William M. Oglesby surprised his many friends by announcing his marriage on January 11th, 1929, to Mrs. Verma Jefferson, of Baltimore. She was fortunately H. T. Hartman's secretary.

The Lewis Dill Troop of Boy Scouts from Baltimore has begun its annual encampment on Huntingfield Farm near Rock Hall, owned by Nelson Stevens, of Baltimore, and will continue until August 12 under command of Scoutmaster Ross F. Hamlin, of Baltimore. A feature of the community festival and carnival to be staged here by the local Fire Company, August 8th to 19th, will be an oil fire arranged by active firemen to demonstrate a new chemical which they hope to incorporate in their fire-fighting system. The blaze will be staged on the outskirts of the town.

A few Japanese beetles have been caught in gardens and yards of this town by trap containers placed at strategic points by agents of the Department of Agriculture. When it is ascertained, through this means, where the pest is prevalent, preventive measures will be taken to eradicate it from Kent county. The Mexican bean beetle is doing notable damage in private and commercial vegetable gardens and on farms in this vicinity, and for the first time, the pest is attacking tomatoes. Butter beans and spring beans have been devastated on many farms.

There are three "million dollar" banks in the county. All Kent institutions are gratified with the healthy financial condition of the county as seen from the total resources of the banks and Building Associations.

BOARD MAKES CORRECTION

Chestertown, Md. To Editors Kent News: Sirs:—The morning Baltimore Sun of Wednesday, July 31, carried a story about Kent County Chamber of Commerce sponsoring a movement for landscaping the greens in the center of Chestertown.

As far as my information goes, this matter has never even been discussed informally in the office of the Chamber of Commerce or of the directors and Mr. Ballard of the State University did not consult with any of the officials of the Chamber.

PAUL E. TITTSWORTH, President Kent County Chamber of Commerce.

RECREATION CENTER

The News last week noted the sale of the old elementary school property at Rock Hall for $2300 to B. Trew Durdin. It is understood that Mr. Durdin was acting for the Town Council, which will raise the building, sell the lumber and convert the grounds, located in the center of the town, into a large park and playgrounds.

A modern brick elementary school building has been erected at a cost of $25,000, which will be dedicated at the opening of the fall term in September.

Conversion of the school lot into a recreation park and playgrounds will be a decided improvement to a town which in the last five years has seen the organization of one of the best equipped fire companies in the State, the installation of a modern water system and the extension of its borders to include several growing development sections which are expected to give the town a population considerably in excess of 2,000.

The Rock Hall Progressive Association has been an important factor in the various civic projects.
