Doting Parents and Other Relatives Responsible for "Spoiled" Children

By CEDRIC M. LINDHOLM, Probation Investigator.

Children who have not been trained in restraint and respect for discipline before their sixth or seventh year are more susceptible to error in later life. Doting parents or other relatives are important factors in such cases.

An outstanding success attributed to inhibition was the career of Theodore Roosevelt, who was so strengthened mentally and morally by his fight against physical weakness in his youth that he climbed on to fame after overcoming his early handicaps.

An inhibitional failure is imminent each time a nurse or parent picks up a whimpering infant from its crib and quiets it by walking the floor. The most common method of thus "spoiling" a youngster is pampering by the doting mamas and papas, aunts and elder sisters. A lone boy or a lone girl in a family has the least chance of evading such influences. Regular spankings for the baby now will go a long way toward checking the crime wave of 1950.

Modern people spend more for the joys of living than in any other age ever known. But they demand the utmost value for their money.

Present-day smokers find their sheerest enjoyment in Camels

THE people of this age spend millions for the good things of life. And they place Camel first among cigarettes.

Modern smokers make money, but when they spend it they insist on quality, and more people today buy Camels than ever bought any other cigarette.
