GAME LOST IN FOREST FIRES

Thousands of game birds have perished in Eastern Shore forest fires during the last few months rather than desert their young, according to E. Joseph Watson, deputy State game worder for Kent county, who reports also an unusually large number of woodland and marshland blazes during the spring and early summer. Male birds may flee the smoke and flames, he declares, but the female bird, whether with young or with eggs in the nest, will die before deserting.

Timberlands valued at more than half a million dollars have been burned over by fires in Maryland. Mr. Watson stated, and much of the game in covers afforded by the woodland have perished. To offset the loss the State Game Department is raising thousands of partridges at the State game preserves on the Eastern Shore and elsewhere. These birds, however, will not meet the losses sustained in the recent fires, the local deputy said.

First Iceland Settler

Traditionally the first settler in Iceland was the Norwegian chieftain, Ingolf, who named the place where he landed Reykjavik—i. e., Smoky Bay, from the steam rising out of the nearby hot springs. After him came many Norwegian viking chieftains and their followers, who fled, mainly from the west coast of Norway, to escape King Harald Fairhair's oppression.

Queer, but Odd

A very unusual, yet remarkable, accident occurred.—Regina Daily Post.

Peculiarities of Echoes

Echo effects are often different when a hall is full. It has been found that an echo which may be there if a hall is filled with women may be entirely absent when the audience is a male one. The silk of women's garments absorbs sound far less than the thicker tweed and woolen clothing of men.

Province of Beauty

Where men are not kept in mind of beauty, they become lower than the beasts; for a dog, I will maintain, is a very tolerable judge of beauty, as appears from the fact that any liberally educated dog does, in a general way, prefer a woman to a man.—Francis Thompson.

HEART TO HEART TALK ABOUT

WATER

Just at this time we are compelled to inform the water users of the Chestertown Water Department the TRUE situation. The water is colored near white. This is because the water is low in the wells. No rain, dry, no water. We have pumped 24 hours per day for 2 weeks, 14 days, with no relief in sight.

Therefore we request every water user to conserve the water. Don't waste. Do not use the HOSE. Better let the shrubbery burn than your HOME. We hope you will assist us, because your property is a part of the Water Department.
