ROCK HALL

The Harmony ticket will receive a good vote here.

The Volunteer Fire Company was called out Tuesday morning for a fire on the Horn farm tenanted by Stephen Kendall in Swan Creek. A stubble fire exceeded his efforts to control and the firemen put it out in time to save his orchard near the house.

A cry for help started the people of Gratitude at 6.15 Sunday evening and there was a rush of people to the private wharf of Mr. Seeds. Two people were struggling in the water, unable to help themselves and most of the excited onlookers seemed powerless to help them, but two young men, Charles Decker and brother-in-law, Allen Minor, boarders at H. E. Culley's, jumped into a small boat and soon rescued Mr. and Mrs Katon, an elderly couple yachting with their son-in-law and daughter. Mrs. Katon had been seated in a ricker too near the edge of the wharf and fell over backwards. Mr. Katon, although unable to swim sprang in after her, at the same time calling loudly for help. Dr. Selby and Dr Smith rendered needed medical assistance.

One of the historic trees standing in I. U. church yard very close to the ancient church caught fire on Saturday night, endangering the building, The Chestertown Volunteer Fire Co. responded to an alarm and succeeded in extinguishing the fire with chemicals before it reached the church building. It is said that a colored man hunting a snake which had taken refuge in the tree caused the fire.

DEATHS

Mrs. Sarah Elizabeth Blackway, one of Chestertown's oldest and best known citizens, died at her late home on Cannon street, Friday evening. Mrs. Blackway, who was widely known throughout the county as "Aunt Lizzie" has just recently passed her ninetieth birthday. Up until a few months ago she had been very active. She is survived by her husband, Robert Blackway, and one sister, Mrs. Milton Crew of Chestertown.

Funeral services were held at the Chestertown M. E. Church on Monday at one o'clock. In the absence of the pastor, the services were conducted by Rev. Ivanhoe Willis, of Kingswood M. E. Church, Wilmington. The bearers were Alonza Porter, John Porter, Otto Porter, Hyland Meekins, Ellsworth Newcomb and Arnold Willis, interment in Chester Cemetery, W. T. Hicks, undertaker.

Rachel McGinnis, twin daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William McGinnis, of Rich Neck, died at the home of its parents on Monday morning, aged 20 months. Funeral services were held from the home of the parents Wednesday morning at 10 A. M., pastor of the M. E. Church at Church Hill, officiating, interment in Sudlersville Cemetery. Four little girl friends acted as pallbearers. William H. Good, of Church Hill, undertaker.

Mrs. Lillian B. Moore, beloved wife of Captain George W. Moore, died at her home in Betterton, Friday morning, August 15th, after a short illness of paralysis. Beside her husband she is survived by three sons Harvey B., G. Herbert and Carlton C., one daughter, Mrs. Violet Crew, four grandchildren and four brothers Harvey, John, Wilbur and Walter Brice.

Mrs. Moore was preeminently a home body, literally living for her husband and children and solicitatious, almost to a fault of their comfort and welfare. She was a devoted and conscientious Christian, a loyal friend and lived a life that left a wholesome influence behind.

The floral tributes were many and beautiful, mute evidences of love and esteem.

The funeral service was held at her home Sunday afternoon with her pastor, Rev. J. C. B. Hopkins, in charge, assisted by Dr. Walter Stone. The bearers were Harvey, Herbert and Carlton Moore, Walter, Arthur and James Brice. Interment in Still Pond Cemetery, B. R. Fellows, undertaker.

Relatives and friends here have been notified of the death of George R. Stephens, who died suddenly at his home at Annapolis Junction on Sunday. The deceased was a native of this county and was the son of the late George R. and Mary E. Stephens, of this county. The remains were brought to I. U. Cemetery Tuesday for interment. He leaves a widow, Mrs. Nettie V. Stephens.

John T. Reed, aged 79, was found dead in bed at his home near Millington Thursday morning. Coroner Dodd visited the scene and gave a verdict of heart failure as cause of death. Mr. Reed occupied this home with another aged man who stated that Mr. Reed went to bed feeling badly. The deceased had been living in Kent several years. His body will be shipped to Wilmington for interment.
