Rippy—They say if there's anything in a man, travel will bring it out. Dippy—You said it! I found that out my first day on the ocean.

Tillie—I'll give Reggie credit for getting me a nice engagement ring. Millie—I understand that's what the jeweler did too.

THE PEOPLES BANK TO PAY DIVIDENDS

Announcement was made last week by J. M. Swan, Receiver of the closed Peoples National Bank of Middletown that a first dividend payment in the amount of 33 1-3 per cent will be made to creditors whose claims have been approved, within a very short time, probably a week or ten days.

Dividend checks and schedules were recently completed and mailed to the office of the Comptroller of the Currency at Washington, where they will be signed and returned to the office of the Receiver for distribution. It is expected that these checks should be available within about ten days.

This payment will release in the community, considerably more than $100,000, and it is understood that in addition to this sum, liabilities of the bank by way of secured creditors, etc., have been taken up for something like $125,000. The largest check made out was for more than $6,000.

Jim—Shankweiler, I hear, is suffering with a bad case of pyorrhea. Wise—I s'pose he'll have to lose all his teeth?

Jim—Oh, no. This isn't pyorrhea of the teeth; it's pyorrhea of the stomach.

Wise— I never heard of such a thing. What causes it?

Jim—Eating too much pie, you know.

SUPERSTITIOUS SUE

SHE HAS HEARD 'HAT—

The stunt of ducking for apples in a tub of water is not only a giggle game and a fun producer, but it rates the sheik who fishes for pippens with his mouth—if he's afraid of his "stay, comb" and gives up easily, he's a wet match and will never set anything on fire, but if he is persistent and finally hooks one, it's a sign he's a "go-getter" and, in the game of love and life, he "gits."

Hard Usage Friend—This is your fourth daughter to get married, isn't it? MacTight—Ay, and our confetti's gettin' awfu' gritty!

The Cherokees The Cherokees were, the largest and most important Indian tribe originally east of the Alleghenies, perhaps the highest in culture and intellectual acuity north of Mexico.

How It Started

By JEAN NEWTON THE PRINCE OF WALES

WE ARE so accustomed to the eldest son of the sovereign of Great Britain, the heir to the English throne, being called the "Prince of Wales" that we think no more of inquiring into the circumstances of the origin of the term than we would wonder about any one of his various Christian names. Yet the title reveals into the circumstances of the origin of the term than we would wonder about any one of his various Christian names.

The title "Prince of Wales" was first conferred in 1301, by Edward I on his son Prince Edward, afterwards Edward II, who was born at Carmarvon, Wales. The history of Wales up to the reign of Edward I had been one of resistance and struggle in the refusal to recognize the sovereignty of England. Under Edward I, however, England finally conquered Wales and it was for the purpose of placating the still seething resentment of the little country that Edward I named his son "Prince of Wales."

It is a matter of history that this sufficiently satisfied the pride of the Welsh to keep them loyal to England for a hundred years. The idea of making Wales a regular appanage or endowment, now nominal, of course, of the heir apparent to the British throne originated with Edward III, who invested his son, the Black Prince, with the principality. From that time the title prince of Wales has been borne as a matter of course by the king's eldest son.

PLEASE TELL MY WIFE

By DOUGLAS MALLOCH

I WISH that you would see my wife, And tell her that I love her, A thing, these later years of life, I hope that she'd discover. 'Twas quite an easy thing to say, The way that youth would view it, But, now we both are getting gray, I just can't seem to do it.

I wish that you would write a line, Would send my wife a letter, And kindly tell this wife of mine I really love her better Than in the days of twenty-one, And thought, of course, she knew it. I think it really should be done— I wish that you would do it.

I wish you'd do that much for me; It's really very easy; Just write a line, or come to see, Adopt a manner breezy, Just say, "He loves you," just like that; There's really nothing to it, There's nothing to be frightened at— But I can't seem to do it. (© 1929, Douglas Malloch.)

noted pure food expert, long active in crusades for pure foods and sanitary factories.

Do you remember the old, filthy shop where the man in the window rolled the leaves with dirty fingers . . . and spit on the ends? What a far cry this is from the modern, certified "Cremo-method" of manufacture!

"But I emphatically state that no smoker of a certified Cremo ever runs such a risk."

"Everything put into your mouth should be clean," urges Alfred W. McCann.

"Things promiscuously handled ought not to enter the human mouth.

"Cremo—the five-cent favorite is certified!

"Every tobacco leaf entering the Cremo factory is scientifically sterilized by U. S. Government approved methods.

"Sanitary, scientifically-clean factories protect the health of the Cremo smoker.

"When you smoke a Cremo, you get a cigar which I certify as pure and germ-free."

Cremo's superiority starts with the choicest and tenderest leaves, ripe and mellow, and continues in goodness through a slow, expensive maturing and mellowing process . . . topped off with the finest imported Sumatra wrapper! Cremo contains no scrap—no floor sweepings—all long filler—all fresh, tender leaves. Over $7,000,000 was spent in perfecting the certified "Cremo-method" of manufacture that insures uniformly fine, sanitary cigars. Foil-wrapped . . . germ-free . . . crush-proof . . . the kind of cigar that the late Vice-President Marshall must have had in mind when he said: "What this country needs most is a good 5 cent cigar."
