MORE DOING AND LESS TALK

What this world needs is more doers and less talkers.

The man we fell most grateful toward and regard most kindly is the one who does us a generous act and never says anything about it. We must find it out by accident, and our hearts warm to him.

The man who is always saying, I am going to do this and that for you but does not do it, is a flunky. He wants the praise for generosity, but does not deliver the goods.

So, the man who most truly reforms is the man who quits doing wrong, not the man who makes great promises. Most drunkards and most leaders of disorderly lives elsewise are great promisers. They will tell you, while in their cups, that they are never going to drink another drop.

But the kind of reform today that we believe in is that of the man who quits doing wrong and makes no boast about it except to show his regret.

It is human to err and to make mistakes. But when we have done so the most righteous thing we can do is to quit, not to pray and not to promise, nor to resolve.

The first thing needed in a wrong doing.

We are not going to turn for help to a higher power until we have ceased our wrong doing. The Bible says this of the first thing necessary: "Let the evil man forget his ways and, the unrighteous man his thoughts."

Many people in this section are visiting the farm of James Guessford, near Townsend, to see the three calves to which his cow gave birth Friday morning. This is the first time that one cow has given birth to three calves in this section. There were two males and one female. The heifer was four years old.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our dear baby, Helen Marie, who went to her heavenly home five years ago December 8, 1923,

Jesus thou Prince of life,
Thy chosen cannot die;
Like thee thou conquoring the stripe
To reign with thee on high.
O, what if we are Christ's,
Is earthly shame or loss;
Bright shall the crown of glory be,
When we have borne the cross.
Bright is her glory now,
Boundless her joy above,
Where on the bosom of her God,
She rests in perfect love.

WINS HIGHEST SHOW HONOR

A boy who would rather sleep in a barn with his prize cattle than stay in a "stuffy city hotel" combined the straw out of his hair Tuesday and walked into the auction ring of the International Livestock Exposition to collect nearly $5,000 for his grand champion steer's carcass at $6.75 per pound in chicago.

He is Keith Collins, Marshall county, Iowa, who sold his prize steer, Benny, for $4,873.50. Benny won not only the grand champion for the best carcass beef on the hoof but also the grand prize for the best carcass dressed.

Keith later sold two companion steers to the champion, one of them netting $20 per hundred and the other $18.

Clarence Goecke, 12, Marshall county, Iowa, whose yearling steer won the grand championship, sold its two companion steers, one netting $19.50 and the other $18.25. They were half-brothers of the champion which he sold for $700 per hundred. The sales were among the last important events on the stock-show program.

The grand championwether brought $2 per pound at the auctions. It was owned by the University of Kentucky.

Walter Templeton, Evansville, Wis., owner of the wether which won the junior feeding contest, sold his champion for 20 cents per pound. Gerald V. Hitchings, McCoysburg, Ind., won the swine championship in the junior feeding event. He was given 11 cents per pound for the champion and 9¾ cents for his champion pen.

Laurels in breeding swine went to the Wilt Farms of Indianapolis, which won both the grand championship—boar and sow—in the spotted Poland China class, and the Fox Chemical Company, of Des Moines, won the same honors for tamworths.

Kent county can sympathize with the people of our neighboring State. Approximately $500,000 worth of Virginia's old Colonial boxwood and antique furnishings and paneling from old historic Virginia estates has been carried out of Virginia during the last year. Several persons making a business of buying all the boxwood they can get in Virginia for prominent Eastern millionaires.

A gruop of Chestertown children gathered up a large box of discarded toys, and sent them to Wilmington, where the firemen are repairing them for distribution to poor kiddies of that city Christmas eve. It is the second year the children have sent such a box to the same city. Some of the toys they have sent this year will need no repairing. The children are Margaret Ann Dukes, Gene Cooper, Jeanne Pippin, Eleanor Russell and Grace Derrick, all enjoying their first year in school.

TWO GAMES

Mrs. Fannie P. Comegys has sold her farm located on the Noxentown mill road, two miles southeast of Middletown, to Allen Henry, of Wilmington. This farm borders on both Noxentown and Silver Lake ponds, famous for bass and other fishing. It consists of 350 acres. It is reported that Mrs. Comegys received $150 an acre for the land.

Mrs. Evelyn Harris took a prominent part in the proceedings last week of the New Jersey Horticultural Society. She read a paper on methods pursued in caring for the orchard of 40,000 pear trees near Betterton.

JUDGE HASTINGS SENATOR

Judge Daniel O. Hastings, former Secretary of State and former judge of the State Supreme Court in Delaware, who also has filled many other important public offices of city and State, on Monday was appointed U. S. Senator by Governor Robinson to succeed Senator T. Coleman duPont, who resigned last Wednesday because of his health. He will serve until election day, November, 1930.

With nineteen premiums distributed to growers of purebred seed corn in ten counties and nine premiums on soybeans, grown in two counties, Maryland exhibitors at the International Grain and Hay Show at Chicago the first week in December fared well. Maryland corn growers made their best showing in the single ear class. Henry Rigdon, of Harford county, winning second premium in this class; Tobias Zimmerman, of Frederick county, fourth. In the ten-ear white corn class, awards were made to Fred Jones, Harford county, fourteenth; John Naylor, Kent county, twenty-second.
