New Ford Truck With Closed Cab

NEW Ford Model AA trucks and Model A light delivery cars were announced this week by the Ford Motor Company and are on display in the show rooms of Ford dealers.

Changes in the trucks are principally in the front end, which has been completely redesigned, and in the cab. The radiator is higher with more cooling surface, fenders are wide and flowing, and a black cowl strip adds a note of distinction.

The new Model AA trucks with the four-speed transmission introduced several months ago may be had with enclosed or open cab. The enclosed cab, shown above, is all steel, it is low in appearance yet with ample head room. The open cab is of black rubber top material and is easily removed. Both cabs are equipped with windshields of Triplex shatterproof glass and vacuum type windshield wipers.

Model AA trucks may be had with a platform body, which can be equipped with stakes or a panel body. The chassis has many improvements, including the four-speed transmission, larger front brakes, stronger springs, power take-off opening and optional dual rear wheels.

The Model A line of new commercial cars comprises a light delivery truck with pick-up body, a deluxe delivery truck, a small panel truck and a station wagon. These cars have the smaller wheels and larger tires of the new Ford passenger cars.

Desire for Beauty Met in Decoration of Wood

From remotest ages man has expressed in wood carving his yearning for beauty, writes Tom Gill in American Forests.

Man numbers among his earliest instincts an impelling desire for beauty —a groping toward the creation and possession of beautiful things, Mr. Gill says. Two materials man found ready at his hand in which to fashion and perpetuate his instinct—clay and wood—the woods of the world with their varying textures and colors.

"But clay, even with its abundance and ease of molding, came to serve little more than utilitarian ends among the early peoples," Mr. Gill writes. "It did not lend itself to the creation of beauty. It was not durable. So it is in wood that we find here and there the first scattered remnants of man's artistic beginnings.

"From the remotest ages the decoration of wood has been a foremost art. For the tendency of the human race is to ornament every article of use, the American Indian his pipe, the Polynesian his paddle. A primitive art then thus became imposed upon a medium that lay abundantly at hand —a material that has always been a friendly and quite familiar thing."

"Jed" Smith Stands High in Ranks of Pioneers

When the roll is called up yonder Jedediah S. Smith, pioneer explorer of the Oregon country, will be on hand, writes Fred Lockley in the Portland (Ore.) Journal. With his inseparable companions—his rifle and his Bible—he traveled for years over the West.

With five companions he went in the fall of 1924 to Ross' headquarters on Salmon river in what is now Custer county, Idaho. As it was late in the season he decided to go with Ross to the Hudson Bay company's post in what is now Sanders county, Montana. They crossed the Bitter Root mountains on November 1, passing through Ross' Hole and reached Flathead post toward the end of November.

Smith was the first American to cross the Continental divide north and west of the three forks of the Missouri since the days of Lewis and Clark. He was the first American to explore the Columbia river drainage in the upper Salmon river district since Andrew Henry had been here in 1810.

Newspaper "Stock"

There are four commercial processes of making paper pulp from wood. They are known as the groundwood, the sulphite, the sulphate, and the soda processes. Each is especially adapted to the manufacture of certain grades of paper or to the pulping of certain woods. News, cheap magazine and cheap catalogue papers are made mostly of groundwood—that is, of uncooked wood mechanically ground into a pulp. The groundwood process is the cheapest of all the pulping processes, and the pulp yield is by far the greatest. The quality of the pulp, however, is so low that even in cheap papers it is not strong enough to use alone, and considerable quantities of longer and stronger fibered pulp must be added.

Weather Forecasts

The weather bureau says that within two hours after the morning observations have been taken, forecasts are telegraphed from the forecast centers to about 1,600 principal distributing towns, whence they are further disseminated by telegraph, telephone, radiograph, radiophone and mail. The forecasts are delivered early in the day, generally none later than 6 p. m. on the day of issue, and are available to more than 5,500,000 telephone subscribers within an hour of issue. This system of forecast distribution is wholly under the supervision and mainly at the expense of the government. The weather map is mailed immediately after the morning forecast is telegraphed.

Tyler's Old Well Sweep

An old well sweep which once belonged to the family of President Tyler of Virginia is now in the possession of the National Woman's Country club.

The sweep is in perfect running order, though it has seen about two hundred years of service. Its donor is anonymous. The club also possesses a clock of unusual type which stood in the living quarters of the White House during the Tyler regime.

When Washington Sought Mount Vernon Steward

Excerpts from a letter from George Washington to Samuel Frauncis follows: "As no other person can judge better of the qualifications necessary to constitute a good housekeeper, or household steward, than yourself, for a family which has a good deal of company, and wishes to entertain them in plain, but genteel style, I take the liberty of asking you, if there is any such one within your reach whom you think could be induced to come to me on reasonable wages. I would rather have a man than a woman, but either will do, if they can be recommended for their honesty, sobriety and knowledge of their profession; which, in one word, is to relieve Mrs. Washington from the drudgery of ordering, and seeing the table properly covered, and things economically used. Nothing more, therefore, needs be said, to inform you of a character that would suit me, than what is already mentioned. The wages I now give to a man, who is about to leave me in order to get married (under which circumstances he would not suit me), is about $100 per annum, but if one who understands the business perfectly, and stands fair in all other respects, I would go as far as $125." Washington's diary indicates that he found it necessary to pay Richard Burnet £40 a year as steward. This was about $200.

Foresight Not One of Daniel Webster's Gifts

When the bill carrying an appropriation for $50,000 to establish mail service to the Pacific coast came up in congress for consideration after the American conquest, its most violent opponent was Daniel Webster, senator from Massachusetts. In his speech of opposition, Mr. Webster said:

"What do we want of this vast worthless area, this region of savages and wild beasts, of deserts of shifting sands and whirlwinds of dust, cactus and prairie dogs? To what use could we ever hope to put these deserts or these endless mountain ranges, impenetrable and covered to their bases with eternal snow? What can we ever hope to do with the western coast of 3,000 miles, rock-bound, cheerless and uninviting, with not a harbor in it? Mr. President, I will never vote one cent from the public treasury to place the Pacific coast one inch nearer Boston than it is today."

In 1848, during the administration of President Polk, Postmaster General Cave Johnson recommended the establishment of a post office in San Francisco, which was authorized November 9, 1848.—Kansas City Times.

Men of Wisdom Seldom Perfect "Health Risks"

History tells us of few really distinguished men who were completely healthy: the biography of the high-toned is always largely concerned with aches and malaises.

In the great days of the Greeks only the athletes were good insurance risks —and of the athletes, then as now, we hear nothing save that they were athletes. There must have been thousands of them, first and last, but not one of them, as he grew older, ever amounted to anything.

No doubt the average hero of the games spent his last days keeping a wine shop or serving as night watchman at the academy. Meanwhile, the philosophers pored over the works of Hippocrates and were steady customers of all the quacks who swarmed in from the East.—American Mercury.

Venice Built on Mud

Venice is at the head of the Adriatic sea, between the mountains and the sea. The whole of the plain has been formed by the debris swept down from the Alps by rivers. In the process of time some of these banks, as in the case of Venice, raised themselves above the level of the water and became the true shore line, while beyond them lay large lagoons, formed undoubtedly by fresh water brought down by the rivers and partly by the salt water tide which found its way in at the channels of the river mouths. On a group of these mud banks, about the middle of the lagoon, stands the city of Venice. The soil is an oozy mud, which can only be made capable of sustaining buildings by the artificial means of pile-driving.

CHAPTER 133

15. The General Assembly may continue its session so long as in its judgment the public interest may require, for a period not longer than ninety days; and each member thereof shall receive a compensation of fifteen dollars per diem for every day he shall attend the session, but not for such days as he may be absent, unless absent on account of sickness or by leave of the House of which he is a member; and he shall also receive such mileage as may be allowed by law, not exceeding twenty cents per mile; and the presiding officer of each House shall receive an additional compensation of ten dollars per day. When the General Assembly shall be convened by Proclamation of the Governor, the session shall not continue longer than thirty days, and in such case the compensation shall be the same as herein prescribed.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

vs.
Howard Price, Leonard Price, Sarah C. Hearn, Robert Townsend, Frank Townsend, Hazel Townsend Huggins.

In the Circuit Court for Kent County, In Equity, No. 2626.

The object of the Bill filed in the above entitled cause is to procree a Decree of the Circuit Court for Kent County, assuming jurisdiction of the Trust created under the Will of Elizabeth Theresa Clements, late of Kent County, Maryland, deceased, and also for the sale of the real estate mentioned in said Will.

The Bill states:

1. That the said Elizabeth Theresa Clements, late of Kent County, departed this life on or about the 22nd day of February, 1911, leaving a last Will and Testament which was duly admitted to probate by the Orphans' Court of said County, certified copy of which is attached hereto and made a part hereof and marked "Complainants' Exhibit No. 1."

2. That under said Will the said Hope H. Barroll was named the Executor therein with authority to pay the income arising from said Estate to Thomas S. Clements and Margaret Clements the husband and daughter of the said decedent during their lives, and upon the death of the said Margaret Clements leaving issue then the corpus to be paid to her issue absolutely. The Will further provided that in case of the death of the said Margaret Clements dying without issue the Estate to be divided into four equal parts; one-fourth for the benefit of John W. Silcox, brother of the deceased, and after his death, the said one-fourth part unto Howard Price and Leonard Price absolutely; two-fourth of said Estate given to Sarah C. Hearn, a sister of the said decedent and after her death the said two-fourths share unto the said Howard and Leonard Price absolutely; the remaining one-fourth part to be paid in equal shares unto the brother of the said decedent, James Townsend, and his children, Robert Townsend, Frank Townsend and Hazel Townsend Huggins, and in the event of the death of any one of them the share to go to the survivors.

3. That the said Thomas S. Clements, the husband of the decedent, is now living, being 87 years of age, and said Margaret Clements, daughter, is now living, being 51 years of age.

That the said John W. Wilcox departed this life on or about the 26th day of May, 1914.

That the said Sarah C. Hearn, adult, the sister, is now living and resides in Wilmington, Delaware.

That the said Howard Price, adult, is now living, and resides in Philadelphia, Pa., and the said Leonard Price, adult, is now living and resides in Denver, Colorado.

That the said James Townsend, brother of the deceased, departed this life on or about the——day of ——, and leaving surviving him a son, Robert Townsend, adult, who resides in Elsemere, Delaware, another son, Frank Townsend, adult, who resides in Wilmington, Delaware, a daughter, Hazel Townsend Huggins, adult, who resides in Roselle, Delaware.

4. That the said Hope H. Barroll, Executor named in the said Will was removed at any time the income arising from the decedent's Estate was insufficient for the support of her husband and daughter to sell any of the real estate, and out of the proceeds of sale to use any part or all of the corpus for their proper and necessary support; and the said Executor was further authized and empowered in his discretion to sell any part or all of the real estate if for the benefit and advantage of the parties and reinvest the proceedings of the sale.

5. That the said Hope H. Barroll, Executor, departed this life on or about the —— day of October, 1925.

6. That the said Herbert E. Perkins by order of the Orphans' Court passed the 3rd day of June, 1930, was appointed Administrator d. b. n. c. t. a. in the estate of the said decedent, as per certified copy hereto attached and marked "Complainants' Exhibit No. 2."

7. That the whole of the estate of the said decedent consists of a farm located near Chesterville in Second Election District of Kent County, Maryland, consisting of one hundred and fifty (150) acres of land more or less.

8. That the said Thomas S. Clements is old and infirm, and he and his daughter are in destitute circumstances, being unable themselves to work and are totally dependent for a living on their friends and relatives. That because of the run down condition of the said farm and the difficulty of renting same it provides no net income for their benefit, and not sufficient income to properly maintain and preserve the same. That there wasn't sufficient money to pay taxes and the farm was advertised by the Treasurer of Kent County for sale for taxes, and although not sold the said taxes still remain over due and unpaid.

9. That it would be to the best interest, benefit and advantage of all the parties concerned to have the said farm sold.

10. That the income arising from the farm is not sufficient for the support and living of the said Thomas S. Clements, husband, and Margaret Clements, daughter, and it would be to their interest and advantage to have the said farm sold and out of the proceeds of sale to use a part or all of same for their necessary support and maintenance, they being in destitute circumstances and without any means of getting the absolute necessities of life.

It is thereupon, this 23rd day of July, 1930, ordered by the Circuit Court for Kent County, in Equity, that the Plaintiffs, by causing a copy of this order to be inserted in some newspaper published in said Kent County, once in each of four successive weeks before the 25th day of August next, give notice to the said Howard Price, Leonard Price, Sarah C. Hearn, Robert Townsend, Frank Townsend and Hazel Townsend Huggins, non-resident defendants, warning them to appear in this Court in person, or by Solicitor, on or before the 8th day of September next, to show cause, if any they have, why a Decree ought not to be passed as prayed.

Rosin, has without any just cause or reason, abandoned and deserted her, and has declared his intention to live with her no longer, and that such abandonment has continued uninterruptedly for at least three years, and is deliberate and final, and the separation of the parties beyond any reasonable expectation of reconciliation.

3. That there has been born to said parties one child, named Mary Jane Rosin, aged eight, and that said Complainant requests the custody of said child. Your Complainant does not desire to cause any estrangement between the child and her father and is willing for said child to see and visit her father for a reasonable period of time each year.

4. That since said separation the said John P. Rosin has not contributed to the support of either the Complainant or the said child.
