LOCAL NOTES.....

William Moffett, of Philadelphia, has purchased of the trustees of the Hurlock estate, the Blackiston farm of 180 acres for $7,750. This farm is located near Massey and has grown some good crops.

The Vansant farm, belonging to the Hurlock estate, was sold Wednesday to T. J. Quinn, of Millington, for $5,000. It contains about 180 acres.

Tomato plants have been scarce and in great demand. As high as $4 per thousand has been paid in some places.

A calf one day old weighing 140 pounds was born near Kennedyville this week. Its mother was one of the Wisconsin cows sold by Amoss and Greer.

Kent county is not the only place where farmers meet with loss of poultry, etc. Dog loss claims were approved by the County Commissioners of Harford as follows: Mary Johnson, 1 gobbler, $10; 1 pig, $5. claim reduced to $3; Julian R. Coale, 6 Plymouth Rock chickers, $20 claim, reduced to $9.

Some ninety-five purbred Guernsey cattle ranging in age from calves to mature animals sold well at Louis Merryman's semi-annual sale Friday. The top priced cow was knocked down to Senator France for $600, and the peak reached for bulls was $1,000.

Local interest was centered principally on the J. M. Robbins herd of some thirty animals which sold for a very good average price. After the herd sire Alden Steadfast and been sold to a Virginia buyer for $435 he was later repurchased by William Robbins for $500 and went back to Harford.

From a fianncial standpoint the strawberry crop throughout the country this year is a failure. Practically all berries from here have been shipped on consignment during the week. Returns from New York and New England points quote returns from 7 to 10 cents per quart. When expenses are deducted the grower practically gets nothing for his labor. This is the fifth season in the last 30 years that strawberries have failed to bring in a good revenue, and from this standpoint we would advise our growers not to become discouraged.—Caroline Sun.

The strawberries brought to Chestertown have been specially sweet and of fine size. The Johnson variety meets with favor among housewives. Prices have been low.

Amos Goldsborough and his wife, Helen, colored, were fined $5.00 and costs Monday evening on a charge of assault. The case was the result of a fight that occurred last Friday evening at a colored dance. Goldsborough was badly cut about the body when his wife wielded a knife with unerring aim. Both were lodged in jail after the fracas.

Charlie Matthews, employed by W. Frank Jarrell, met with an accident Saturday Morning while walking on the road toward the Wickes-Jarrell farm. He was struck by an automobile and received a cut head, bruised arm and severely shaken up. He was brought to Mr. Jarrell's home on the Avenue where every attention was shown him by Mr. and Mrs. Jarrell. Later he was removed to his home up-town and a colored man detailed to nurse him. Dr. H. G. Simpers attended the injuries and at this writing he is mending slowly. Charlie has but one limb and is partially deaf. He is a faithful servant and industrious and his accident is to be regretted.

The Chestertown Choral Club, organized in April under the direction of Mrs. Wheeler, will close its season for the summer with a musicale at William Smith Hall, Washington College, on Friday, June 22, 1928, at 8.15 p. m. Farmers in Broad Neck are being bothered a great deal by the ravages of a fox. Morgan Brown has had over 30 ducks carried away and the flocks of Mrs. Violet Emory have also been hit as have those of Thomas W. Trew.

Mrs. Evelyn Tobey, of Quaker Neck, has been called to New York on account of the condition of her sister who met with an automobile accident.
