POLK BRAMBLE KNOWS POULTRY

Polk Bramble, the expert Chestertown poultry man, has the following to say:

Neither of the local hatcheries are increasing their capacities this year. There is some danger of over-production in the hatching business, the same as other branches of farming, etc.

The poultrymen of the whole world are getting together. This is the spirit of the times. Cooperation is the big word today. Men are talking things over together as never before. The Ottawa Convention is an example in a large way of what I am saying. But only a small number can get there. A few thousands may be there. But as these words are read millions of poultry keepers are at home taking care of the fowls. What are these to do? It is now too late to advise people to go. Therefore we must consider the need of "listening in."

As the price of eggs goes up in the next few weeks, how much are you going to lose by not knowing how much your gegs are really worth in markets that you could just as well send them to as not? Are you well informed as to the matter of advertising in various ways to make the best sales of your eggs and poultry meat? This is a good month to think about these things and become fully informed so that you will not have to work your life away all thru the years and let the older fellows get all the profit of your toil.

Sprint up on this marketing problem. Send for bulletins. Search for expert articles in the poultry magazines. Buy a book that discusses the subject exhaustively. You'll be surprised maybe to discover how much you do not know about the larger half of your business. Good luck. Get "all set" by next month at this time.

There is no such a thing as "one best breed of poultry apparently, and every honest and intelligent poultry keeper will acknowledge this. We may think and believe the breed or variety we possess is the best, a belief that is based on personal admiration of and experience with our favorites. But how about the other fellow? He also, believes his favorites are the "whole thing," and with just as much sincerity as we believe in ours.

WHY YOU SHOULD RAISE ALFALFA

By H. B. Derrick

1. Alfalfa hay solves the problem of economic dairy feeding. Cheaper milk production is as profitable as receiving higher prices for milk.

2. Alfalfa yields 50 to 100 per cent more hay per acre and the hay is 30 per cent richer in protein than clover. It is the coming hay crop for the dairy farmers of Kent county.

3. Alfalfa should give three crops per year for at least three years; clover gives one, or possibly two, per year. Timothy has very little place on a dairy farm.

4. Alfalfa can be substituted for part of the grain ration. Many mixed feeds consist largely of ground alfalfa. Ton for ton alfalfa is nearly equal to bran.

5. Alfalfa hay, corn silage and cor nmeal, all home grown, have proved successful as a balanced dairy ration.

6. Alfalfa pasture is highly desirable for chickens. The hay is excellent for horses if fed in moderation.

7. Alfalfa, being a legume, secures a large part of its nitrogen from the air. It improves the soil for subsequent crops.

8. Alfalfa is not difficult to raise, the few essentials to its success are easily provided.

9. Alfalfa hay is nearly always in demand at a good price. It is a good cash crop.

10. If wheat does not pay, raise alfalfa hay.

Frigidaire A Home Comfort Aud A Home Need

Four out of every five electric refrigerators being installed in the United States are Frigidaires, it was recently estimated by Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., president of General Motors Coporation, of which Frigidaire tors Corporation, of which Frigidaire

The story of Frigidaire, infant prodigy of the world's largest industrial corporation and unchallenged leader in the electric refrigeration field affords a wonderful illustration of reasons for American supremacy in home comforts, in national well-being and in industry.

Forseeing in electric refrigeration a great universal service comparable with what had been accomplished by the automobile in benefiting mankind, General Motors, many years ago put scores of engineers to work in its development. Millions of dollars were spent with a free hand in perfecting it and adapting it to both household and commercial use.

"Some idea of what has been accomplished in this direction may be visualized by comparing our lowest priced Frigidaire, which now sells for $195 with the price of $750 which represented the cheapest unit manufactured five years ago.

The Frigidaire unit production of 50,000 units a month, exceeds with the exception of Chevrolet, the number of units produced monthly by any car manufacturing division.

"I should not be surprised if General Motors in another year or two had $100,000,000 invested in the electric refrigeration business. I am satisfied that the biggest development is ahead of us."

"Overwhelming acceptance of Frigidaire is taken as an expression of the high regard felt by the American people for General Motors engineering and its ability to build a quality commodity at a quantity price," says E. G. Biechler, president and general manager of Frigidaire Corporation.

The Frigidaire is sold in Kent by Geo. W. Baldwin, Chestertown, who will be glad to show you one of these machines at the Electric Light Co. Office, under Voshell House.

Makes Ice and Scores of Dainties
Yes, Frigidaire, the electrical home refrigerator, actually makes ice for table use. It also freezes creams, sherbets and many new desserts.
In the cold dry atmosphere of the food compartment vegetables, meat and dairy products can be kept for a surprisingly long time in perfect condition.
Frigidaire is a product of General Motors Corporation and is thoroughly dependable.
Visit our store and let us explain how Frigidaire operates. Upon request, we will mail you an attractive booklet that will give you all the details.
Priced as low as $195.
