MARYLANDERS LIVE LONG

That Marylanders have a good chance to round out and exceed the scriptural allotment of 3 score years and ten is indicated by the records of the Bureau of Vital Statistics of the State Department of Health, which show that over half of the deaths in the counties in 1928, occurred in the two most widely separated age groups—the oldest and the youngest citizens. Of the total of 9,777 deaths reported in the counties (Baltimore City deaths are not included in this total) 5,026 occurred in these two age groups. Of the 5,026 there were 3,789 among adults of 65 years and older, and 1,237 among babies under a year old. Half of the youngest citizens, 619, occurred among babies less than a month old.

The 3,789 deaths among persons 65 years old or older, constituted the largest number in any age group. Over one-fifth, 2,182, occurred in the group from 45 to 64 years old; the next largest number, 1,873, being recorded in the group from 15 to 44 years old. The smallest number of deaths in any age group was 308 among the girls and boys from 5 to 14 years old.

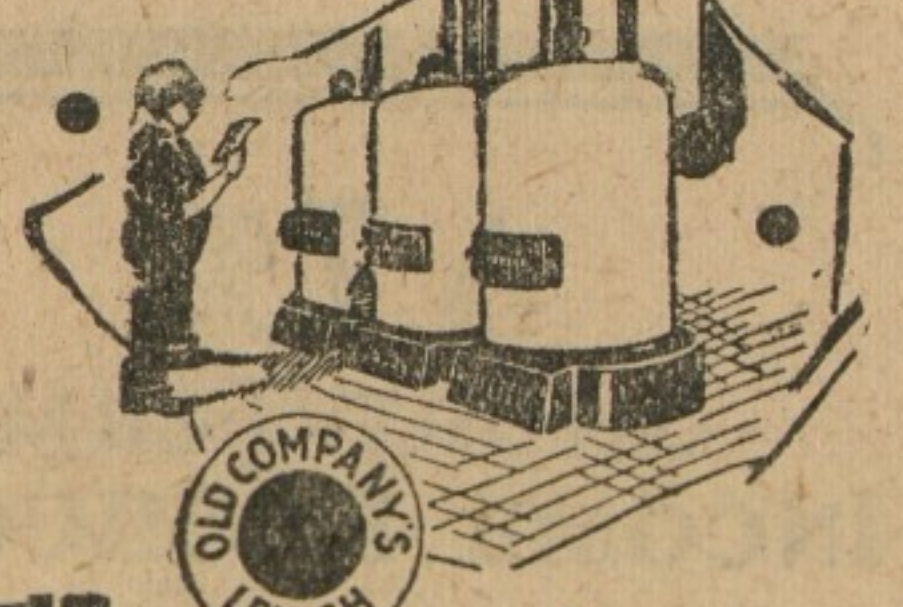

Analyzing the totals, Dr. John Collinson, Chief of the Bureau of Vital Statistics said that of the total, 9,777 deaths, 7,412 occurred in the white population and 2,356 in the colored. The death rate in each group—that is the proportion of deaths to each thousand of the population—was 12 per thousand for white and colored together; 11 per thousand for the white population separately, and 20 for the colored population.

"Heart Disease," Dr. Collinson continued, "with 1,699 deaths, 1,026 of which occurred in the group of persons 65 years old and older, was the leading cause of death in both white and colored populations. There were 1,365 deaths in the white population at all ages from that cause, and 333 in the colored. Chronic Bright's disease, with 1,095 deaths, 857 white and 238 colored had second place; apoplexy with 821 deaths, 686 white and 238 colored was third; tuberculosis with 797 deaths, 495 white and 301 colored was fourth; the pneumonias, Broncho and lobar, with a total of 719 deaths, 515 white and 204 colored, came next, and cancer with 701 deaths, 613 white and 88 colored had sixth place.

"There were 289 deaths from diarrhea and enteritis among children under two years old; a total of 143 at all ages from diabetes; 153 from influenza; 52 from typhoid fever; 15 from infantile paralysis, and 168 lost their lives in automobile accidents. June with 684 deaths had the smallest number reported in any one month, and March with 969 deaths, the largest number."

Caravan Transportation
Caravan (karwan) is a Persian word denoting a body of traders traveling together for greater security and for mutual assistance. Camels, harnessed in strings of fifty or more at a time are generally employed for the transport of heavy goods.

Banana Plant Oddity
The first paradox about the banana is that it is a tree, by virtue of its size and height, without a true trunk says the Nature Magazine. The tallest banana plants measure 40 feet from the tips of the leaves to the ground. In Jamaica they attain about 25 feet, the first 15 feet of which is approximately the remarkable "pseudostem," or false trunk; the remainder the blades of the huge leaves which tower above it.
