SATURDAY, OCTOBER 22, 1927

Major Lewis Lamborn, head of the McDonough School at McDonough, Md., addressed the students of Washington College at the Thursday morning Assembly. The public is invited to each weekly assembly and an increasing number of people are availing themselves of the opportunity to hear the speakers on these occasions. The student body and the faculty are working together this year on the Assembly program and so far have succeeded in presenting an exceptionally interesting schedule. Two students at Washington College are graduates of the McDonough School.

DR. PAUL E. TITSWORTH'S PRACTICAL ADDRESS

Dr. Paul E. Titsworth was the speaker at the Thursday morning assembly of Washington College. The address was in celebration of Founder's Day, the college being 145 years old.

Dr. Titsworth reviewed the recent past and its achievements and read in them the promise for the future. Among the outstanding achievements last year was the installing of a modern accounting system through which the expenses can be controlled as they are indicated from week to week; secondly, the securing from the State an additional annual $15,000 for running expenses and an appropriation of $100,000 for wiping out the college debt thus placing, as it were, Washington as a grade A College financially as two years ago it became one scholastically. Another notable accomplishment is the new curriculum that became operative for the Freshman Class this fall and which was the result of intensive study on the part of the faculty of what the curriculum for a college of liberal arts like Washington should be.

The president appealed to the student body for cooperation in abolishing the practice of hazing as being inconsistent with the spirit of a college in a community where law and order should prevail, quoting methods used in other colleges to set the possibly bumptious freshman in his place without the use of force.

In conclusion the speaker reminded his audience that all real education is self-education and that the college is the convenient and appropriate organized opportunity where it may be had.

Washington College he declared is destined to help shape and color the civilization of this Peninsula and to play a star role with the other Maryland educational institutions in developing the State.

HOSPITAL ADMITS 1274 IN AUGUST

The annual report of Easton Emergency Hospital, just completed, is a most interesting record of a strenuous and helpful year. It shows that the largest number of patients in its history have been cared for and at an expense that does not in any sense compare with the income. In fact the very large increase in free patients has caused the year to represent a loss of some proportions.

There were 1274 patients admitted during the year and the Hospital days amounted to 15,856. The pay patients numbered 405, the part pay 288 and the free patients 581. The pay hospital days were 4714, part pay 3740 and the free 7502.

The daily average of patients has been 43, the daily average of pay patients 12, part-pay 11, free 20.

The dispensary cases numbered 2846, the surgical operations 699, fractures 65. There is a large increase in the number of operations performed and the dispensary cases are almost double what they were for the year previous.

It is interesting to know from where the patients come. Talbot county had 635, of which 225 paid, 134 part pay and 276 free; Queen Anne's had 265, of which 83 paid, 55 part paid, and 127 free; Caroline 47 pay, 45 part pay and 99 free; Kent county 24 paid, 18 part pay and 46 free.

There were 3 from Dorchester, 1 from Wicomico, 11 from Delaware, 2 from Prince George, 5 from Washington, D. C., 12 from Baltimore, 7 from Pennsylvania, and varying numbers from other states and cities.

The large number admitted and cared for made it necessary to curtain off the sun parlors as there were not enough beds otherwise to meet the demand, and rather than refuse patients this had to be resorted to. Altogether the year just closed is one that reflects the greatest credit upon Miss Waters the Superintendent and her able assistants, the Staff and the officials of the institution.

KENT CO-OPERATES IN COW TESTING

As announced in News last week the testing of Kent farmers' cattle is progressing as fast as possible. The work is being done under the direction of Dr. E. C. Simons, of the Extension Service, assisted by Dr. C. A. Turner, of the United States Bureau of Animal Industry.

Some idea of the manner in which the test is affecting the farmers may be gotten from the fact that in some instances practically every dairy cow in the herd is being taken, leaving the owner without his milk supply, which is causing heavy losses every day.

Samuel G. Loller, near Worton Station, lost fifteen cows and one bull out of twenty-seven, taking practically all of his best milch cows, while H. Stockton Startt, who has herds on a number of farms, lost thirty-five out of sixty-three head, and on one of his places every one of twelve cows was taken. Thomas H. Bryan lost 22 this week and five years ago had 27 to go under.

While these are facts Josiah Massey only lost one out of a large herd. Julian Jones only had one to go under. Wm. A. Bell, Adam and John Schauber, Walter T. Bramble, Ellwood Morris, Robert Moffett, George W. Rash, Thomas Fowler and many others have herds which are accredited and pass the test.

The medical profession are agreed that the milk from diseased cattle breeds ill health and tuberculosis is the most prevalent.

An excellent summary has been made by Resenau, who reports that out of 2527 cases of tuberculosis studied by several observers, 408 or 16.2 per cent were bovine. In people over 16 years there were 38 or 2.9 per cent bovine; between 5 and 16 years 171 or 28.9 per cent; and under 5, 199 or 32.4 per cent; 1079 or 42.8 per cent were pulmonary cases, of which 6 or .5 per cent were bovine; 1437 or 57.4 per cent were other forms of tuberculosis, of which 402 or 28 per cent were bovine.

But there are still people who are uninformed, some are misinformed, and some are incredulous and skeptical.

Witness the individual recently reported in the American Journal of Public Health (April 23, 1923, Page 315) in an article headed: "Tuberculosis Contracted from the Family Cow." Ten years ago Mr. W. D. Odom, of Columbus, Georgia, did not believe that the milk from his cow, which was known to be tuberculous, could infect his family. Today his wife is dead, his son suffering a permanent disability, and his two daughters are in a tuberculosis sanatorium, all having been infected by drinking milk from the family cow.

Kent farmers are cooperating loyally with the authorities in riding the county of the plague.

As soon as they can disinfect their premises they will restock with attested cattle, and in this manner County Agent Derrick hopes to make Kent an accredited county within the next two years, provided there are sufficient funds with which to complete the work of testing the 10,000 cattle in the county. The third and fourth districts have been finished.

THE NEED FOR ACCREDITED HERDS.

Announcement last week by local cooling stations that only milk from TESTER herds would be purchased at their plants, is only the fore-runner of what will be the controlling factor in the sale of milk before many months pass.

Fortunately the new ruling, at this time, applies only to dairymen who have had an opportunity to take advantage of the government test. Those who are OUTSIDE the testing area still are able to find a market for their product.

It probably will be recalled that last year officials pointed out the necessity of full co-operation with the campaign against bovine tuberculosis. In a frank, straight-foward manner they emphasized the growing tendency of communities to DEMAND milk produced only by ACCREDITED herds.

And there is no doubt about the fact that the time IS rapidly approaching when there will be no market for milk produced by cows that do not bear the official stamp of being clean and HEALTHY.

Acceptance of the test unquestionably means a heavy loss to many dairymen. Not a few producers have lost their entire herds and many more have had the ranks of what they considered their best milkers disastrously thinned. But in looking the FUTURE, there is but one sensible, practical business-like course. That is to TEST now. And then BUILD for the future.

IMMIGRATION AND FARM LABOR

The tide of labor migration, is of common or unskilled industrial labor from Europe to the United States since the enactment of the quota restriction law has not only ceased, but actually has been reversed, according to an analysis of immigration trends made by the National Industrial Conference Board of New York. Where as before the war, our annual net gain of common labor, including farm laborers from Europe averaged about 260,000 for the period 1910-14, has been losing annually an average of about 20,000 more of this group to European countries than we have received from them.

Balancing all immigration against emigration, our annual net gain of common and farm labor from all sources, including Europe, has averaged about 25,000 a year for the past three years, and has depended wholly on immigration from Mexico and Canada and, to a negligible degree, to other countries not subject to quota restriction.

Labor immigration from Europe consists roughly of half unskilled industrial and half farm labor, but in all about three times as many common laborers have returned to Europe than have come from Europe since 1924, while farm laborers generally have remained.

Only a small proportion of the combined immigration from Mexico and Canada consists of farm labor, averaging less than 4,000 a year for the 1925-27 period, of which Mexico contributes only about 300 annually.

The influx of common and farm labor during the past fiscal year, including immigration from Europe, has been heavier, and emigration from the united States less than the average in the two preceding years.

IN MEMORIUM

In sad and loving remembrance of my dear friend, Anna Catherine Dickerson, who departed this life two years ago today, October 14, 1925.

In my heart your memory lingers,
Sweetly, tender, fond and true;
There is many a time dear friend,
That I think of you.

1t By A Friend.

In sad but loving and everlasting memory of our wonderful mother and pal, Ida L. Curlett, who died October 17, 1926.

Deep in our hearts there is a picture
Of our dear mother who has gone to rest;
In memory's frame, we shall keep it,
Because she was the one we loved best.
Time may heal an aching heart,
Time may make the wound less sore.
But time will never stop the longing
For our dear mother who has gone before.
She had a nature you could not help loving;
Her heart was pure than gold;
To those who knew and loved her,
Her memory will never grow cold,
And in our lonely hearts we know mother now.
No one knows how much we miss her,
No one knows the tears we shed,
But in heaven we hope to meet her,
Where no farewell words are said.
Dearly loved and sadly missed by her Children.

In sad but loving remembrance of our dear baby, Emma May Brown, who departed this life six months ago October 24, 1927.

We had a little treasure once,
She was our joy and pride,
We loved her, oh perhaps too well,
For soon she slept and died,
All is dark within our dwelling,
Lonely are our hearts today,
For the one we loved so dearly,
Has forever passed away.
Dear little hands, I miss them so;
All through the day wherever I go—
All through the night how lonely it seems,
For no little hands wake me out of my dreams,
I miss them all through the weary hours,
I miss them as others do sunshine and flowers,
Day time or night time wherever I go,
Dear little hands I miss them so.
By her loving Mother and Father.
