DEAL AT HOME

Isn't it the logical and proper thing to patronize your home stores where feasible?

The slogan these days is to "Shop early and shop at home." And we desire to emphasize most emphatically the "Shop at home" end of it.

Certainly our town stores including articles from furniture to a diamond ring are most adequate to accommodate the general run of shoppers; of course some few things we might have to go out of town to procure.

But generally speaking our own merchants can nearly always accommodate the wants of the average shopper; and isn't it a good feeling to know we have patronized our local tradesmen and spent our money in our own vicinity as much as possible.

So good people lets adopt the cry of all the press in the country for the next few weeks—"SHOP EARLY AND SHOP AT HOME."

Dr. Frank Crane says, "A great moral conviction is back of prohibition, and a moral conviction never yet went backward. To say that just as much liquor is consumed as ever is to say what is manifestly absurd. Thousands of corner saloons have been suppressed and the open and public sale of liquor has been stopped. The liquor interests, the distillers and brewers are all against prohibition, and naturally they would not be against it if there was more liquor used than ever.

The prohibition laws we have may not be the wisest nor the best, but at least they are an effort in the right direction. The prohibition law is on the side of the angels and those who are seeking to break it down or nullify it might do well to keep this in mind."
