The Good Life

There is no rational life without intelligence and things are good only in so far as they assist man to enjoy that life of the mind which is determined by intelligence. Those things alone we call evil which hinder man from perfecting his reason and enoying a rational life.—Spinoza.

Marriages Increase

A preliminary report submitted by the U. S. Department of Commerce shows that the total number of marriages that took place in Kent county during the past year was 1,062 as compared with 691 the preceding year, giving Kent county second place among the counties on the Eastern Shore in the total number. If men spent $75,000,000 last year for " facial rejuvenation and tonsorial work," what do women spend?

We knew a seven-year-old boy who said "Bully!" when he was pleased, but it was long ago, and he was in a book.

A little off here and a little off there, and the next great naval battle should be a race between eight-oared crews.

E. S. INSTITUTE IN CHESTERTOWN

About fifty women prominent in the political and social affairs of the State attended the third annual Eastern Shore Institute of Public Affairs held in William Smith Hall, Washington College, Saturday.

Dr. Paul E. Titsworth, president of Washington College, presided at the morning session, and in the course of his address made a plea for the continuance of the administration of the affairs of the Government of the common people.

"The United States," Dr. Titsworth said, "will become a directorship in proportion as the common people relinquish their rights in administering the affairs of Government."

The first speaker at the morning session was Dr. Berry O. Marshall, court psychiatrist of the Baltimore Juvenile Court, who discussed the organization and development of the Baltimore Juvenile Court since its institution in 1902.

Dr. Marshall said that of the 1,646 cases of juvenile delinquency in Baltimore city at the present time the majority come from homes where parental discipline is lax and where the means of living are insufficient to provide necessary educational facilities.

Miss Lavina Engle, director of the Maryland League of Women Voters, who substituted for Dr. Carrie Weaver Smith, superintendent of Montrose School for Girls, spoke on "What Should a State Institution Do for Juvenile Delinquents?"

Miss Engle pointed out that there are two State-controlled institutions for the care of deliquents and only five juvenile courts in Maryland. She argued that the State should take over the care and maintenance of the Melvale and maintenance of the Melvale and Cheltenham schools for girls and that there should be in every county in the State special juvenile courts for handling delinquent cases. She said that relief must come from existing conditions before the State can meet the juvenile delinquent problem adequately and predicted that strenuous efforts would be made to induce the next Legislature to pass such legislation as will meet the needs in this respect.

Dr. Walter N. Thayer, State Superintendent of Prisons, in his talk on "The Prison Problem," stressed the point that the real source of the criminal problem lies in the juvenile delinquency. He said investigation had shown that the average criminal of today was under 25 years of age, and while the State is not altogether successfully solving the criminal problem, it is gradually getting away from the theory that the peralty should fit the crime and more modern methods of prison reform are producing successful results.

James M. Hepbron, director of the Baltimore Criminal Justice Commission, led a discussion which followed Dr. Thayer's address.

Following the luncheon served in the College Commons, the afternoon session was devoted to a discussion of the London Naval Conference by Dr. Ella Lonn, professor of history at Goucher College, Baltimore, who spoke in favor of the parley but took issue with President Hoover that its outcome would result in saving the country $300,000,000 annually.

Dr. Hayes Baker Crothers, professor of economics of the University of Maryland, discussed the World Court. His talk was followed by a round-table discussion led by Prof. E.Clarke Fontaine, State Supervisor of High Schools on the Eastern Shore.

The institute was held under the auspices of the Maryland League of Women Voters and the Washington College branch of the League of Women Voters.

Among the women who attended were:

Mrs. Emil Crockett, Mrs. J. C. Schenck, Mrs. Ralph Bonwit, Miss Carolyn W. Coursey, Baltimore; Mrs. M. H. Henry, Reistertown; Mrs. D. Hunt, Easton; Mrs. W. D. Gould, Mrs. James B. Noble, Mrs. C. M. Thompson, Mrs. H. Wheatley and Miss Hazel L. Fisher, Cambridge; Mrs. A. Boley, Royal Oak; Mrs. Irvin Mace, Mrs. Mundy, Miss Sarah L. Baron, Cambridge; Misses Ida Belle Wilson, Marian Thompson, Margaret McAllister, Virginia Dryden, Flora Hankins, Salisbury State Normal School; Mrs. Nell C. Westcott, Mrs. Garclay Kilbourn, Mrs. Thomas Massey, Mrs. Fred. G. Usilton, Mrs. W. Robert Huey, Dr. E. M. Dole, Mrs. D. W. Ingersoll and Miss A. C. Living Happily

We live in an ascending scale when we live happily, one thing leading to another in an endless series. There is always a new horizon for forward-looking men, and although we dwell on a small planet, immersed in petty business and not enduring beyond a brief period of years, we are so constituted that our hopes are inaccessible . . . and the term of hoping is prolonged until the term of life.—Robert Louis Stevenson.

Care of Polo Ponies

The Field says that superhigh-priced polo mounts are never allowed to get out of condition. As soon as the matches are over, the shoes are taken off and the ponies turned loose in a soft soil, grass paddock, which is free from stone. Two or three months later they are shipped South and worked into condition for the early spring matches.

ATHLETIC MEET IN CHESTERTOWN NEXT MONDAY

The annual county-wide athletic meet of the public schools of Kent county will be held on Washington College athletic field on Monday, May 19. Between 200 and 300 students of the high and grammar schools will compete in a program of events which is being arranged by County School Superintendent Louis C. Robinson. The events will be conducted under the direction of the Playground Athletic League of Maryland and all winners will be entitled to contest in the State-wide meet to be held on Homewood Feld, Baltimore early in June.

Rain Colored by Dust

Widespread falls of dust occur from time to time in nearly all parts of the world. If rain happens to be falling at the same time it is more or less distinctly colored by the dust, though the color is not always red. In the United States occasionally showers fall in which the rain is colored yellow by pollen, generally from pine trees. In former times the substance thus deposited was mistaken for sulphur.

Heat and Cold in Britain

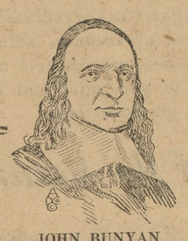

The maximum temperature of the air in Great Britain recorded in the shade at 4 feet above the ground is 100 degrees Fahrenheit. This was observed at Wilton house, Salisbury, July 15, 1881, and at Greenwich observatory on August 9, 1911. The lowest temperature of the air recorded in the shade at 4 feet above the ground —23 degrees Fahrenheit, at Blackadder, Berwickshire, December 4, 1879.

Early American Glass

The first industrial enterprise in the United States was a glass bottle factory erected in the Virginia colony soon after 1607. It was located in the woods about a mile distant from Jamestown. Window glass was manufactured in what is believed to be the first glass factory in New Jersey. It was built about 1739, a mile east of Allowaystown, Salem county, by Caspar Wistar.
