ELECTRICAL REFRIGERATION

When thinking of Electrical Refrigeration, think of the name KELVINATOR.

Refrigeration is not an experiment with the Kelvinator Co.

They have been building electrical refrigerators for 14 years.

We can also make your old ice box or refrigerator electrical.

For your convenience, I have one at my store.

NEW RATE OF INTEREST

THE FEDERAL LAND BANK has reduced its annual rate of interest to borrowers on Farm Lands to

5¼ Per Cent

Making the cheapest rate of interest ever offered. No other bank can or will match this rate, which makes the Federal Land Bank the CHEAPEST medium through which you can borrow money on Farm Land.

Let me talk the matter over with you.

BLUE SUNOCO

Wins the Blue Ribbon

Following the high knockless rating given BLUE Sunoco by the Contest Board of the American Automobile Association, the Canadian Automobile Association proves in a recent official test that BLUE Sunoco has the highest knockless rating of 11 motor fuels tested

—yet BLUE Sunoco sells at regular gas price

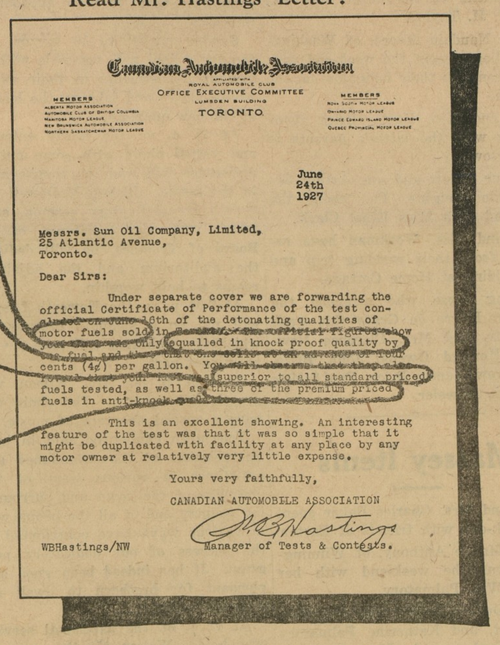

Read Mr. Hastings' Letter:

11 motor fuels tested

BLUE SUNOCO equalled by only one selling at 4 cents more

Superior to all standard-priced fuels

Excelled three extra-priced fuels

Toronto.

Dear Sirs:

Under separate cover we are forwarding the official Certificate of Performance of the test conducted on June 16th of the detonating qualities of motor fuels sold in Canada. The official figures show your fuel was only equalled in knock proof quality by one fuel, and that by a margin of an advance of four cents (4¢) per gallon. You will observe that your fuel, which is not a superior to all standard priced fuels tested, as well as three of the premium priced fuels in anti-knock quality.

This is an excellent showing. An interesting feature of the test was that it was so simple that it might be duplicated with facility at any place by any motor owner at relatively very little expense.

Yours very faithfully,

CANADIAN AUTOMOBILE ASSOCIATION

BLUE SUNOCO is a pure all-petroleum product, non-poisonous and harmless. Its unexcelled quality is obtained by careful and scientific methods of manufacture rather than by the addition of foreign substances.

WORTON NOTES

Mr. and Mrs. John Dwyer entertained Mr. and Mrs. Harold Crew, of North East, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Ford of Chestertown, Mr. and Mrs. John Carter, Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Loller and son, John Carroll, and Mrs. Margaret Dwyer at dinner Sunday, Sept. 18th, the occasion being Mr. Dwyer's birthday.

Miss Julia Williams, who has been spending her vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Williams, has returned to Western Maryland.

The stork visited the homes of Mr. and Mrs. Preston Crowding and Mr. and Mrs. Romie Morris recently and left each a fine bady boy.

Miss Lula VanDyke, of Kennedyville, has been visiting her sister, Mrs. George T. Williams.

Mr. and Mrs. Herdman Kernan and sister, Henrietta, have returned to Philadelphia.

Mrs. Albert Bacon has returned to Philadelphia after spending some time with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Graham.

Sunlight's Power Over Mind Is Great Factor

Much has been written in the last year or two of the ultraviolet rays in sunlight and of their benefit to health. Undoubtedly these benefits are real, but they are not the only ones in sunlight. Science is not yet ready to certify just which rays of the many solar ones are beneficial. Possibly all are. Nor is it safe to be dogmatic in asserting that favors of the sun are bestowed altogether through the physical portals of blood or skin. There are links between sun and mind, too. It is hard to be cheerful in the dark, and cheerfulness grows ever more needful in this modern world which has cast loose so much of its intellectual ballast. A place in the sun, occupied occasionally by everybody, is a fine antidote to pessimism. There is no need to be a sun worshiper, but it is a fine plan to be an occasional sun absorber.

What She Wanted

"Sylvia looks very sweet tonight, don't you think?" asked the fair-haired girl at the dance.

"Positively stunning!" declared her partner, and then realized what he had done. "Of course," he added, "she looks prettier at times than others."

The fair one melted slightly. "The real test of beauty," she said, "is to look pretty always."

"You do," declared her partner.

"How perfectly sweet of you to say so. But Sylvia is pretty."

"You are prettier," declared her partner.

"Don't be absurd," said the fair-haired girl; "but it's perfectly sweet of you to say so."

Alert and Observing

Knowing therefore that you cannot be a good master unless you have a universal power of representing by your art all the various forms which nature produces—which indeed you will not know how to do unless you see them and retain them in your mind—look to it, O Painter, that when you go into the fields you give your attention to the various objects and look carefully in turn first at one thing and then at another, making a bundle of different things selected and chosen from among those of less value.—Leonardo Da Vinci's Note Books. Translated by Edward McCurdy.

Taste Not in Money

Taste, runs the saying, flaunts no dollar sign. One can spend a million dollars and have a hideous home, and vice versa, one can spend but a few dollars and achieve good taste in the home with simplicity.

Taste is more than a question of education, it is more than a question of breeding. Some few have it to begin with, more achieve it and a great mass of people have it thrust upon them, fortunately. We say fortunately for the majority of home owners are content to let those who have taste design and decorate their homes for them.

Spenser

Like most poets, he felt the impulse of the day and hour. His poems reflect the color of the sky over his head, blue and somber by turns. His piety, though at all times sincere, was more or less apparent according to the seasons—more or less engrossing according as he felt the blessings or buffets of fortune. Yet above the span of his checkered career and alternating quest after earthly joy and heavenly bliss, an indubitable idealism is spread like the rainbow arching over a landscape beaten by the rain and illumined by the sun.—Emile Legouis, in "Spenser."

Too Generous

Two prominent clubwomen recently gave a program by reading, in dialogue form, a series of short paragraphs each had written on a special theme. First one would read, and then in response the other would give her offering. Each had worked out her part of the program cleverly and tried to put her share over with good effect. Imagine the consternation of Mrs. A when a friend, thinking she had written the entire thing, rushed up at the close and said: "Oh, your program was so interesting, but you gave all the cleverest parts to Mrs. B to read. Why didn't you keep those for yourself?"—Indianapolis News.

An Atchison young man started out to secure a position. Later he began to hunt a job, and now he is looking for just plain work.—Atchison Globe.
