SEED CORN VARIETY AND SELECTION DEMONSTRATIONS

All farmers and others interested are cordially invited to attend hte Seed Corn Selection Demonstrations to be held in Kent County, March 20, 21, 22, and 23, at seven central points in the County.

Kent county farms are not producing the number of bushels of corn per acre that could be grown. Farmers will have the opportunity to discuss this subject from every angle. The selection of the right variety of corn, and healthy, vigorous seed of that variety, is the first essential for a good crop. Then, the most economical application of fertilizer is an important factor. Results of demonstrations conducted in Kent County in 1927 with fertilizing corn will be given by County Agent, H. B. Derrick. Mr. F. W. Oldenburg, Extension Corn Specialist, will exhibit 400 ears of corn, including the leading varieties grown in Maryland and good and bad seed. The demonstrations will be held as follows:

Tuesday, March 20th, at Farilee School House, at 2 p. m.

Wednesday, March 21st, at Massey Red Men's Hall, at 9.30 a. m.

Wednesday, March 21st, at Chestertown, County Agent's Office, at 1.30 p. m.

Thursday, March 22nd, at Kennedyville, School House, 9.30 a. m.

Thursday, March 22nd, at Still Pond, Bramble's Hall, 1.30 p. m.

Friday, March 23rd, Worton, Worton Hall, 9.30 a. m.

Friday, March 23rd, Rock Hall, at Mr. Biddle's Office, 1.30 p. m.

Farmers are requested to bring 10 to 20 ears of their seed corn, to inspect at the meeting. It is a great satisfaction to know your seed corn is right and to raise a profitable crop of corn.

These meetings have been arranged by the County Agent in co-operation with the Farm Bureau. All farmers are invited.

"Now We're In The Air" At Lyceum Theatre

Aviation, now the greatest popular fancy, has its comedy possibilities exploited for the first time in a motion picture by Wallace Beery and Raymond Hatton in "Now We're in the Air," the Paramount film which comes to the Lyceum Theatre Thursday and Friday, March 22 and 23.

Against theirr will, Beery and Hatton have been soldiers, sailors and firemen, and now they are aviators, through no doing of their own. They land in the air service when their employer enlists and they wander into a propeller testing room and have their Scotch highlander costumes blown off.

Some one tosses them a pair of flying uniforms and before they know it they have been mistaken for aviators and are in the air. Mistaken identity dominates the plot. Louise Brooks plays a dual role. She is both of twin sisters, one of whom is of French fealty and the other German. Beery falls in love with the German twin and Hatton with the French, but they are unable to tell the girls apart, so all sorts of scrambled complications ensue.

Then Beery and Hatton are mistaken for German heroes, and are acclaimed of the same status by the French. This is too good to last however, and they are about to be finished off by a firing squad when the war ends, and each wins the twin of his choice.

The picture is replete in thrilling aviation situations, but most of the comedy takes place on the ground. Clever gags punctuate the entire production and the picture may be safely said to be the funniest and best Hatton and Beery have done yet.

Frank Strayer directed "Now We're in the Air," and the cast includes Malcolm Waite, Emile Chautard, Duke Martin and Russell Simpson.
