Home-Coming At I. U. Church

Sunday was observed as the annual homecoming celebration at old I. U. parish and hundreds of friends and former parishioners of the ancient shrine enjoyed services arranged by the rector, the Rev. John White.

The celebration began with a morning service, at which the rector delivered the sermon and administered communion.

At noon a basket dinner was served in the historic church yard and at 3 p. m., an informal service was held, at which the retired rector of the parish, the Rev. Dr. Sewell S. Hepbron, spoke.

Officials of the church have adopted the celebrations to stimulate interest and loyalty on the part of former members and friends. It is proposed to make the celebrations annual events.

BISHOP DAVENPORT'S SEVENTH ANNIVERSARY

On Thursday Bishop Davenport had completed seven years as Bishop of Easton. He was consecrated on Sept. 15, 1920, in Trinity Cathedral, the venerable Bishop Tuttle and six other distinguished prelates being present. In the seven years of labor here Bishop Davenport has seen the Diocese increase many fold in every activity. It is stronger numerically, spiritually and financially, and has accomplished many things that seemed impossible a few years ago. The Diocesan work is vigorous and inspired.
