DEMOCRATIC VICTORY

SENATOR S. SCOTT BECK

Is Re-elected By The Splendid Majority Of 1025—Every District Did Wonderful.

Although pressed in the counties of Maryland, Governor Ritchie on Tuesday carried Baltimore city by the largest majority ever received by any candidate running at the top of the ticket in a State-wide race, to be re-elected Chief Executive of Maryland for his forth consecutive term.

Governor Ritchie was elected by a greater majority than he received four years ago, when his majority represented a high-water mark for a Gubernatorial candidate. His majority in the city was 68,414.

Of the twenty-three counties it appeared on the basis of incomplete returns that Governor Ritchie had carried twelve. His majorities in most of the twelve were small.

It was regarded as remarkable, despite his generally poor showing in the counties, that the Governor carried the rock-ribbed Republican county of Allegany and Calvert.

The NEWS congratulates all the successful candidates.

G. O. P. Loses Strongholds

The Democratic sweep in Maryland carried into office members of that party running for office in counties with Republican majorities such as Calvert, Washington and Charles. The Democartic control of the Legislature will be gerater next January than it has ever been since Governor Ritchie has been in the State House.

In Baltimore city not a single Republican candidate was able to obtain a majority. Even in the Fourth Legislative district, normally Republican due to the large Negro vote, the Republican candidates for the State Senate and the House of Delegates went down to defeat before their Democratic opponents.

Daylight saving in Baltimore city was overwhelmingly rejected by the voters in the referendum. Although the majority of the votes in Baltimore favored a constitutional convention, the county people in large numbers voted against this proposal but it seems to have won.

GOV. ALBERT C. RITCHIE

Is Re-elected By Over 70,000 Majority—Carries Kent By 393.

Tuesday was a typical Democratic day in Kent. A North East wind brought showers that have been long wished for and no one was heard to complain. Indeed the knowledge that the rain was doing so much good overcame all thought of discomfort. To prove this is a fact, there were about 6,000 men and women who went to the polls and cast their ballots out of a total of 7378 registered vote.

Not a ripple on the serenity of the day's doings has been reported. The officials worked harmoniously together and patiently recorded the will of the voters as they came and deposited their ballots. It was an ideal day for the colored voters and they hung about the polling places by the score coming out nearly one hundred per cent.

The NEWS cangratulates the Democracy of Old Kent. With unprecedented conditions within the party the ticket headed by Senator Beck, with only two exceptions went forth to a great and glorious victory. Majorities range from 1100 for Clerk Shallcross to several hundred for Judges of Orphans' Court, showing what great extent the voters cut and slashed their tickets.

The loss of Dr. Merritt Brice by 46 and Deputy Sheriff Lee by 370 is to be regretted. Both deserved the votes of every party man and woman but were caught in an unusual situation and went down to defeat.

The winners on the Democratic ticket are high class citizens and the NEWS bespeaks for the people of Kent faithful and conscientious administration of affairs during the next four years.

The two Republicans, Dr. Frank W. Smith and John T. Vickers are also men of integrity and will have the support of everyone in their prosecution of the business assigned them.

The defeat of that splendid officer, Robert E. Lee, is laid to a division in the ranks of his closest friends. The old adage "a house divided against itself must fall" surely had a fulfillment here. It was no fault of Mr. Lee that he went down to defeat.

The news that Dr. Merritt Brice had gone down to defeat was a great shock to the Democracy of Kent. But, the ladies of Rock Hall, Fairlee and Chestertown were too much for a Millington physician and another [illegible] Wills office by a narrow margin. Dr. Brice carried his home district by 305 [illegible] speaks in leadership of his [illegible]

The voting was brisk at all polling places throughout the day. Party workers braved the cold drizzle of rain to bring out a record vote that poured in a steady stream from 7 A. M. until 7 P. M. the hours at which the polls opened and closed.

If ever there was a time when the need for voting machines was in evidence, it was in Kent election day and night. The ballots required just one minute each to record the count, and there were from 300 to over 500 ballots voted in each of the 14 precincts. The varied markings of the tickets made the counting long and tedious.

The first precinct to report, 4th Precinct N, in Chestertown, sent in its totals shortly after 2 A. M. Other reports came in slowly but it was not until around 5 A. M. that any definite conclusion could be reached. Chestertown Precinct 2 did not finish until after 7.30 and at Edesville the final report was not available until 10.30 A. M.

Piling up a majority in excess of 7,500, Congressman T. Alan Goldsborough, of Denton, was re-elected to represent the First Congressional District of Maryland. He defeated A. Stengle Marine, of Dorchester county, and carried every county on the Eastern Shore except two.

In the upheaval in Maryland and elsewhere because of business depression, the Republican party got exactly what was coming to it.

Depression and unemployment tell the story of Democratic victories. And meritorious victories they are, too. Here and there local considerations had material weight. In Maryland the general excellence of the State administration under Governor Ritchie resisted all attacks by Mr. Broening and the Republicans. They were able to show that in eleven years at the head of the government Mr. Ritchie had made certain mistakes. They were not able to prove that, department by department, there was weakness. On the contrary, the discussion they forced proved the average level of administration was notably high. Gov. Ritchie and his mates received a splendid vote.

Kent county was among the few counties on the Shore which gave Gov. Ritchie a majority. It reached nearly 4,00.

The vote in Kent on the Constitutional Convention was: For 275; Against 675.

The vote on the other Amendment was: For 326; Against 693.

The New Lyceum is showing fine pictures.

Bridge Ceremony Programme

Tuesday, Nov. 11th, 1930, at 10.30 A. M. placing of bronze tablets at each end of bridge memorial to the war dead of Kent and Queen Anne's.

Program in charge of the Frank M. Jarman Post of Chestertown, and the Jeff Davis Post, of Centreville of the American Legion.

J. Thomas Kibler, of the local post has been named as general chairman of the affair. He will be assisted by C. Lee Gill, of the Frank M. Jarman Post and J. A. Grubb, of the Jeff Davis Post.

Parade of former service men and State officials will form at the Washington College campus here at 10 A. M. Thirty minutes later the line will move south on Washington avenue to the western terminus of the bridge, Major Frank B. Hines, of this town, regimental surgeon of the First Infantry, Md. National Guard, and commander of the local medical detachment, will act as marshal Commander Edward H. Covell and Commander Rolph Townshend of the Queen Anne's and Kent post will lead their American Legion contingents and Company K of Centreville, with the local medical unit, will follow.

The American Legion Bugle and Drum Corps of Elkton will be next in line followed by a detachment of soldiers and sailors from the Naval Academy, Chairman Clinton Uhl, of the State Roads Commission and other members of that body will appear in the line of march in automobiles as will Austin F. Shure, formerly of this town and bridge engineer of the State Commission.

General Milton Reckord, adjutant general of Maryland, will have a place of honor and be the speaker on this occasion. George Henderson, State Commander, with Arthur L. Magee, State Adjutant of the American Legion, will be present. J. Thos. Kibler, former Commander of the local post and holder of the Distinguished Service Medal won in action, is general chairman of the ceremonies.

At 11 A. M. the parade will reach the bridge and one minute of silence, by special proclamation of the City Council, will be observed throughout the community in honor of the war dead of the two counties, the State and the nation. At the Queen Anne's side or eastern end of the bridge the line will halt and General Reckord will begin a dedicatory address. A white ribbon will be drawn across the bridge at that point. As the address is completed two young girls, one from each county, will cut the ribbon and the parade will pass over to the adjoining county while traffic will, for the first time, move over the span.
