A WELL-PUT LETTER

The following letter in the Sun was written by H. B. Messenger, of Federalsburg, and it contains wholesome truths:

At this time it is important that a calm and steady frame of mind be encouraged to the utmost possible degree.

The people of the Eastern Shore are stirred by a series of horrible crimes. Many of them live in isolated spots. It is impossible to protect the dwellers in rural communities as it is done in cities, where every street is parolled by an efficient police force.

Living as they do at the mercy of any depraved wretch who may feel the urge to rob, rape or murder, they feel that their best protection is in the prompt enforcement of justice and the infliction of the maximum punishment without delay on any criminal when caught.

It is said that a fair and impartial trial cannot be had on the Shore for a certain class of offenders. The people of the Shore feel that a fair and impartial trial is very doubtful if the cases are removed to the Baltimore courts.

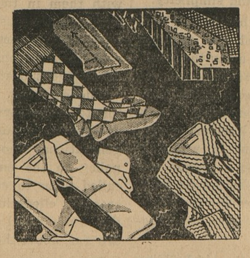

What percentage of this class of criminals receive the maximum penalty in Galtimore City, and what percentage in the Eastern Shore counties Is there not much said at the present time of the breaking down of justice in the handling of such cases? Is it not notorious to the point of scandal that known criminals escape with ridiculously light sentences, or are turned loose on the helpless community with no punishment at all.

There would have been no disorder at Snow Hill had the court there been allowed to proceed with a prompt trial and had justice been done at once. Impatience and disgust, fostered by needless and unjustifiable meddling by notoriety seekers and trouble hunters, have now grown to a point where real trouble is possible and it is imperative that the influential men of the Shore become active in this matter, or not only may justice fail but more serious trouble may follow.
