A COMMENDABLE MOVEMENT

The News wishes to add its word of approval and commendation to the efforts now being made toward the harmonizing of the differences, the real or unreal, that may exist in the Democratic ranks of the party in Kent County.

The nations of the world are today in convention trying to settle the parity of armaments, and at this writing it appears that important and far reaching results will be reached. If such being the case among nations of the world, certainly men and women of Kent County's dominant party should have enough common sense, good judgment, unselfish devotion to the good of the party, country and all concerned, to reach an agreement as to the assignment of certain offices. We might write a column or two on the wisdom of harmonious action, but the men who are at the front of our party realize the dangers ahead and we feel confident will make all reasonable concessions and necessary sacrifices to bring about a fair and just distribution of honors, at the same time render a service to old Kent which will advance her interests more than any one act has done during the past ten years.

Kent County has good business men who would be glad to serve their party if called upon in the proper way, but hesitate to go into a "fight" which means endless expense, arduous work and bitter regrets.

Here's hoping success to the movement. If the News can help in any degree our influence is at your disposal.

12 Of Press Group Pledge Ritchie Aid

Twelve Democratic members of the Maryland Press Association Saturday pledged their support to Governor Ritchie should he be a candidate for re-election. The pledge was presented to the Governor at a luncheon, at which he was guest of onor during the annual convention of the association, held at the Lord Baltimore Hotel.

The pledge is signed by C. L. Vincent, Democratic Messenger, Snow Hill; S. E. Shannahan, Star Democrat, Easton; J. Briscoe Bunting, Calvert Journal, Prince Frederick; Paul G. Stromberg, Ellicott City Times, Ellicott City; Thomas H. Pickels, Western Newspaper Union, Baltimore; Edward O. Diffendal, Democratic Advocate, Westminster; Edward J. Clarke, Worcester Democrat, Pocomoke City; Robert Black, Maryland News, Silver Spring, Harry G. Carroll, Evening Capital, Annapolis; R. H. Collins, Jr., Transcript, Chestertown; Leo M. Moore, Democratic Ledger, Havre de Grace, and Charles G. Gunn, Mergenthaler Linotype Co., Baltimore.

Governor Ritchie in an address outlined his plans for forming a commission to study the communications systems between the Eastern and Western Shores in relation to the proposed bridge across Chesapeake Bay and also regarding existing ferry routes.

The idea behind the present program, adopted in 1929 and the most ambitious yet undertaken by the State, Governor Ritchie said, is to make travel to and from Baltimore, the business center of the State, as easy as possible for persons in all parts of the commonwealth.

P. G. Stromberg, of Ellicott City, was elected president of the association, succeeding C. L. Vincent, of Snow Hill. M. W. Worthington, of Belair, succeeds Mr. Stromberg on theboard of governors.

Other officers reelected were: James P. Curley, Laurel, and E. O. Diffendal, Westminster, vice-presidents, and S. E. Shannahan, Easton, secretary-treasurer. The board of governors consists of Mr. Worthington, Earl Orem, of Cambridge; Leo M. Moore, Havre de Grace; Mr. Shannahan; R. H. Collins, Chestertown, and Joseph B. Finan, Cumberland.

Professor E. Clarke Fontaine, of Chestertown, high school supervisor for the Eastern Shore, directed a conference of thirty high school principals and county superintendents at Salisbury this week. Prof. Fountaine is not advocating the erection of any more high schools but is urging the centralization of county students of secondary grade in the large high schools in the various county seat towns. One of the principal topics of discussions at the meeting today will be the problem presented by the small high school.

BALTO. CHAPTER HOLDS BANQUET

BALTIMORE CHAPTER.... .....

Recognition of the smaller colleges of Maryland as integral parts of the higher educational system of the State was pointed out by Governor Ritchie last week as an ideal policy to pursue in thefuture.

Addressing a banquet of the Washington College Alumni in the Hotel Emerson the Governor anticipated the reportof the commission he appointed to study the higher educational system in the State.

Personal Contact Essential

He prefaced his speech by saying he was about to indicate a problem which required the serious and effective attention of Maryland as one of the great responsibilities.

"I can not help but view with consternation," the Governor said, "the universities in other sections of the country, inthe West particularly, with enrollments from 20,000 to 40,000 students, I can not conceive of proper or competent teaching being done in such institutions.

"Proper or effective instruction must involve personal contact, otherwise a standardization will result which must work to the detriment of the very purpose of education. In Maryland we must recognize the existence of the smaller colleges and their contributions in the past."

Shriver Heads Commission

George M. Schriver is chairman of the commission to study the relationship of the State to the higher educational system.

Dr. Paul E. Titsworth, president of Washington College in Chestertown, said the real educational process is one of contact of the immature mind with the mature and mellowed intellect, which would be aided by the decentralized program.

Citing an increase in funds for annual maintenance from $30,000 to $65,000 during Governor Ritchie's terms in office he declared that the latter had done for the College more than any other Governor.

Officers Are Elected

Officers of the Alumni Association were elected as follows:

President, Harry B. Lankford.

Secretary-Treasurer, Charles M. Jarman.

W. Lester Baldwin attorney and former president of the Alumni Association, acted as toastmaster, Wade G. Bounds was chairman of the banquet committee.

In the Cecil County court Tuesday afternoon John Davis, James Spencer and Thomas Malin, three Elkton youths, indicted by the grand jury for larceny of an automobile belonging to County Agent J. Z. Miller, who went on a joy ride to South Carolina with Elizabeth Burns, Helen Tweed and Thelma Cornelius, all 16 years of age, of Newark, Del., were tried and found not guilty. The boys claimed they had obtained the car to take the girls on a short ride, but got lost and kept on going until stopped by the sheriff at Chesterfield, S. C., and brought back to Elkton.

Chief Judge Adkins, in freeing the youths, put the burden of the crime on the girls and suggested that the mothers of the three girls get a "paddle full of holes and give each sound punishment."
