Criminalistic Term

A habitual criminal is called a recidivist in the United States the term is also applied to a person serving a second term in prison.

The laying of the corner stone for the First Methodist Protestant Church, Washington and Thirty-Sixth Streets, Wilmington, will take place on Sunday, March 30 at 2:30 P. M. Rev. L. B. Smith, D. D., President of the Confeernce; Rev. W. H. Litsinger, D. D., Superintendent Church Extension and Dr. G. W. K. Forerst, Mayor of Wilmington, will take part in the program. Rev. J. L. Ward is pastor of the new congregation.

WOMAN SEEKS TO JOIN CLERGY

For the first time in the history of the Wilmington Annual Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, which opened in Silver Brook Church Wednesday, a woman took the examination for admission to the conference.

The candidate, Mrs. Lila M. Russell, of Pocomoke City, Md., is taking the local preacher's course and appeared with other members of the class at the examination in Grace Church. She is the wife of the Rev. Walter L. Russell, pastor of the Pocomoke City circuit.

Last year, owing to ill health, the Rev. Mr. Russell was compelled to abandon his work and go to North Carolina to recuperate. Mrs. Russell at once took up the church work and has been in charge since her husband left.

Tolerance First

If there is any principle of the Constitution that more imperatively calls for attachment than any other, it is the principle of free thought—not free thought for those who agree with us, but freedom for the thought that we hate.—Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes.

Jewish Holy Day

"Yom" is Hebrew for "day" and Yom Kippur means day of atonement. It is the tenth day of October and is observed by continuous prayer and fasting for 24 hours from sundown on the evening previous.—Pathfinder Magazine.

Protect Guano Birds

Shipmasters carelessly blowing their foghorns, disturbing the guano birds nesting on the islands off the coast of Peru, are punished with a fine; and if it is discovered that their vessels approached within two miles of the islands, their boats are confiscated!

This new law was passed by the Peruvian government in a drastic campaign to protect the birds, which, as described in Popular Science Monthly, produce large quantities of guano, an excellent fertilizer. While guano is found in various places, the most valuable variety—containing from 13 to 14 per cent nitrogen and a like proportion of phospnoric acid—is exported from the Chincha and other islands near the Peruvian coast. These islands produce $1,000,000 worth of the fertilizer a year.

Gems His Playthings

Many, varied, and strange are the belongings kept in safe deposits. During the recent visit to England of the ruler of a semi-independent Indian state a score or more of gorgeously apparelled retainers visited the premises of one company every day to collect three heavy chests filled with cut and uncut precious stones. These were taken away for the dusky potentate to play with, and returned to the vaults when he tired of his daily amusement. The jewels were said to be worth over £10,000,000 and were probably the most valuable collection ever stored at one time.

Cable Insulation

One can hardly see any connection between hoop skirts and the electrical industry, but one may be traced, strangely enough, which took place in the early days of the electrical development. The first cables were not insulated satisfactorily till Walter T. Glover, an Englishman who braided steel hoops with cotton, had an inspiration. Crinolines were going out, so was his business. So he used his machinery for insulating copper wire with cotton braid, and he soon had no cause to regret the passing of the crinoline.

Turkeys Bred by Aztecs

Although the earliest authentic record of the turkey refers to its introduction into Spain in 1524, a French writer says turkeys were first brought to France in 1518. When the Spaniards conquered Mexico they found semi-domesticated turkeys in the zoological parks of the Aztecs, he writes. Among the Pueblo Indians of the Southwest turkeys were raised before the coming of the Spaniards and these fowls had reached about the same degree of domestication that pigeons have today.—Pathfinder Magazine.

IN MEMORY

In sad but loving memory of our dear sister and aunt Mary Patten who died one year ogo today, April 2, 1929.

There is some one who misses you sadly
And finds time long since you went.
There is some one who thinks of you always
And tries to be brave and content.

Gone is the face we love so dear,
Silent the voice we love to hear,
'Tis sad but true we wonder why,
The best are always first to die.

By her brother JAMES GEARS and GRACE GEARS MENCH.

On the Funny Side

THE DIFFERENCE

"What's the trouble?" asked Jones, when one of his most popular jokes failed to score a chuckle.

"Let me see," said the solemn one, thoughtfully. "I've got to buy some flowers, some chocolates, and the theater tickets, and—"

"Doing mental arithmetic?" asked his friend.

"Sentimental arithmetic," sighed the young man sadly.

BAD LUCK AND WORSE

George—"You heard of Jim's rotten luck? He was nearly drowned, but a girl rescued him." Harry—"Yes; but he had even worse luck later—she married him."

Stay Down

"Up like rockets, down like sticks,"
The timid fellows bawl,
They get themselves in such a fix
They never rise at all.

Real Worry

Blinks—It says here some scientist predicts a group of stars headed toward the earth at the rate of 200 miles a second will crash into it in about a million years.

Jinks—That doesn't worry me. What scares me stiff is seeing a motor car headed toward me at the rate of forty miles an hour that will arrive in about one second.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Hard on One's Constitution

The Statistician—A man is knocked down in a London street every 20 minutes.

Listener—Sorry, old chap, but I really can't swallow that one. No man's constitution could possibly stand it.

Judge Sought Information

Judge—Your wife says you have her terrorized.

Prisoner—Honestly, your honor, I—

Judge—I am not asking this in my official capacity, but as man to man, how do you do it.

Trade Board Dig Factor in Chicago's Progress

The jobs of 30,000 men and women are directly dependent on the existence of the Chicago Board of Trade; 100,000 are employed indirectly because of the "world's largest" commodity exchange. These figures indicate the important part the board has taken in building Chicago into the fifth city of the world and the financial and marketing center of the Middle West.

Early in 1848 a small group of influential leaders, engaged in pulling Chicago out of the mud that was old Fort Dearborn, organized the board of trade. Memberships in those days could be bought for a comparatively few dollars. Today the total value of memberships, at a conservative estimate, is $50,000,000.

In the old days, toiling wagonloads of wheat and corn arrived from across the prairies in Chicago and were promptly sold at the exchange. Long before the end of the board's eighty-first year, Chicago was the railroad center of the world and farm products moved to market in modern style. It is estimated that one-seventh of all the revenue of midwestern railroads now is derived from the transport of farm crops to market. A great part of their shipments go to Chicago for sale on the exchange.

Thinks He Has Special Reason for Complaint

The driver of a small car, parked in a crowded downtown section, stopped short and stared at the apparent nakedness of the machine. The spare tire was missing.

With a nonchalant shrug, he muttered something about "thieves will be thieves" and began to climb into the machine. But he stopped short again and stooped to pick up a wrench from the running board. His face grew crimson, and the things he said were terms not generally employed by frequenters of social teas.

"What's the trouble?" asked the Stroller.

"A lot!" he snapped. "I don't mind these crooks stealing my tire, but when they open my car and take my tools to do it with, that's too much!" —Philadelphia Public Ledger.

Oppression Not Peace

I am a man of peace. God knows how I love peace: but I hope I shall never be such a coward as to mistake oppression for peace.—Kossuth.

Public Responds To Industrial Romance

Newspapers, Magazines and Photo plays Utilize Pictures of Telephone Operators to Illustrate Modern Uses of the Service

Ellen Billings smiles for the camera man as she does for her subscribers.

Industry was never before the public eye so much as now. Modern business does not overlook an opportunity of telling the world about itself. The public likes to know something of the romance involved in the products of industry Utility companies generally respond to this desire.

In this particular, the Boston Traveler says editorially:

"The telephone has become so common to American life that it appears in illustrations almost everywhere in newspapers, magazines and photo plays.

"To assist motion picture directors, photographers, and artists, in the accuracy of their work, the American Telephone and Telegraph Company has issued a book, entitled Modern Illustration of the Telephone.

"The book will be of great service because it is serviceably made up and gives all the detail necessary to the production of good work There are even illustrations of the telephone girls through the years.

"Modern business certainly over looks no opportunity for advertising It pays."

Not All Evergreens

There are several cone-bearing trees that are not evergreens, notably the larch and the bald cypress.

THE MODERN FUNERAL

The methods and systems in vogue a few years ago and still adhered to by many, are no longer applicable in this age and generation. A better understanding of the duties of the funeral director has changed the old order. One of the most difficult problems confronting the modern funeral director will be solved when the public realizes that SERVICE is the principal, and in fact, only commodity which we have to offer.

The casket and funeral appertinances are negligible or practically so, requiring little or no experience and, in the matter of expense, consist only with the cost of production.

SERVICE is the main consideration—the care and disposition of the body of the one that has Passed on, knowledge and ability and a readiness to relieve the burden of those who are left to mourn.

The Important Reason

FATS and oils are not digested like starches or proteins, they must first be emulsified in the body before they can be utilized as nourishment.

SCOTT'S EMULSION

is pure cod-liver oil scientifically emulsified—prepared for easy and rapid digestion, just as Nature provides emulsified fat in milk.

This is the important reason why the cod-liver oil you take—should be emulsified—should be Scott's Emulsion.

FAMOUS Ohio Rotary Hoe

For Breaking Crust, Weeding, and Conditioning the Soil

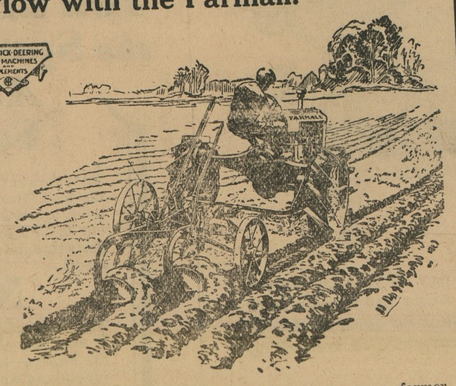

With a Famous Ohio Rotary Hoe you can cover as much ground in a day as two men with single row cultivators. Thus with a team this implement will cover 15 to 20 acres per day of corn, peas, beets, potatoes, mint, wheat, oats, clover or alfalfa. With a tractor, 30 to 40 acres.

Wheels can be raised or lowered, permitting deep or shallow cultivation. Hoes can be raised clear of the ground when moving from field to field, saving wear and tear and preventing breakage of the hoes.

A grass seeding attachment can be supplied for the Famous Ohio Rotary Hoe.

Plow with the Farmall!

THE McCormick-Deering Farmall offers the row-crop farmer a wonderful advantage. With this sturdy, 4-cylinder, 2-plow tractor on the farm you can put all of your work behind you quickly with power—from the first tillage job in spring to the last belt job in winter. The Farmall pulls a 2-bottom plow as ably as does any other tractor. It turns short, handles easily, operates economically, and requires very little attention.

As the season progresses you can shift from one important job to another with amazing speed. Tilling, plowing, seeding, planting row crops (with 4-row planter), cultivating row crops (with 2 or 4-row cultivator), mowing, raking, loading hay, harvesting grain, harvesting corn, and doing the hundred and one belt jobs around the farm.

You can't beat the Farmall. It makes the horseless farm practicable and possible. It cuts the corners off expense and puts the profit in your pocket.

We can't TELL you the whole Farmall story here; but we can prove every point in mighty quick time if you'll ask us for a field demonstration.
