NEW PRESIDENT IS INSTALLED

Mr. and Mrs. Charles N. Satterfield on Saturday attended the installation of Dr. Gideon Ireland Humphreys as president of High Point College before an assembly of North Carolina educators and high officials of the Methodist Protestant Church, which supports the College.

The 49-year-old educator is the second president of High Point, which was founded in 1923 with Dr. R. M. Andrews as its head. Dr. Andrews resigned last spring.

Dr. Charles Lucius Clark, chancellor of American University, Washington, D. C. delivered the literary address.

Taking "flaming youth" as his subject he upheld modern youth as much maligned.

"Youth," he said, "is neither very good nor indecent, neither moral nor immoral, but more nearly unmoral."

Before coming to High Point Dr. Humphreys was pastor at Salisbury, Md., M. P. Church.

Effect of Wealth

Riches do not exhilarate us so much with their possession as they torment us with their loss.—Gregory.

Mayme—Luke declares he'll go crazy if I don't marry him.

Lucy—Ah! Then there's no hope for him either way.

Kopweh—Do you think the dead can communicate with us

Harnruhr—I know they can't. Once I managed to borrow a dollar from a Scotchman. A week later he died, and I haven't heard a word since.

Boarder—Come quick; two rats are fighting in my room.

Landlady—What dou expect for 50 cents, a bull fight

Angus—What would you do with $1,000 if I was to give it to you?

Sandy—The first thing I would do would be to count it.

"You say your engagement was broken as the result of a misunderstanding?"

"Yes," replied the girl with weepy eyes. "I told him I never wanted him to speak to me again and he thought I meant it."

SAVE YOUR EYES

Reading In Bed

The popular belief that it is not wise to read while in a reclining position is one of which is correctly founded and substantiated by science. Both the light used as well as the matter being read are thus placed in a strained and unnatural position, the head and neck are usually propped forward and the return flow of blood from the head and eyes is impeded It is easy to observe that nature intended man to use his brain (the eyes are a part of the brain) while he is in an upright position and if he attempts to read or think while lying down the brain becomes quickly muddled and overflowed with blood. This explains why so many people have acquired the habit of "reading themselves to sleep."

The use of the eyes for reading or close work requires much more muscular exertion than one is usually aware of and when a body is sufficiently fatigued so that it must retire to bed it has no energy to spare for the pleasant pastime of reading. This brings us to another point, namely, reading in bed by those who are recuperating or recovering from some illness.

Many cases of overtaxed eye muscles resulting in normal eye conditions, difficult of correction and very uncomfortable, are continally being found by optometrists among those who have passed the time, during and after an illness, in reading, little realizing that the act of reading while in a weakened condition may result in permanent injury to the eyes. Everything considered, it is better then, to avoid "Reading in Bed."

How Indians Set Fires

James Mooney gives the following regarding the shooting by Red Indians of a flaming arrow at night as a signal: "Methods of setting fire to an enemy's camp or fortified village by means of lighted combustibles attached to arrows were in general use down to a recent period, but the statement by one author that the Sioux had an elaborate system of signaling at night by means of fiery arrows requires confirmation."

How Sunburn Costs

Dr. Charles F. Pabst, noted dermatologist, makes a timely observation on the sun-tan fad, which is quoted in the Golden Book: "Every year 200,000 working days are lost because of illness due to sunburn, which represents an annual loss of $1,400,000. And usually the sunburn is deliberately acquired"

BIGGER AND BETTER

THE NEW CHEVROLET SIX HAS MANY IMPROVEMENTS

The introduction of the new Chevrolet Six marks the most impressive forward step in Chevrolet's twenty-year record of constant progress and improvement. For this Bigger and Better Six offers new beauty of line and color, new luxury, new completeness and new quality—yet it sells at lower prices!

In every curve and sweep of Chevrolet's modern lines—in every detail of its smart new Fisher bodies, you will see the fine hand of the master designer and the skillful craftsman. And the more closely you inspect it, the more deeply impressed you will be.

The improvements in the new Chevrolet Six begin at the smart new chrome-plated headlamps and extend throughout the entire car. The radiator is deeper and unusually efficient. Due to the increased wheelbase, the lines are longer and lower, giving an air of exceptional fleetness and grace. And the new Fisher bodies combine with this more attractive exterior appearance, a new degree of interior luxury.

The upholstery is of fine quality mohair or broadcloth, carefully tailored and fitted. The number of individual springs in the rear seat cushions has been increased by 25%. The windshield and windows have been redesigned to provide wider vision. And all interior fittings have been made more pleasing to the eye.

The chassis of the new Chevrolet Six has also been refined and advanced in a number of different ways. The frame is heavier, deeper and stronger than before. There is a smoother operating, long lived clutch; a sturdier front axle; an entirely new steering mechanism of the worm and sector type; an easier shifting transmission. In fact, every vital feature of the new car has been made better and more satisfactory to the owner.

Obviously, these many improvements are responsible for a higher standard of quality than before. And they become doubly significant when you consider that they are offered in a car which provides the smooth, quiet, flexible performance of a 50-horsepower, six-cylinder motor—the comfort of four long semi-elliptic springs and four hydraulic shock absorbers—the safety of a gasoline tank at the rear of the car—and an economy of operation not surpassed by any automobile.

» AT NEW LOW PRICES «

Fine as it is, the new Chevrolet Six now sells at lower prices—making the economy and satisfaction of Chevrolet ownership even more outstanding. We urge you to come in and see the Bigger and Better Chevrolet. Its modern design reflects the spirit of the times—and it represents a value which will command the interest of every buyer in the low-price field.
