonwill. Wm. H. and Eugene were named executors. The estate is valued at $125,000.

W. B. Stafford and wife have sold to Thomas Healey, Esq., the Townsend Anthony lot in Queen Anne's, and Mr. Healey in turn transferred it to W. B. Stafford and son, Kennard.

The annual bake and bazaar held by the Triangle Club of Christ M. P. Church on Saturday in the garage of A. S. Turner and Sons, netted more than $140, which will be used by the club for the purchase of fruits and provisions to fill the Christmas baskets which the club distributes among the poor of the community every Christmas. The club met Tuesday night at the home of Mrs. Frances Needles.

Commercial fig growing in the Del-Mar-Va Peninsula is at last beyond the experimental stage. Wallace Quinn, of Crisfield, produced enough figs this season to encourage him to put in from 40 to 60 acres and to arrange for a preserving factory next season. Figs have been grown on the Del-Mar-Va Peninsula since colonial days but this endeavor of Mr. Quinn's is the first known commercial project.

A new $50,000 armory will be formally opened in Centreville on the evening of December 23 by Company "K," First Infantry Maryland National Guard. This opening will be marked with a large Christmas-Military Ball. Governor Albert C. Ritchie, all State Officials, and National Guard Officers, and others of prominence have been invited.

With the completion of the schedule for the Eastern Shore Transit Company, Inc., running a bus line twice daily from Cape Charles to Salisbury and return, the Peninsula is well served by bus lines from the northern end to the southern end.
