"More Statistical Skullduggery"

Washington, July.—Under the caption, "Some More Statistical Skullduggery," the New York World editorially says:

"Secretary Hyde has joined the ranks of the fact jugglers in Washington who have been acting as spokesmen for an administration supposedly dedicated to fact-finding." This has reference to Secretary Hyde's statement that the new tariff will add $102 annually to the farm family income.

"The way Mr. Hyde arrives at this interesting conclusion," says The World, is this; "The new rates on the things the farmer has to buy will add $48 per year to the average farm family budget; the new rates on agricultural commodities, if entirely effective, will add $150 to the gross income of the average farmer. Therefore the average net gain per farmer will be $102.... In order to arrive at the result Secertary Hyde has to assume, for example, that the increase of 10 cents in the duty on corn will add 10 cents to the price which the farmer receives for his product. But since the United States is an exporter of corn, the tariff on this commodity will obviously amount to nothing. The same principle applies to all farm products of which this country produces a surplus. Mr. Hyde knows this, and for face-saving purposes he slips in a remark that the tariff duties seldom if ever are 'fully effective in correspondingly raising prices.'

"Such an admission, of course, renders his whole calculation valueless. Why then does he give such figures circulation Is it in the hope that some people will swallow them whole without taking note of the reservation he adds as a kind of afterthought "

The World further says that this is not the first, nor second nor third attempt of a member of the Hoover Cabinet to "present a misleading picture to the country by a resort to statistical sleight of hand," and concludes by asking: "How long is the President, with an engineer's reputation for accuracy and an economists appetite for facts, going to tolerate this skullduggery?"

If we understand the crusade of Secrtary Hyde and Chairman Legge they want the farmer to quit producing a surplus of exportable crops for the foreign market and by diversification produce a surplus of non-exportable crops for the home market.

Sheep Show And Sale In Prospect

The Fourth Annual Ram Show and Sale, to be held in Centreville, on Tuesday, July 29th, will be a great affair according to the indications reported by K. A. Clark, manager of the event. He states there is widespread interest and enthusiasm on the part of the sheepmen. They are planning to attend in large numbers.

The following flocks will be represented in the show and sale: M. C. Sherman, Queenstown; Stanley M. Cox, Oxford; W. P. Evans and Son, Pocomoke; Wm. Grelck, Woodlawn; G. B. Fenwick, Glyndon; John E. Munchester, Jr., Derwood; H. G. Hutton, Brighton; E. D. Stotelmyer, Boonsboro; R. C. F. Weagley, Hagerstown; University of Maryland, College Park, and the St. Amour Co., Mortonville, Pa.

All the rams are yearlings and constitute an exceptionally good bunch. They will be sold for cash to the highest bidder.

A show of all the rams in the sale will be held at 11 o'clock in the morning.

County Agent J. D. McVean is anxious to have a large delegation of sheepmen from this county attend the show and sale, whether they buy or not. Plan to attend and see the progress being made to improve the early lambs of the Eastern Shore.

Summer has really set in when the chair gets up when you do.

It's about time for England to demand that we scrap our best golfers.

Announcement by the Bureau of Standards that the 1930 waistline is eight inches above the hips came too late to help Messrs. Sharkey and Godfrey.

HORSE GIVEN BIRTHDAY PARTY

The twenty-first birthday of Bobbie, prize winning horse of Wilbur R. Hubbard, was celebrated here by his owner with a number of local and visiting horselovers present.

Bobbie, it was revealed has had a varied career, having pulled a butcher's wagon, a carriage, worked on farms, used for fox hunting and has been shown in many horse shows.

He has won thirty-two prizes on the Eastern Shore and in Washington, where his owner is a member of the Riding and Hunt Club. He is said to be one of the outstanding horses ever bred on the Eastern Shore.

Bobbie was put through all of his tricks, including high jumping, pulling a lawn mower and being driven to a carriage at the "party."

What a TRACTOR Fits Every Power Job!

NOT only greater utility but faster, better work and easier handling—this briefly is what the new Case Model "CC" Tractor offers you.

You can plant or cultivate two or four rows at a time . . . pull two or three fourteen inch plows. . . operate a 22x36 thresher with all attachments. . . in fact, you can do all drawbar, belt and power take-off work within this capacity. So well and compactly is the tractor designed that it is only slightly heavier than two good horses. Three forward speeds enable you to travel as best suits your field work.

It is easy to change the spacing of the rear wheels from narrow to wide tread—and back again if you wish. Two foot brakes on the differential independent of the steering, give you better control of the tractor along crooked rows, on side slopes, and over rough ground.

Power lift controlled by a foot lever raises or lowers gangs quickly. The controls are handy. You can sit down, stand up or change about as you choose. . . there is every advantage to make your work a pleasure.

Surely, you want to know more about this new tractor. Come in at your convenience.

GOOD PERFORMANCE

THE NEW FORD TUDOR SEDAN

YOU are buying proved performance when you buy a Ford. You know it has been built for many thousands of miles of satisfactory, economical service.

Letters from users in every part of the world show the value of the sound design of the car, good materials and accuracy in manufacturing. You sense a feeling of sincere pride in the oft-repeated phrase—"Let me tell you what my new Ford did."

Further tribute to the sturdiness, reliability and general all-round performance of the new Ford is shown in the repeated and growing purchases by government bureaus, by police departments, and by large industrial companies which keep careful day-by-day cost records. In most cases, the new Ford has been chosen only after exhaustive tests covering speed and power, safety, comfort, ease of control, oil and gas consumption, low yearly depreciation, and low cost of up-keep.

They have found, as you will find, that the Ford embodies every feature you want or need in a motor car at an unusually low price.
