ANNOUNCES HIS CANDIDACY

Congressman T. Alan Goldsborough, of the Eastern Shore Maryland District, filed Monday with the supervisors of elections of the nine counties comprising this district, his certificate of candidacy.

In announcing his candidacy Mr. Goldsborough said that he had very much enjoyed his Congressional service and desired to continue it if this met with the approval of his constituents.

Mr. Goldsborough has been a member of one of the most important House Committees — the Committee on Banking and Currency—ever since he has been in Congress, the work of this committee being so heavy and important as to necessitate its being made what is known in the Congress as an "Exclusive" committee — that is, its members are ineligible for service on any other House Committee.

Mr. Goldsborough is likely to have opposition. His opponent will be named within the next week, it is learned.

EASTERN SHORE HISTORY TOLD IN PAGEANT

Guided by the voice of Miss Harriet Perkins Marine in prologue and narrative, 1,100 to 1,200 persons Friday night reviewed the history of the Eastern Shore in a pageant presented at Lehmann Hall, in Baltimore.

The pageant, entitled "Women of Bygone Days," written by Miss Marine, was produced by the speech arts committee of the Woman's Eastern Shore Society of Maryland.

It opened with a tableau in which all the counties were represented. Then followed a separate portrayal of some outstanding character or the depicting of some characteristic scene in the history of each county.

The married women who took part in the various tableaux were listed on the program by their maiden names as well as their married surnames, so they might be identified with the Eastern Shore.

The Cecil county chapter depicted Emma Alice Browne, the poet, and a group of contemporary verse writers to represent the history of the county. The Kent county chapter presented in tableaux a painting of the Peale family executed by Charles Wilson Peale, with portraits of Catherine ("Kitty") Knight and Margaret Jane Peale Ramsey.

An English festival with a May pole dance was staged by the Queen Anne's county chapter. The Talbot county chapter pictured a garden party in the rose garden of Wye House and also a tableau in which Amelia Ball Welby, the poet, born at St. Michael's in 1819, was represented. A poem by the poet also was read.

A quilting party, in which an old Negro mammy danced a jig, was the contribution of the Caroline county chapter. Dorchester countians presented Lady Baltimore.

Wicomico and Worcester chapters, turning to the early history of their counties, gave Indian scenes, and the Somerset county group presented, in tableau, Anna Ella Carroll, of Civil War time.

Committee assignment included Mrs. Charles R. Colladay, Miss Lula Dryden, Mrs. Ethel Gale Dorsey, from Kent.

COMMUNITY CLUB MEETING

The Flatland Community Club held its meeting for the month of February at the home of Mrs. Sam Moffett's, it being an all-day meeting and the morning was devoted to business, while the afternoon was on poultry subject. Miss Schellinger then took charge of the program.

The March meeting will be an all-day meeting at the home of Mrs. Morris', the morning would be on the study of caneing chairs, and the afternoon on business; also that the April meeting of the Council at Chestertownl would be on upholstering and a specialist from Hutzler's, of Baltimore, would be there.

The first speaker was Martin Sutton on Club Work. Then Mr. Truslow gave an interesting talk on the kinds of poultry best adapted for stock and broiler purposes, as to kinds in most demand; his subject being "Where the Poultry Business Is Going," which was a very interesting thought to consider.

Refreshments were served and the meeting adjourned to meet at Mrs Morris' March 1st.
