SECONDARY ROADS IMPORTANT

Good roads pay dividends. They are a sign of progress and an aid to prosperity.

Industry is attracted to localities which can offer a high class, extensive road system. Agriculture is encouraged and farm values increase.

Road building is a leading item in the tax budget. Coupled with education, it is probable that highways are today the most important aid to social progress.

We have, in the United States, a state highway system that is unequalled. From now on the most important job is to pave tens of thousands of miles of secondary or market roads.

This is essential to open up back country, relieve congestion on main highways and encourage the building up of small towns instead of draining all the business away from them to larger centers located on improved roads.

THE AMERICAN LEGION POPPY

As has been the custom for the past few years, members of the American Legion Auxiliary will again sell poppies the week preceding Memorial Day.

These poppies which are made of paper and have the American Legion tag, should not be confused with the poppies sold by and for other organizations.

A SERIOUS CHARGE

Dear Editor: Many farm children have been forced to attend the Chestertown High School, by reason of the closing of the local High Schools.

The consequence is that many, many days, the children leaving home many times away before eight o'clock, find at noon, that some selfish, dishonest child, most times from right in Chestertown, too lazy to go home, has made the rounds of the lunches and "lifted" part or all, of the only food available for the out-of-town child.

Personally, I am disgusted with the condition. When the rats or the mice steal the food stuff here at home, I can with a clear conscience mix up a dose of strychnine with something tasty, and place it handy, for that is the only way to cope with that situation.

A COUNTRY MOTHER. I do not want to encourage stealing in the young people. What shall I do?

"YOU CAN'T BE A DAIRY-MAN WITHOUT A SILO"

Edgar R. Pennington, of Kendyville, Kent County, widely known as the owner of one of the outstanding herds in Maryland, when asked for his opinion about the silo recently, replied "you can't be a dairyman without a silo."

100,000,000 PERSONS. ATTEND MOVIES

One hundred million persons attend the movies each week, according to William Fox, president of the Fox Film Corporation and one of the leaders in the industry.

In a radio address Mr. Fox traced the development of motion pictures from their inception, and predicted that the greatest part of the industry's development was still before it.
