But Amos has money in the bank on which he gets interest and his 'horse sense' philosophy causes him to question every "fool" proposition designed to get his money. The greasy old reaper was rusty
And stood in the tumbled-down shed,
Through most of the year it was silent—
A thing without purpose, and dead.
But harvest-time waked the old reaper,
When summer winds laughed through the grain;
Then day after day as it labored
The old reaper sang this refrain:
"I'm only a battered old reaper,
Ramshackle and covered with rust,
And I toil in the wheat fields of summer
Through the shimmering heat and the dust;
I love to be out in the open,
My spirit in action set free
As I gather the golden-ripe harvest—
God's gift to humanity."

HEALTH INTERESTS WOMEN; COURSE CLASSES INCREASE

Recent Graduation of 781 Girls Brings Total to More Than 3,500 in Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Companies' Territory

Marie C. Gaszka as "Sunshine" and Dorothy Rothange illustrating "Water" in Baltimore Health Class play.

The health course inaugurated by the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Companies for its women employees is producing excellent results. Just recently 780 women employees of the companies in Maryland, Virginia, West Virginia and the District of Columbia have received graduation certificates of this health course from John C. Koons, vice-president. These classes bring the total graduates in health course work to more than 3,500 employees in this area.

Employees taking the course receive training from competent instructors under the supervision of telephone company medical advisors on general rules for the maintenance of good health, prevention of the more common kinds of illness, simple rules of nursing, what to do in case of accident, and how to render first aid.

The health course consists of lessons of one hour each, extending over a period of fifteen weeks, the only stipulation made by the ccompany being that the employee take the course on her own time. Class rooms are provided convenient to the central offices or other places of employment and the hours are arranged suitable to the working hours of the young women.

Graduating exercises are held at the end of each course, at which the graduates are given an opportunity to display the knowledge obtained in their class work. At each of the graduation exercises plays are given by members of the class emphasizing the value of exercise as a means of keeping well, and the proper kinds of foods and its preparation.

Discovery of Iodine

Iodine was discovered in 1812 by Courtois, a French niter manufacturer. He was boiling the ash from sea weed in copper kettles. Upon the addition of unusually strong sulphuric acid to the residue in his pots, he saw violet fumes arising from them. It was named from a Greek word meaning violet color.

Spanish Beauties

If you would see the real "blue bloods" of the Nordic, you must be one in the tourist parties which go to Spain every year. They are the blond-haired, blue-eyed beauties which you meet in old brunette Seville, probably derived from the Visi-Goths, whose strain has given our language the real "sangre azul."
