BASKET BALL STARTS AT COLLEGE TONIGHT

Coach J. Thomas Kibler thinks he will hove the strongest basket ball team in the history of the college this year. The nucleus for the team will be Capt. Jack Carroll, who will pilot the team during the season through a schedule of 19 games already announced, the major portion of which are against many of the leading college and university teams in the East.

Carroll will be ably supported by Fred Dumschott. It is considered certain that Jiritis, of Hartford, Conn., will fill the position made vacant by Capt. Michael Fiore, who graduated last June. Jiritis is a "find" of Capt. Jack Carroll, who induced him to leave his New England home and matriculate at Washington College. Other candidates who are making strong bids for first-string positions are Alexander and Colisanto, of Waterbury, which has become famous at Washington on account of the number of athletes who have found their their way here — Cavanaugh, Seib and Carrington, all of whom made most excellent showing in first-string games last season.

Billy Usilton and Jimmie Chapman, flash players from the Chestertown High School and prominent players in last season's fresman games, will make somebody hustle to beat them out of a first-squad position.

Candidates are on the floor every afternoon going through strenuous workouts under Kibler, but the definite lineup will not be announced until just before the opening game when the season will open with a team from Philadelphia College of Osteopathy as the opponent. Local fans are on edge for the opening of the season, because basket ball has come to be the most popular sport at the college, rivaling even the interest in baseball. Provision has been madt at the college to accommodate the crowds which are expected to attend each game during the season, and the gymnasium floor has been put in first-class condition for the opening fray.

This Saturday night a preliminary game will be played by Freshmen. Thursday night a contest is being arranged between Sudlersville High School and Chestertown High School.

Sesqui Is Closed With Big Deficit

Celebration of the 150th birthday anniversary of the nation ended officially, last week, with a deficit of more than $5,200,000 for the Sesqui-Centennial Exposition.

The grounds and a few buildings will be kept open until January 1, for techinical reasons, in connection with the liquidation of back bills, but, officially, all activities have ceased with the singing of the national anthem and a commemorative dance in the big auditorium.

Plans to reopen the Sesqui next year were abandoned. The directors opposed such a plan, chiefly because of financial reasons.

The exposition, which opened May 31, has cost the city of Philadelphia approximately $17,000,000, exclusive of $3,000,000 subscribed by business concerns and individuals.

RECORD CORN YIELD

As a result of the Valliant Corn Growing Contest which was held under the supervision of the Extension Service and personally managed by Ernest W. Grubb, county agent of Queen Anne's county, John H. Chambers was awarded the first prize of $50.00 when a check-up and survey of his corn crop showed that he had produced 113.3 bushels of Gifford's Yellow Dent corn to the acre. Calvin Walls, a student of the Chestertown High School, but who resides over the bridge in Queen Anne's county was awarded the first prize of $25.00 for boys when he grew 94.3 bushels to the acre. Second prize in the boys' contest goes to Irwin Quimby, of Hayden.

The Late Christmas Shopper

A fat man waddled from pillar to post
As a man with much on his mind;
His hat was bashed down over his ears,
And he was completely blind.

A blackened eye hung o'er his cheek--
'Twas a sorry sight to see;
And the watchers gazed at his shaking limbs
But more at his quite bare knee.

For he'd come out to Christmas shop
On December twenty-three;
His list was long and his temper short,
He wanted a Christmas tree.

And all of the things you stock it with;
Gifts for the family, too—
Socks and shirts and ships and shoes
And even a toy kangaroo!

He had waited long with his Christmas list
(He had waited the whole darned year)
But he tried to rush in the last minute crush
And then came the kick from the rear.

* * * * *

You know the rest—we told it first;
Please take the moral to heart.
We've gathered a goodly lot of gifts,
Now come and do your part.

DOORWAYS of the OLD BAY STATE

EVERY year thousands of tourists travel the highways and byways of Massachusetts to study and admire the doorways of old Colonial homes. Few of these are lovelier to behold than this simple, straightforward design with the little entrance porch.

Here is a Curtis Entrance that is faithful to every old Colonial tradition—the slender, graceful columns; the subtle curve of the spandrel; the fanlight transom, with well proportioned sidelights; and the typical six-panel Colonial door with raised panels.

All these details are offered as a unit by Curtis. But there are other designs, too—come in and see our stock and let us help you select the designs, sizes and woods to suit your plans.
