LOCAL HAPPENINGS HERE AND THERE

Chestertown painters have greatly improved many homes in the town this year and have others on their list.

Members of the Chestertown Volunteer Fire Company enjoyed their annual oyster scald Monday evening at the firehouse.

Sheriff Hadaway raided a big game of crap shooters on Calvert street on Saturday night. All confessed and paid fines of $5 and costs each.

Andrew Downie's motorized circus finished a successful season Saturday at Endfield, N. C., and immediately after the evening performance started for Havre de Grace to go into winter quarters. It is said that Mr. Downie has had one of the most successful seasons in his career as a show man.

State's Attorney Stephen R. Collins, president of the recently organized Chester River Yacht and Country Club reports that the total membership subscriptions received to date is 60, representing a total of $6,000 in funds which will be used for the development of a golf course and the erection of a clubhouse, and an effort is being made to increase this number to at least 100 by the end of the year.

By advertisement elsewhere in the Kent News the Federal Land Bank has lowered its interest from 5½ per cent to 5 per cent annual interest, the lowest rate ever offered farmers in this section. See Mr. Thos. D Bowers at his office on Court street regarding the particulars of securing such a loan.

Steven Roman, 106 West Seventh street, Wilmington, who reported the disappearance of his wife some days ago, said that Mrs. Roman had returned. According to the husband his wife was taken ill while visiting relatives in Chestertown, Md. They have two children who are being cared for by the Children's Bureau.

KENT NEWS $1.50 PER YEAR.

Berg and Block, proprietors of Cecilton Bazaar, sold at Sudlersville Wednesday 50 head of tested cattle. Prices ranged from $76 to $176 each. James H. Lee was auctioneer. This firm expect to have a sale in Chestertown soon.

Twenty-four hundred dollars was the handsome price paid last week for a stallion which will be used for breeding purposes in the neighborhood of Sudlersville and Crumpton. The horse was purchased from a man named Hawes, of Ohio, and this week became the property of twelve farmers. This is probably the highest price ever paid for a stallion in this section. Among those who made the purchase were: J. Thomas Smith, B. Clay Coppage, Wm. O. Welch, H. T. Welch, J. W. Smith. J. Fred Stevens, W. Warner Mallalieu, John Wiest and Albert Starkey.

Just now thousands of dollars' worth of fine Kent county porkers are beginning to ripen for the fall harvest. And, unfortunately, at this moment hog cholera is again playing havoc with pork prospects in several county communities. It means that vigorous efforts must be made to swat the hog cholera germ and keep the loss to the lowest possible figure. Science and practically experience both have proven quite conclusively that "Innoculation in time saves swine." And that is what must be done if hog raisers are to experience profitable production. Kent county annually loses thousands of dollars worth of hogs from cholera and kindred maladies. Much of this loss can be avoided if proper preventative methods are employed.

Ringgold Strong is adding a repair shop to his property on Cross street.

STILL POND NOTES

Mrs. Wm. Anderson spent several days this week in Philadelphia.

Miss Rachel Parrott is visiting her friend, Miss Bowers, near Worton.

Miss Anna Bowers is spendign some time with Mr. and Mrs. Holton Parr in Baltimore.

The devotional service of the Epworth League will be lead tomorrow evening by Mrs. S. B. Parrott. John Bennett, of Chestertown, will be the speaker. There will also be some special music, so come out and enjoy the service.

Hadaway Bros. have caught six coons this season.

Mrs. John H. Clendaniel, Chairman of the Committee for the Ambulance Fund held a meeting of all committees from the various local organizations in order to outline a definite plan of procedure. The Ambulance is a need in the county that is recognized by every one and funds are soon expected to be in hand for the project.

R. S. G. Clift, a valued employe of Brooks flour mill, near town, made a narrow escape with his life Wednesday. He was adjusting a belt on a pulley when he was caught and pulled to the ceiling of the room and caused the engine to choke. He was released from his position and upon advice of Dr. Simpers carried at once to Easton Hospital. Upon examination no bones were broken nor was there any serious injury. After a few days quiet and nursing Mr. Clift returned home. He is still quite sore but thankful that his life was spared.

The Board of Election Supervisors for Kent County held a special meeting in the Court House here on Tuesday. Present were C. Frank Crow, President; J. Hydie Thompson, Secretary, and Thomas W. Trew. O. B. Knight, Clerk, and R. H. Rogers, Attorney, were present. The board was not called upon to act in an official capacity this year. This same board, however, will serve through the elections next year and go out of office in May 1929.

An Unusual Triangle In "The Big Parade"

There is the inevitable triangle in "The Big Parade," the King Vidor production for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer coming Dec. 1st, 2nd and 3rd, to the Lyceum Theatre, but with a difference. The two female angles of this triangle never meet and are for the most part unaware of each other's existence.

The one is the girl John Gilbert leaves behind him when he goes to war, and the other is a peasant girl of France. Claire Adamas has the role of the hero's boyhood sweetheart, and Renee Adoree plays Melisande, the young French woman. An exceedingly unusual ending is a feature of the story of "The Big Parade."

DEATHS.

John E. Morris died at his home in Fairlee Wednesday, aged 65. He leaves a widow, Mrs. Jessie Morris, and three children, Mrs. P. V. Hendrickson, Miss Frances Morris and W. Walter Morris, also three grand children and two brothers, J. Elwood and Wilbur H. Morris.

Go right ahead and pluck the turkey but don't let the turkey pluck you.

The man who is going to buy new clothes this week has, we believe, style in his eye---quality in his heart---and value in his head.

He wants to pluck a wonderful suit or coat but he doesn't want to be plucked for a wonderful profit.

Not that we infer he would be unsafe any where else---but why go elsewhere when he is sure of finding exactly what he wants here?

THANKSGIVING IS NEAR

Thanksgiving time rolls around again almost before we know it. Many have been our blessings and great should be our gratitude for them.

As this is the season for homecoming and neighborly visits, the housewife must make preparations for these events and many items will be needed for the home. The Family Store is stocked with the merchandise required and, as usual, prices will be found quite reasonable in keeping with the quality.

FOR THE TABLE

An attractive table is necessary for the full enjoyment of the Thanksgiving meal. A new set of dishes may be wanted or perhaps just a piece here and there to fill in. In either event you will find a complete line here.

Table Damask 50c to $2.00 per yard. Napkins $1.25 per doz. up. Luncheon Sets at all prices. Table Felt Padding $1.00 per yard. Water Glasses 38c to $1.50 doz. Sherberts 69c to $1.25 set. Carving Sets $4.50.

FLOOR COVERINGS

New Rugs add greatly to the appearance of the room. A new shipment has been received of Axministers, Tapestry and Wool Fibre in pretty patterns. Prices range from $14.00 to $35.00.

A new piece of Linoleum or Floortex for the kitchen will make the work lighter and the room more cheerful. It will cost but little for this needed improvement.

BED COVERINGS

For the guest room a new blanket or comfort, or perhaps a novelty bed spread or linens may be necessary. We could'nt begin to describe the wonderful line in this department but we assure you that there will be shown the widest range we have ever shown and the prices fit every purse.

FOR THE KITCHEN

To properly prepare the toothsome meal new utensils may have to be purchased. Double Roasters for the fowl in WEAR-EVER aluminum, enamel or tinware in all wanted sizes. Cake Pans, Drip Pans, Mixing Bowls, Convex Kettles, Tea Kettles, Percolators and hundreds of other articles are on sale at special prices.

CANDY

Pure, wholesome candy, some in novelty packages, that will just finish off the Thanksgiving meal in the right way, can be had here

Don't fail to include candy, cigars and salted nuts in the menu.
