BEANTOWN CHOIR IS VERY FINE

The play, "The Beantown Choir" presented by members of the Rock Hall Methodist Episcopal Church in Junior Hall was one of the best shows held here for some time. The rehearsal was a very comical affair and the finished concert worth hearing, while the tableaux and wedding scene made quite a hit. The Messrs. Alfred and Leonard Stauffer, and their sister, gave a comic sketch between Acts one and two, and Alfred Stauffer sang "When My Dreams Come True" like a professional after the second act: The cast of characters: The Widow Wood, of courseshe would all widows would, Mrs. Ida Rodney; Beth Wiod, her stepdaughter, a real sweet girl, Miss Doris Downey; Hezekiah Doolittle, just full of mischief as a dog is of fleas, Eugene Taylor; Mrs. Do-reemee Scales, the director of the choir, pity her, Mrs. Ethel Urie; Belinda Snix, who orter be in grand opera, or somewhere, Mrs. Lillian Crouch; Tessie Tooms, who pianns and organs jest lovely, Mrs. Nannie Shallcross; Sallie Etta Pickle, who takes high C jest like a cough drop, Mrs. Lillian Rodney; Mandy Hamslinger, her voice was cultivated on the cultivator, Miss Marie Jacob; Birdie Cackle, a twittering birdie who sings like a lark, er sump'm, Miss Eva Jacob; Grandmaw Howler, who'd be a good singer yet, if her voice had 'a' held out, Miss Minnie Jacob; Sammantha Sniggins, aged eight, little, but, oh, my, Henrietta Rodney; Bashful Bill Boomer, long on bass but short on nerve, Reuben Rodney; male quartet, Allan Urie, Ellwood Rodney, Emmett Wood and Reuben Rodney; Jedediah girls quartette, Olive Downey, Leona Carter, Minnie Jacob and Blanche Carter; minister, Norvel Rodney; presiding elder, Leray Warner. All costumes and characteristics were reministic of years ago.

Englishman First With Idea of Artificial Silk

Most of the credit for the idea of manufacturing artificial silk goes to France, and the honor has usually been given to Reaumur, a French naturalist. Actually, the first known suggestion was made by an Englishman, Dr. Robert Hook. In 1664 he published a book, "Micrographia," in which he described a microscopic examination of real silk, and suggested the possibility of producing a similar thread by mechanical means. The first machine to produce an artificial thread was made in England. In 1840, Mr. Louis Schwabe took out the first patent and erected his machine, embodying spinnerettes, in Manchester, but the product failed to attract and Schwabe committed suicide three years later. Today the spinnerette is in full use, and £135,000,000 is invested in the industry in England alone.

Age Not Determined by Number of Years Lived

The following bit of philosophy, written by a contributor who signs it "Author Unknown," has been received by the Detroit Free Press:

"Youth is not a time of life—it is a state of mind. It is a temper of the will, a quality of the imagination, a vigor of the emotions. It is a freshness of the deep springs of life. Youth means a predominance of courage over timidity, of the appetite of adventure over love of ease. This often exists in a boy of twenty. Nobody grows old by merely living a number of years. People grow old by deserting their ideals.

"Whether seventy or sixteen, there is in every being's heart the love of wonder, the amazement at the stars and the starlike things and thoughts, the undaunted challenge of events, the unfailing childlike appetite for what next, and the joy and the game of life. You are as young as your faith, as old as your doubt; as young as your self-confidence, as old as your fear; as young as your hope, as old as your despair. In the central place of your heart there is a wireless station. As long as it receives messages of beauty, hope, cheer, grandeur, courage and power from the earth, from men, and from the infinite, so long are you young."

Black Ox Always the Symbol of Misfortune

The black ox symbolizes old age, ill luck, adversity, or trouble in general, according to an article in the Pathfinder Magazine. "The black ox has trod on his foot," is a proverbial expression recorded already in 1546 by John Heywood. It means that one knows the meaning of sorrow and misfortune, such as having been visited by death.

The phrase alludes to the black cattle sacrificed by the ancient pagans to the infernal deities, especially to Pluto, supreme judge and lord of the underworld. White cattle were sacrificed to Jupiter.

At Rome the altar on which the black oxen were sacrificed was 20 feet below the level of the ground and was never exposed to public view except when the sacrifices were being made. Among the Arabs the black camel is the symbol of murder and death by violence.

Defending Thirteen

One of the arguments against reforming the calendar is the coincidence that the thirteenth of each of the thirteen months of the proposed year would fall on a Friday. One of its defenders answered this opposition by saying that the United States "grew great on thirteen" and, incidentally, on Friday.

America was discovered on a Friday, the Pilgrims landed on Friday, there were thirteen American colonies, thirteen stripes and stars on the American flag, and thirteen feathers on the American eagle's tail. The motto, E Pluribus Unum, contains thirteen letters.

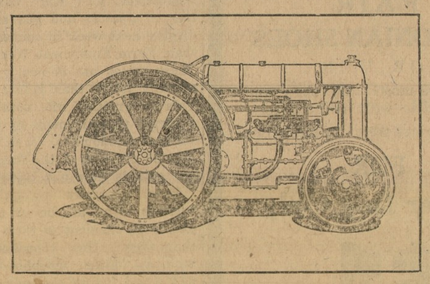

Colorful Sails

From Herodotus we learn that some of the sails of early Egyptian vessels were made of papyrus. Beautifully ornamented colored linen sails were early in use.

Prevent Rugs Slipping

Rugs will not slip or curl if you cut small pieces from an old inner tube and sew one on each of the four corners with strong thread matching the rug color as near as possible.

The Improved Fordson Agricultural Tractor develops more power, and starts easily . . . .

A 30-HORSE-POWER engine makes sure of ample power for the field work, for the belt, for every farm job that requires pulling, pushing or stationary power.

A high-tension magneto with enclosed starter coupling insures easy starting. It makes no difference how snappy the morning, the starting system on the new Fordson will operate easily.

Come in and see the Fordson Agricultural Tractor. We want to show you its new features. There are 16 altogether. We want to show you how easy it starts and how the motor sounds. We want to give you a booklet that describes in detail this farm tractor. Ask for a demonstration.

TURKEY RAISERS PLAN NEW WAY

Turkey raisers have been interested recently in a new method of raising turkeys and some are said to be planning to adopt it. This method shows by experiments during the past year to have proved so successful that important advantages in raising poultry in this way are indicated.

Information received by the institute shows that wall tents provide economical shelter, maximum ventilation and easy exposure to invigorating and strengthening sunlight. In addition to these advantages tents are so easily portable that feeding grounds can be readily changed.

Glenn Osborn of Rocky Ford, Colo., raised 2,200 young turkeys last year on a farm of 8 acres, using twelve wall tents of 10-ounce army duck as shelter because no buildings were available at the beginning of the breeding season. Breeding progressed so satisfactorily that the tents were used throughout the season. Each tent was equipped with floor boards and was mounted on skids so that it could be easily moved.

It is recognized among poultry farmers that turkeys are difficult to raise, the rate of mortality usually being extremely high. The record made by Mr. Osborn in raising practically his entire flock to maturity is therefore significant because of the novel methods he employed.

In addition to this novel use of cotton it is interesting to find that poultry farmers equip doors and windows of chicken houses with a light cotton muslin permitting the penetration of sunshine and at the same time providing ventilation as well as protection from undue exposure. It has been found that young poultry often suffer from lack of shade and for this reason temporary shelter is often desirable.
