Supplemental Grain Feed

It is advisable to give a supplementary feed of corn and oats to dairy cows during the months when pastures are short. Feeding of grain while the cows are on pasture gives excellent results. The difference in production may not show up at once, but the cows are kept in good condition for fall and winter production. Records of various cow-testing associations show that often the highest producing herds are those kept by men who feed grain in summer.

MOTOR LAW CHANGES

Changes in laws affecting motorists, which were enacted by the recent Legislature, went into effect last Wednesday. The most important laws provide for:

Maximum speed for motor vehicle on State highways of forty miles an hour.

Maximum speed for solid-tire vehicles on State highways of twenty-five miles an hour. Speed limit of twenty miles an hour for solid tire vehicles weighing more than six tons.

Speed limit of twenty miles an hour in cities and towns instead of fifteen. In outlying sections twenty-five instead of twenty miles an hour.

Displaying the license for ensuing year between December 15 and 31.

Half charge for license plates after July 31.

Appeal to Circuit Court of Baltimore city or counties acting as stay of order or decision of Commissioner of Motor Vehicles suspending or revoking operator's licenses.

Operation of vehicle registered in Maryland by non-resident, provided non-resident is properly licensed in another State.

Obtaining of Maryland licenses by non-residents transporting passengers or property for hire.

Changes in maximum and minimum fines and penalties thruout entire law.

Parking lights on each side of vehicle.

Banning of devices to produce a smoke screen.

Making of appeal from decision of justice in written form and filing of appeal with the justice by whom the judgment of sentence has been imposed.

Fine and imprisonment for person who sells used vehicle for which no certificate of title has been issued.

No Trouble to Do That

The world is full of faint hearts; and yet every one has courage enough to bear the misfortunes, and wisdom enough to manage the affairs of his neighbors.—Poor Richard.

Credulity of Ignorance

Scientists are doing a great work, telling us many startling things we have to believe because we do not know enough to contradict them.—Toledo Blade.

Odd Collection

One of the most unusual hobbies is the collecting of torture instruments. A certain American surgeon has assembled the most complete private assortment of them extant—including such machines as the rack, the squeezers, and the iron virgin, which the perverted ingenuity of man devised chiefly for use in inducing witnesses to give evidence in legal proceedings. These instruments were employed in legal proceedings by ancient and modern Europe. Their use was recognized by the law of most countries (to which England, Aragon and Sweden were exceptions) up to comparatively recent times.

Partridge Has Hard Time

The English partridge has to fight against many conditions and odds in its battle for existence and naturalists there tell many interesting stories of contests in which the birds are engaged, there being a large number of natural enemies ready to slay the bird or rob the nests of eggs and young.

The seasons are bad; the cold rains cause the death of many young birds; the fox forever is after the partridge. The birds hunt secluded places for their nests and have been known to build a new nest about the eggs that have been tumbled down when the nest was wrecked by accident.

Famous French Assembly

The name "French Directory" was given to the body of five individuals (Lepeaux, Rewbell, Letourneur, Barras and Carnot), to whom was entrusted the administration of public affairs in France at the time of the revolution. The directory was established by the Constitution of the fifth Fruitidor (August 22, 1795), and ruled in conjunction with the Council of Ancients of Five Hundred. It lasted about four years, when, owing to its corruption and inefficiency, it was overturned by the coup d'etat of the eighteenth Brumaire (November 9, 1799), planned by Napoleon Bonaparte.—Kansas City Times.

Price of Vanity

"Look heah, Mose, what am yo' doin' behin' dem bars?" asked Parson Johnsing of one of his parishioners.

"Pahson," explained Mose, "hit all cum erbout in dis way: Ah didn't hab no trouble wid de constable ner nobody. Hit would hab bin all right ef hit hadn't bin fo' de women's lub of dress. My wimmen folks, dey wuzzent satisfied jes' to eat mos' all dem chickens what I got for 'em; but dey had to put de feathers in deir hats, an' parade 'em as circumstantial everdence."

Thatched Roofs Still Common in England

One of the oldest crafts in England is that of thatching. In Norfolk county flat-bottomed boats still pass along the streams conveying men who cut and gather reeds for thatched roofs. When reed season is in full swing huge piles of dried reeds stand along the banks waiting for the thatchers. Thatching is really one of the manual arts hereditary in certain families in that country. One family has engaged in the occupation through four centuries.

Only one change has been made in the process during the 400 years. Formerly the reeds were fastened to rafters with long strands of bramble bush. Now either tarred twine or iron pegs are used for that purpose. As the reeds are being put on the roofs their tops are still laid in place with a historic implement known as the leggett. This implement consists of a block of wood with comb-like arrangements of horseshoe nails.

English Cleric Hero of Novel Relay Race

A novel race of 100 years ago is recalled in one of the English papers and is as follows: About 100 years ago there occurred the famous wager in which the men of Peterhouse undertook to persuade Rev. Dr. Blizzard, D. D., to ride eight miles from St. Mary's church on a human horse within two hours, the horse to be changed every half mile. The good doctor was easily persuaded, and a huge crowd assembled to see him mount on the back of the first "horse" in full puff wig and shovel hat. Even Cambridge has never seen such a scene as took place at the winning post when Sam Gill, of St. Neots, brought the doctor in with half a minute to spare, Sam's nose streaming with blood as the result of a heavy fall which unshipped the rider and broke the "horse's" nose.

Steam-Cleaning Stone

Dirty-faced stone buildings that blush dark with shame between clean, new structures can now be steam-cleaned so that they not merely look almost as good as new, but attain the mellow, refined look of ripe age. The bureau of standards has conducted a series of tests to determine the best way of cleaning buildings. Old-fashioned methods of acid cleaning, sand blasting, scrubbing with soap powders and hand brushes are effective, but very slow and laborious.

Live steam cleaning was first tried on dirty stones in the laboratory, and then on a twenty-year-old accumulation of dirt on an old bank building in Baltimore. The result showed that this new method could be used rapidly with inexperienced common labor, although the cost is somewhat higher than for acid cleaning. The cost is expected to drop when the method passes the experimental stage.

His Orders

Alfred Austin, the poet, was in the office of an editor one day when a very young reviewer brought in a book which he had been given to criticize. Now, neither the reviewer nor the editor had read a page of that work and the former conscientiously wanted to know what lines the latter wished him to go upon.

"What am I to do with this?" he asked.

The editor just glanced at the cover and observed brightly:

"Give it h—l!"

Beneficent Rabbit Plague

Tularemia, a recurrent disease which kills off rabbits in great numbers, has been the subject of extended investigation by government biologists. The disease is carried by jack rabbits, snowshoe rabbits, cottontails and certain species of ground squirrels.

The disease occurs more or less periodically and serves as a natural means of reducing the numbers of these rodents and affords a measure of relief from the damage they do to orchards, vineyards, farm crops and pasturage.

Table Chatter!

The gentle art of conversation is almost dead, comments a continental madame whose salons once echoed the babel of many tongues. She complains that loud jazz which drowns out talk, the deep concentration required by bridge and mah-jongg and crossword puzzles, the lack of vocal exercise as one listens to the radio, have turned the trick.

Now all that remains is for a scientist to discover that our entire vocal apparatus is ossifying.

CHAPTER NO. 682

AN ACT to repeal and re-enact with amendments Section 222 of Article 15 of the Code of Public Local Laws of Maryland, title "Kent County," sub-title "County Treasurer," as said section was amended by Chapter 208 of the Acts of 1922, providing for a deputy treasurer and fixing his compensation.

Section 1. Be it enacted by the General Assembly of Maryland, That Section 222 of Article 15 of the Code of Public Local Laws of Maryland title "Kent County," sub-title "County Treasurer," as said section was amended by Chapter 208 of the Acts of 1922, be and it is hereby repealed and re-enacted with amendments to read as follows:

222. At the general election of delegates to be held on the Tuesday after the first Monday in November, 1907, and every two years thereafter, there shall be elected a County Treasurer for Kent County by the qualified voters of said county, who shall hold his office for the term of two years from the first day of June following and until a successor is elected and qualified, and who shall be subject at all times to be removed for wilful neglect of duty or misdemeanor in office, upon conviction in a Court of Law; he shall not be eligible to re-election until after the interval of one full term, and in no event until he shall have fully settled up all business connected with his former term. It shall be the duty of said County Treasurer to collect all State and county taxes levied in Kent County and said Treasurer shall have the power and authority to assess all new or unassessed property in said county, and for this purpose he is clothed with all the powers possessed by collectors of taxes under the provisions of the Code of Public General Laws, and said Treasurer may appoint a deputy treasurer who shall receive an annual salary of not more than one thousand (1,000) dollars to be paid by the County Commissioners of Kent County, who shall be authorized to act in his place, for whose acts he shall be responsible and said treasurer may also appoint one or more deputies, who shall be authorized to act in his place, for whose acts he shall be responsible and to whom he may pay such compensation as he may deem proper, to be deducted from his salary and said Treasurer shall receive an annual salary of fifteen hundred dollars and the fees for selling the property of delinquents, as hereinafter provided, as are allowed collectors of taxes under the provisions of the Code of Public General Laws, and the further sum of twenty-five cents for each person's property assessed by him, and five cents for each dog or bitch returned to the County Commissioners and by them ordered to be entered on the assessment books of the county; but dogs in the incorporated towns which impose a tax thereon shall not be assessed by the County Commissioners; said Treasurer shall, before entering upon his duties of his office, execute to the State of Maryland, two bonds, with sureties to be approved by the County Commissioners, one for fifteen hundred dollars, conditional for the faithful collection and payment to the State Treasurer of all state taxes levied and placed in his hands for collection and the faithful performance of all other duties devolving on him, and another bond for twenty-five thousand dollars, conditional for the proper collection and disbursement of all taxes levied and placed in his hands for Kent County, and the faithful performance of all other duties devolving upon him; said bonds to be filed and recorded in the office of the Clerk of the Circuit Court for said county.

Sec. 2. And be it further enacted. That this Act shall take effect June 1, 1927.

In testimony whereof, I have hereunto set my hand as Clerk and affixed the seal of the said Court of Appeals, this 13th day of May, 1927.

IT'S the cigarette of the age — the triumph of all smoking history. Just reflect—at the time when more cigarettes are smoked than ever before—Camels passed them all.

Why? Figure it out and you'll find that Camel is made for the particular smoker whose taste, day by day, is more knowing of quality. Camels are rolled of the choicest Turkish and Domestic tobaccos grown. And what blending! Camel's smoothness and mellowness are qualities distinctive to this cigarette.

If you haven't yet tried them, you'll find all your smoking wishes come true in Camels. Mild, clear and smooth from morning to night. Always so satisfyingly good! "Have a Camel!"
