"Feed PURINA"

WHEN the hatcheryman sells you chicks, he wants them to live and grow. He realizes the importance of proper feeding. It is for this reason that 1592 hatcheries recommend Purina Poultry Chows. Poultry yard facts show that more than 90% of the baby chicks fed Purina Startena live and thrive. We have just received a shipment of Purina Startena. Come in and tell us how many bags you'll need.

The New Maytag Makes House Cleaning Easier

For homes without electricity, the Maytag is available with in-built gasoline motor.

Wash Heavy Blankets, Quilts, Rugs or Draperies this Easy Way

BECAUSE its large, roomy, cast-aluminum tub holds four gallons more than ordinary washers, the Maytag handles the bulky things of housecleaning time easily. It will flush out, with surprising speed, all the dirt from comforters, blankets, rag rugs, etc. Now is the time to make a free trial test of the Maytag. It will wash your fine draperies and curtains as carefully as if washed by hand.

The seamless, cast-aluminum tub keeps the water hot; the all-metal, Roller Water Remover—a new, exclusive Maytag feature, sets close to the water line, making it easy to put the heavy blankets through. The tension adjusts itself, and the balloon-type rolls remove the soap and water evenly from every part of the fabric.

PHONE for a Maytag. See it wash a big tubful of clothes every 2 to 7 minutes, an average washing in an hour without hand-rubbing anything. Use it for a week's washing FREE. If it doesn't sell itself, don't keep it.

THE FIVE SUTTON BROS. IN CONTEST

Kent county farmers are preparing to move in force upon College Park May 26, when the annual Farmers' Day exercises will be held under University of Maryland auspices, it is announced by Horace B. Derrick, extension agent here.

Adult agriculturalists as well as members of the County 4-H Calf Clubs will compete in the dairy cattle judging contests as well as the poultry judging tests. Among youthful farmers from this county competing will be five sons of Mr. and Mrs. Linwood Sutton, well-known farmers in Kent.

Stanley Sutton, twenty-three-year-old champion seed corn and tomato grower of Maryland will accompany the lads of which he is the eldest.

Martin Sutton, member of the Maryland Poultry judging team and twenty-one-year-old dairy cattle producer, will take a prominent part in the day's proceedings as will three other brothers, Albert, aged nineteen; Frank, seventeen and Clarence, fourteen.

All members of the County Calf Club while the two last named are members of the 4-H Poultry Club.

Local horsemen will also take part in the horseshow, to be a feature of the occasion and among local riders will be 40 members of the county cavalry organization organized two years ago by the Rev. Louis B. Sheen former Army officer and now of Berlin, Md.

Local members of the Maryland Sheep Growers' Association will participate in the exhibition of pure-bred rams which are being introduced into this county in order to improve the quality of the flocks.

Meanwhile local egg and poultry producers are making ready for the annual "egg week" activities, from May 1 to 7. Chestertown is said to be the largest shipping point for baby chicks south of Frenchtown, N. J., and Polk T. Bramble, William H. Truslow and other local producers will display exhibits of their products at that time, according to an announcement by Prof. Roy H. Waite of the University of Maryland poultry husbandry department, State man.

The progress of the "grow healthy chicks" campaign in this county is encouraging and the poultry business here is rapidly developing into one of the best paying industries in this vicinity. Demonstrations in good breeding practices are being given by W. H. Rice, extension poultry specialist of the University.

Both men and women poultry fanciers are taking part in various county meeting and among them is Mrs. H. M. Baker, champion turkey producer of Maryland, who is co-operating to the extent of staging demonstrations on her poultry farm in the Quaker Neck district of this county.

L. M. Goodwin, canning crop specialist of the University, is also here in the interest of the projected "Ten-Ton Tomato Clubs," which are seeking to raise a minimum of ten tons per acre this season and thus to increase the quality as well as the quantity of the crop in Kent, which is said to be the largest tomato producing county, under normal conditions in Maryland.

The only means by which the canning industry may be saved here is believed to be by greatly increasing the yield per acre and by improving growing methods whereby a high quality product may be placed on the market.

Habit, Not Instinct, Is Mankind's Ruler

What a world there is behind that one word habit! If you would get close to human nature, forget all you ever have heard about instincts and throw away your notions about natural bents and predispositions and innate talents and "blood," because man is not that kind of animal. He is a creature of habits—a few bad ones can ruin him for life. Look into habits—find out how they start, how they are formed, how they end, how they may be broken, et cetera, and why some are good and some simply ruinous. Note especially how emotional habits eternally move us this way and that. And before you decide that this boy or that woman never was fitted for this or that role, remember that any one of a dozen bad emotional habits may make success impossible in almost any direction. These habits were made, not born—George A. Dorsey, in Cosmopolitan.

Not of Indian Origin

As to the origin of the expression "Indian summer," Mr. Albert Matthews has shown that it does not occur anywhere either in printed books or manuscripts until the year 1794, but at that time it was in use throughout the Atlantic states. The popular belief that Indian summer weather was predicted by the native Indians in conversation with the first European settlers finds no documentary corroboration and the idea that the term "Indian summer" was employed by the early settlers seems to be a myth. In general, neither this term nor anything corresponding to it is to be found in any Indian language. The term "Indian Summer" in its present usage was introduced into England from America. In 1778 Horace Walpole used the same expression, but he evidently had in mind the intense heats of the midsummer weather in India and the West Indies.
