An Amazing Public Tribute!

- two thousand carloads of General Electric Refrigerators delivered to users since April first

The General Electric Refrigerator has now been on the market just one year. From the day it was first announced, it was accepted by the public with truly amazing enthusiasm.

Since April first, more than 2000 carloads have been delivered to American homes. This is a gratifying tribute to the General Electric Refrigerator—a true achievement in electrical engineering. It is the worthy product of the Research Laboratories of the world's largest electrical manufacturer.

Nine factories working at top speed

The tremendous demand for these "years ahead" refrigerators has made it necessary to increase production again and again—just as rapidly as is consistent with General Electric standards of quality. Now nine factories are working at top speed to take care of the increasing volume of business.

Just as soon as each refrigerator has passed its many rigid tests, it is shipped to a waiting customer. We are assured by the factories that all orders now on file will be filled within the next few weeks

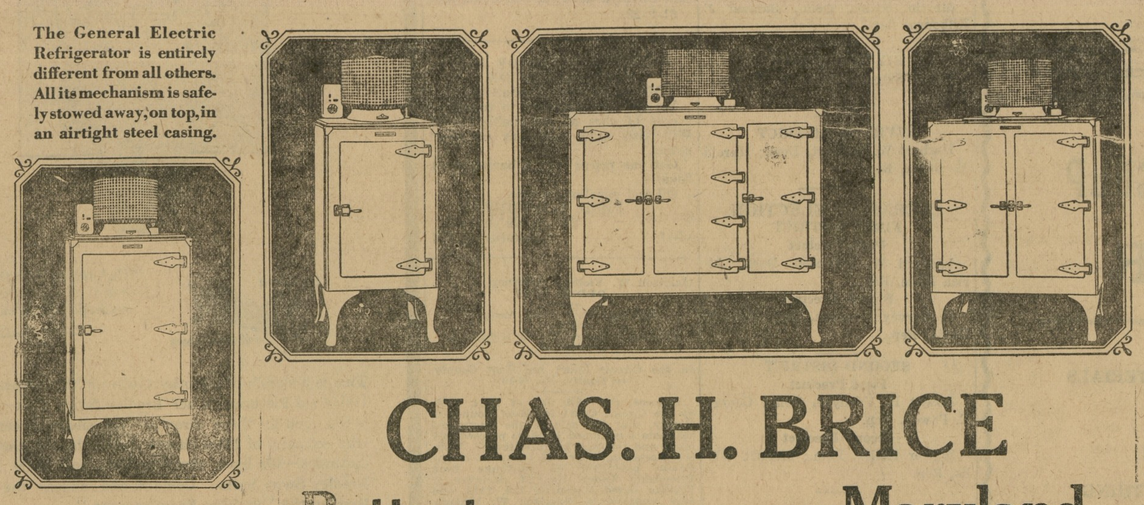

We suggest that you place your order now

If you are planning to purchase a refrigerator this summer, we strongly advise you to come in at once and place your order. Then you will be sure of having your refrigerator just as soon as you are ready for it.

The first 100,000 discriminating American women to choose this revolutionary refrigerator have been its best advertisers. They have pronounced it unusually quiet, economical in operation, easy to keep clean and worry-proof. It is their verdict which, in a large measure, is responsible for this hearty nation-wide acceptance!

GENERAL ELECTRIC
Refrigerator

The General Electric Refrigerator is entirely different from all others. All its mechanism is safely stowed away, on top, in an airtight steel casing.

These refrigerators are unusually quiet, automatic, and they never need oiling. They are made and guaranteed by General Electric.

HOOVER WAS A FORMER DEMOCRAT IT IS SAID

"If the Republican party is satisfied with Herbert Hoover as its candate for the Presidency, certainly Democrats have no reason to complain," was the comment from Democratic National Congressional Committee headquarters through the Chairman, Representative Wm. A. Oldfield.

"But Mr. Hoover's nomination must be a bitter pill for old-line Republicans like Senator Curtis, of Kansas, Watson, of Indiana, Lowden, of Illinois, Butler, of Massachusetts, Hilles, and Wadsworth, New York, and others who, like them, have been fighting the party's battles for a quarter-century or more," Mr. Oldfield went on. "From early manhood until 1917, Mr. Hoover lived abroad. From 1917 until 1920, he was regarded as a Democrat.

In 1920, he styled himself as an Independent. His conversion to Republicanism was rapidly being accomplished. In 1920, he became a Republican, and during the few years of his Republicanism, he has always been an office-holder.

Certainly, in Mr. Hoover's case, turning Republican has been profitable. I know of no man in our history who has so quickly harvested such big dividends from his partisanship. But it must be a bitter dose for regular Republicans, who have borne their party banner all their lives, to have an eleventh-hour convert come in and waltz off with the prize cherry. However, if that is all right with the Republicans, it certainly is with me.

"But there is more at stake than the personality of the individual who is to become President. From the day he became a candidate, Mr. Hoover has not taken a positive stand on any public question, except we know that in the background he has opposed equality for the farmer.

It is the general opinion that he more than any other individual has been responsible for defeating the effort to give agriculture a square deal and the farmer a chance to get back on his feet and earn a living. On the Mississippi river flood control problem, Mr. Hoover accomplished a straddle as wide as the Mississippi at its mouth.

On prohibition, his dodge was so successful that he has been applauded by both wets and dzys.

On corruption in elections and in public office, he has been as silent as an Egyptian sphinx.

"Nevertheless, he must be satisfactory to the election crooks. It is significant that when the Republican nomination was hanging in the balance, it was the Pennsylvania boss, Senator-reject Vare, who lined up the Pennsylvania delegation and gave Mr. Hoover the boost that put him over.

"It will not be forgotten that Mr. Hoover became a Republican and entered upon his official career as a member of the Harding Cabinet in an administration that disgraced America.

He was the associate of Albert Fall, of Harry Daugherty, of Will Hays and Edwin Denby. He sat around the Cabinet table with them at the very time Fall was bartering away the Naval oil reserves in the worst scandal in the Nation's life and at the very time Harry Daugherty was making the Department of Justice a rendezvous for crooks and traitors.

LIFE SAVING MEDAL AWARDED IN KENT

C. R. Crew, a resident of Betterton, who is employed at the Edgewood Arsenal, was the recipient of a Congressional life-saving medal on Thursday at a ceremony held especially in his honor at the arsenal. The medal was given in recognition of the bravery of Crew in saving the life of Major Thomas Monroe, U. S. A., stationed at the arsenal, Major Monroe was returning from a gunning trip when the boat in which he was sailing upset, throwing the officer into the icy water of the Little Gunpowder river. The shouts of the officer for help attracted the attention of Mr. Crew, who was ashore, and hastily launching a boat rowed to where the gallant officer was fighting to keep his head above water. He was pulled aboard and taken ashore. The presentation of the medal took place in front of the arsenal headquarters in the presence of all officers connected with the arsenal by order of Lieutenant Commander Walter C. Baker, commander of the post.
