Woman Is Studying Corn Rust

Under the auspices of the United States Department of Agriculture, Miss Marion A. Griffiths, assistant pathologist, is making a study of corn rust on the department's experimental farm at Arlington, Va. Miss Griffiths is seeking a rust-resisting variety of corn, which would be of incalculable value to corn growers in all parts of the country.

"How Old Is Ann?"

The question, "How Old Is Ann?" which was at one time the catch phrase of the day, originated in a puzzle concocted by Sam Lloyd, the Puzzle Man, according to his own confession in an article in Liberty. The puzzle which was responsible for the phrase is as follows: "The combined ages of Mary and Ann are forty-four years. Mary is twice as old as Ann was when Mary was half as old as 'Ann will be when Ann is three times as old as Mary was when Mary was three times as old as Ann. How old is Ann?"

Proved It

Tom—You crook! Those cards are marked.

Jerry—I'm no crook and these cards aren't marked. See these aces in my sleeve? Well, if the cards were marked I wouldn't have to have 'em there.

Mean Thing!

Phoebe the Steno—Aren't men stingy, though?

Tillie the Manicurist—They're awful! Lots of 'em trim their nails on the left hands and then expect me to knock off half when I do the other for 'em!

Government by Courts Constitutes Infringement on American Liberty

By PRESIDENT GREEN, American Federation of Labor.

The trend of judicial process has been advancing, ever limiting the activities of organized labor. We are loyal American citizens, we believe in the Declaration of Independence, the Constitution of the United States, and we have respect for law.

Despite the wrongs that must be righted and the mistakes of our government, I feel that we have the best democratic government on the face of the earth today. Our claim is that we have the right to petition and redress as our forefathers did. This is a fundamental right. When we feel the hand of government lays heavy and unfairly on the working people, our tongues will not be silenced and we will not withhold our protest.

Injunctions are unfair and unjust that interfere with our rights and abridge our liberty. Injunctions are government by court instead of government by law.

It is necessary for the members of organized labor to assert their traditional political power in that we will support in the congress and in the state those who will support us and oppose those who are against us.

The A. F. of L. is not in accord with extremists or anarchists. No cause can be advanced in the United States by the use of bomb or bayonet.

Materialism and Greed for Money Outstanding Evil of Present Day

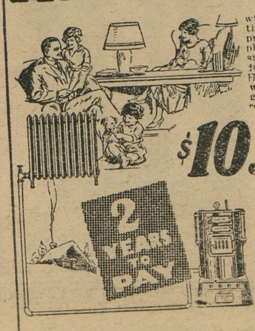

By REV. CHARLES GOFF, Chicago Pastor.

The social and economic life of today seems to be a mad rush to make money and a high-powered, ripping speed toward the things of the flesh. Materialism is rampant. Every department of life and morals seems to be geared to a smash that will inevitably come unless we mend our ways.

In the midst of this I don't propose to be a rubber-stamp preacher. There are too many of that kind. The rubber-stamp minister is the one who is always saying smooth things and dealing in glittering generalities.

You cannot settle the problems of the world by any one specific method. Jesus never asked a man if he believed in a creed or a dogma. All He saw was the man's need, and, granting his prayer, all He required was faith in His divinity and a demand that the healed man go out and save others.
