KENT WINS THE BEST MAN SINGER

Kent countians were delighted with the winning of the singing prize for men at Easton Sunday afternoon.

Miss Isabel McCoy, of Rising Sun, Md., won first place in competition with seven other young women, while Vernon Corey, of near Chestertown, won first honors among the nine men contesting.

The contest was held in the New Theatre, which was crowded to capacity. The judges were unknown to both singers and audience, the only information given out being that they lived outside of Easton and one came from another State.

Senator W. Earle Withgott acted as cairman of the committee in charge, which also included Mrs. Cleveland Smith, Miss Eleanor Hughes and W. W. Spence. The local committee from Kent consisted of Mrs. W. Frank Jarrell, Mrs. D. B. Ford, Miss Cora McWhorter Green, Mrs. Leo King, Mrs. A. L. Mitchell, W. R. Hubbard, Prof. Robert Pipin.

Mrs. Florence C. Hahn gave an organ recital of twenty minutes while the contestants were drawing for the order of their appearance.

A silver offering was taken to pay the expenses of the two winners to Baltimore in October, where the contest for this district will be held.

The contestants included William B. Vane, Jr., and Joseph B. Applegarth, of Cambridge; Thos. H. Paynard and Miss Betty Shank, of Denton; Raymond Jump and Kenneth R. Shockley, of St. Michaels; Raymond B. Moffett, Mrs. Eugene W. King and Helen J. Atwater, of Chestertown; William L. Hess, Jr., of Galena; Miss Frances E. Hackett, of Federalsburg; Elizabeth W. Rawlings and Miss Elizabeth B. Sharp, of Greensboro; Miss Emily Garey and William E. Lednum, of Easton; Miss Isabel McCoy, Rising Sun, and Vernon Corey, Chestertown.

The Kent winner is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Edw. A. Corey and won the applause of the large audience. He will enter the audition for State in Baltimore next month as will also Miss McCoy.

RARE PRAYING MANTIS FOUND AT ROCK HALL

Mrs. Walter O. Selby, of Rock Hall, brought to the KENT NEWS office on Tuesday last a perfect specimen of rare insect known as the "Praying Mantis." She found it on the screen door of her home in Rock Hall. She kept it for 24 hours and it seemed so "friendly and well behaved" that instead of having it placed in alcohol she let it go free.

The Mantis is seldom found in America as it is an Oriental insect. It was probably brought here from some foreign ship. The name is given the insect because it assumes attitude of a priestess delivering oracles while stalking its prey. It is said that this is the only insect that can look over its shoulder as its head is on a pivot and in many instances it hypnotizes its prey, with its horrible peacock colored eyes, which are half as large as its head. It is about three and ahalf inches long.

SCHOOLS ARE OPEN

The biggest event in the community life of Kent county is the reopening of the public schools and Washington College. We take this opportunity to refer to some important matters.

The best educational results usually cost a good deal of money. The competition for capable teachers is very sharp. As soon as a city or town develops one who can really inspire young people, the superintendents come after such a one, offering higher pay in some wealthier place. It costs money to keep such teachers and provide them with up-to-date equipment. Yet excellent educational results are often obtained without large expenditures. Teachers sometimes remain in a community for low pay because they like the place and have enjoyed life there. And a competent teacher will accomplish more in a very ordinary or meagerly equipped school building, than an incompetent one will do in the finest structure any city or town can put up. Very much depends upon the attitude of the parents. If they adopt an attitude of critism toward the schools, the pupils become restless and rebellious and will not cooperate with their teachers. If the parents encourage their children to resist discipline, they can break down the morale of a school. But if the parents insist that their children conform to the rules of the school and follow the good counsels of their teachers. If they try to arouse their ambition and show them the advantages of the knowledge they are seeking, they help create a school of willing and industrious young folks. It is easy to make educational progress in a town where the parents are cooperating well with the schools.

This fact applies to churches also and the strongest ones are those which foster this spirit of co-operation.

MEMORIAL PLANS ON SPAN

As a result of a recent meeting and dinner at the Hotel Rigby in Betterton, of representatives of American Legion posts in Cecil, Kent and Queen Anne's counties, Jesse D. Maxwell past commander of Frank M. Jarman Post at Chestertown and recently elected State official, went to Baltimore Monday to confer with the State Roads Commission and Chief Engineer Harry D. Williar, looking to the erection of memorial tablets at each end of the new concrete State bridge over the Chester river, now under construction, in honor of the war dead of the two counties.

Commander Townshend of the Chestertown post, Commander Curry of the Cecil post and Commander Cobell, of the Centreville post led their respective delegations there when the entire situation was discussed. The dinner was held Sunday night. Members of the women's auxiliary of the Cecil post also were present. The principal speaker was Wallace Williams, of Elkton, past commander of the State post.

If the roads commission gives its approval of the plan, a formal dedicatory ceremony will be held here on Armistice Day when the new concrete bridge will be opened and the tablets unveiled. Invitations will be extended to all the posts in Maryland and in addition to the three local posts it is believed Cumberland Hagerstown, Havre de Grace and Belair will be represented together with some other posts not yet communicated with.

The tablets would contain names of all war dead of the two neighboring counties and would be unveiled by residents of the two communities on each side of the Chester river.

MUSIC AT THE COLLEGE

The Kent County Musical Society held its first Fall meeting Tuesday evening at Washington College, with Dr. Esther Dole presiding. Plans for the fourth year were submitted to the society by the Executive Board, which were adopted. Mrs. Cleveland S. Smith, of Easton, Md., was elected Directress. Washington College has agreed to cooperate in a financial way and will give credit for choral work to college students. The first rehearsal will be held on Tuesday September 30, at 7.30 P. M. Regular rehearsals will be held from 7.30 to 9.30 each Tuesday evening. Applications for membership may be made to the committee comprised of W. R Hubbard, Mrs. W. Frank Jarrell and Robert D. Moore.

DR. HOWARD A. KELLY TO SPEAK

A community mass meeting, under the direction of the Lord's Day Alliance of Maryland, will be held next Sunday, September 21st, at 2.30 P. M., in the M. E. Church, Chestertown.

Dr. Howard A. Kelly, one of America's greatest surgeons and scientists will be the principal speaker. The public is urged to hear Dr. Kelly.

BIG CLASS AT COLLEGE

Freshman Week Program On In Full Swing

More than seventy new students had registered in the Freshman Class at Washington College for the 1930-31 term this week with the prospects of several more being added to the total before classes convene next week.

The students who had registered were busy participating in the Freshman Week program which began Tuesday afternoon and will conclude on Sunday when Dr. Robert L. Kelly, former President of Earlham College, will speak before the assembled student body. Dr. Kelly's address will also mark the opening of the college vesper services for the year.

Washington College has just received from Mrs. M. C. Ringgold, of Salisbury, a sister of Judge James Alfred Pearce, a flute over one hundred years old which was daily played on by the Honorable James Alfred Pearce, Sr., U. S. Senator from Maryland at the time of the Civil War.

The instrument, a beautiful one, will be carefully preserved in the college museum.

Washington College library has just received Dr. Frederick G. Livingood's new book, Eighteenth Century Reformed Church Schools, which has just been published by the Pennsylvania German Society.

It is a notable volume of 297 pages, well-bound and beautifully printed. It contains many half-tone engravings and the printed page is made appealing to the eye by reason of a variety of delightful and quaint wood cuts.

The book is the entertainingly told story of the efforts of one section of the eighteenth century German population of Pennsylvania, that belonging to the Reformed Church, to maintain something of its old-world literary world under the pioneering conditions it confronted in its new world home.

Dr. Livingood has produced a very scholarly book and, at the same time, a very human document.

GRIDIRON CANDIDATES

Thirty gridiron candidates answered the call of Head Coach J. Thomas Kibler at Washington College this week and under a broiling sun yearlings were given two light workouts on Monday, two more the following day and the total will be increased by two each day until scholastic work puts a stop to the morning training periods.

Phospects in the opinion of Kibler and Gus Crothers, assistant coach who took up his new duties this week, appear better than in the past several years. A nucleus of veterans and a sprinkling of newcomers may give the Maroon and Black a well-rounded combination and a football team may be developed that may earn victories out of the schedule of games announced this week by Graduate-manager Fred Dumschott. Led by Captain Joe Phillips, Washington boasts twelve old-timers who are candidates for berths on the team. Expeerienced players include, besides Phillips, who plays tackle, Sherkey, center; Robinson, Dean, Badart and Usilton, backs; Hope, Bringhurst and Freeny, guards; Duyer, tackle, and Stevens and Plummer, ends. Several members of last year's squad who saw service in one or two games are reporting as follows: Carey, Gainer, Harris, Dickerson and Tomlinson.

Among likely looking prospects from the freshman class are Dobkins and Monaghan, backs from Crosby High School, Waterbury, Conn., and Rineheld, also a back from McDonough School, Baltimore. These lads are believed to be fine material for Kibler to work into shape as real players. Crothers, former University of Maryland athletic star, is working up a forward wall to oppose his Alma Mater when the opener is played at College Park, September 27. Crothers is a good line coach and will have plenty of opportunity to show his stuff this season with new material. The schedule:

Sept. 27—U. of Md.	Away
Oct. 4—Marines	Away
Oct. 11—Loyola	Away
Oct. 18—Swarthwore	Away
Oct. 25—St. John's	Away
Nov. 1—Drexel	Home
Nov. 8—Lebanon Valley	Away
Nov. 15—Susquehanna	Home
Nov. 27—Mt. St. Mary's	Away

A special meeting of the P-T-A will be held in Chestertown Elementary School next Tuesday afternoon at 3.15.

"THE ROGUE SONG"
ELAGORATE FILM
Many Unusual Details In Lawrence Tibbett's Talking Debut.

Things that go into a big talking picture include many that the public never dreams of. For instance, when audiences see Lawrence Tibbett in "The Rogue Song," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's all-color spectacle with song when it shows at the New Lyceum Theatre on Monday and Tuesday, September 22 and 23, all they will see is an interesting drama, in which the great opera star sings enthralling songs while he appears in a series of adventures.

The audience will see a hundred beautiful girls in Albertina Rasch's ballet in colors; it will hear symphony orchestra music as a background for the baritone's glorious voice.

But behind all this are many things an audience doesn't dream of.

The new picture is a story of Russia, filmed entirely in color. Tibbitt plays a swashbuckling bandit chief who sings as he faces death, and his love affair with Catherine Dale Owen, playing the Russian princess, is the dramatic motivation. The cast includes Wallace Macdonald, Nance O'Neil, Lionel Belmore, Judith Voselli, James Bradbury, Jr., and a large group of extras. Laurel and Hardy, Roach comedy team, were borrowed for the comedy relief.

Special songs by Herbert Stothert and Clifford Grey, with interpolations by Franz Lehar, are featured. The picture is Barrymore's first production since "His Glorious Night" in which he directed John Gilbert.

The public are invited to attend the vesper service at Washington College Sunday afternoon. The speaker is to be Dr. Robert L. Kelly, of Earlham College. The hour has been named 4 P. M. so as not to interfere with the Lord's Day Alliance meeting held in the M. E. Church at 2.30 P. M.

Downie's Show was here Thursday and showed to about 1,900 in the afternoon and 3,000 at night. It was a long show with 84 trucks and gave one of the best programs ever seen here. They went to Centreville yesterday.

GOV. RITCHIE THE NOMINEE

It was a real harmony meeting—the Democratic State Convention in Baltimore Thursday.

The Democrats of Maryland ratified the nomination of their Statewide candidates and promulgated the platform on which this year's fight will be made.

Not a single plank proposed by the caucus of Democratic leaders was changed by the resolutions committee nor was objection made to any feature of the program. Although the cheering and noise so usual to political conventions was lacking, every mention of Governor Ritchie's name brought prolonged applause.

When the Governor in a short speech, accepting the nomination, told the delegates that "you and I have been together in a number of fights and we haven't lost one yet and, what is more, we aren't going to lose this one," the convention responded with shouts of "you said it" and the waving of hats and handkerchiefs.

The keynote was one of the optimism for the outcome this fall. Senator Millard E. Tydings, chairman of the convention, opened the session by declaring the Democrats would win everywhere this year because the Republican Administration at Washington had been a failure.

GOV. ALBERT C. RITCHIE

W. Mason Sheehan and John H. C. Legge, Eastern Shore Democrats, both declared that section of the State would give the Governor a better majority this year than in 1926. Mr. Sheehan was applauded loudly when he said that "the Eastern Shore has been aroused as never before to the necessity for reelecting Albert Ritchie Governor."

State Officers Nominated

The convention also formally nominated Thomas H. Robinson for Attorney-General, William S. Gordy for State Comptroller and James A. Young for Clerk of the Court of Appeals. Mr. Gordy was nominated by Frederick W. C. Webb, of Salisbury, who suggested him for Governor "when Governor Ritchie is called to assume a higher office in Washington."

Thomas S. Cadwalader, of Belair, nominated Mr. Robinson, and Fuller Barnard, Jr., defeated for the Democratic Congressional nomination in Western Maryland in the primary, named Mr. Young.

In addition to nominating these candidates the convention adopted a resolution designating J. Enos Ray, chairman, and Miss Lillian Forwood, vice chairman, of the Democratic State Central Committee for the next four years. Mr. Ray also was given authority to organize committees and prepare for the conduct of the Statewide campaign.

Some dissatisfaction was expressed before the meeting by some Eastern Shore Democrats with the Chesapeake Bay bridge plank, which, they held, did not specifically promise that the span will be built.

The convention leaders pointed out that until the Governor's bridge committee reported it would be improper for the party to pledge itself to any particular plan for the construction of the bridge. Those seeking a change in the plank did not press their viewpoint.

S. A. Riley brought to the NEWS office a sample of his soy bean crop and it gives promise of a fine yield. The sample had 300 pods with about 4 beans to a pod. Mr. Riley has been offered $3.50 per bushel for the seed

There is keen competition between the Independent Grocers of Chestertown and the chain stores. As an illustration, the chain stores advertised ten pounds of sugar for 49 cents and the Independent Grocers went one cent better and sold 10 pounds for 48 cents.
