KENNEDYVILLE W. C. T. U. MEET

Our local union held a very interesting service in the M. P. Church here Sunday evening. Our very efficient local president, Mrs. E. T. Othoson, had charge of the service and had arranged a very fine program which, I think was enjoyed by all present. The attendance was fine.

Promptly at 7.30, Mrs. Othoson announced the first hymn, "Rescue the Perishing." Everybody took hold and carried it with a swing. This was followed by prayer by Mrs. Othoson. Mrs. Edgar Pennington then read the scripture lessor, 1 Timothy 1;; 8-11. Mrs. Pennington is vice president of the local union, and treasurer of the county union.

After the reading of the scripture, song, "True Hearted Whole Hearted" was sung, Mrs. R. C. Young then read her report on the convention held in Starr M. P. Church in Baltimore on September 29, 30 and October 1st. This report was complete in every detail and was very interesting. Mrs. Young was a delegate to that convention from this union.

A short talk by Mrs. Othoson was followed by a duet by Mrs. Howard Toulson and her very lovely daughter, Miss Betty Shallcross, "When I think of his love for me." An exercise, arranged and taught by Mrs. Young was next on the program. Eleven little boys and girls, each holding a card on which was a letter, the first being—P. The entire group of letters spelled the word Prohibition and was as follows:

P—Put on the whole Armor of God, that ye may be able to stand against the wiles of the Devil, Elsie May Ireland.

R—Run with patience the race set before you, Sarah Scotten.

O—Owe no man anything but to love one another, Betty Jean Groves.

H—Humble yourselves in the sight of the Lord, and He will lift you up, Walter Willis.

I ..I have taught you in the way of wisdom, I have lead thee in right paths, Meria Kennedy.

B—Be kindly affectioned one to the other, with brotherly love, Oliver Groves.

I —If ye be reproached for the name of Christ, happy are ye, Jimmy Fogwell.

T—Through God we shall do vallintly, for He it is that shall tread down our enemies, Lena Geary.

I —I came not to call the righteous, but sinners to repentance, Wayne Pote.

O—O God thou art my God, early will I seek thee, Joyce Pote.

N—No man can come to me except the Father, which has sent me before him, and I will raise him up at the last, Billy George.

Just back of these young folks, a number of girls stood and sang, "Prohibition." A very pretty sight.

After this song, Mrs. Leonard Price, the county president gave us a nice little talk. O yes, we are very fond of our county president and dearly love to hear her talk. It is so helpful and inspiring. Come again soon Mrs. President. There is always a welcome for you. Next was a very beautiful song called "Sunrise Tomorrow" and was sung as a solo by Mrs. Howard Toulson.

Mrs. Othoson read a few extracts from an address by the late and much beloved Mrs. Emma Shafer to the Sunday School in Christ M.P.Church, Chestertown, Sunday, November 26, 1905, and published in the Kent News Saturday, December 2, 1905, a most wonderful address and warning to the young people. It was the World's Temperance Sunday.

Friends, if you haven't the KENT NEWS of that date, find someone that has, borrow it and read that most appealing address. It will do you good.

After a short address by the pastor, Mrs. Howard Toulson and Mrs. Ralph Geary sang a duet, "Speak Work and Live for Christ," A most beautiful song. Benediction by the pastor.

ST. JAMES M. P. CHURCH
Rev. J. Lee Marker, Minister.

Rally Day will be observed next Sunday, October 25th, and we are planning to have a delightful time. The children will speak. There will be special music and we are expecting to have our church filled to capacity. A brief session of Sunday school at 10 will be followed by special service at 10.30. Come and enjoy the occasion.

Special attention is called to the 7.30 service of Chestertown Endeavor. The C. E. of Christ M. P. Church Chestertown, will be present in a body and take full charge of service. It will be a very happy occasion ond you will want to be there. Let us be present in large numbers to greet them.

Feeding Suggestions For Kent Dairymen

By COUNTY AGENT McVEAN

With local Dairy Herd Improvement Association records and similar records from all over the United States proving beyond a shadow of a doubt that the well fed cow is the economical and profitable producer of milk, the Extension Service again emphasizes the need for feeding the worthwhile cows well, and culling out the cows that cannot produce profitably.

The sure method in culling is to weigh the milk—test it for butter fat and determine its market value at present milk prices. Compare the value of the product with the feed bill—remembering that the feed cost is but one-half the cost of keeping a cow. If the cow does not produce more than enough to pay the feed bill you are waiting on her and maintaining her at a loss to yourself—while the milk she produces adds to the surplus problem and therefore depresses the price of milk on the market—both facts which hit your pocket-book. The County Agent stands ready to aid individuals in checking up on their cows. The Dairy Herd Improvement Association is also available for those who want to put their dairying on a strictly business basis.

The following suggestions are offered to those who can profit from their use.

1. Feed well the cows that can produce profitably. Half feeding, either in total amount of grain or in amount of available protein, cuts down production, eliminates profits and makes culls out of good cows.

2. Use farm grown feeds as far as possible but supplement them with proteins to make a properly proportioned ration. Remember, protein is the limiting factor in milk production as well as in growth. Too little cuts down production and is therefore very expensive. Too much causes trouble and is wasted—the excess has to be thrown off through the kidneys. The amounts or percentage of protein in the grain mixture needs to vary with the size of the cow—the age of the cow, the quantity and quality of milk, and with the kind and quality of the roughages. This being true, no one mixture or formula can be designed to meet the need, equally well, of any and all cows. For this reason, the County Agent again offers his services to the individual who desires to make most efficient use of his home grown feeds and who will buy such protein rich supplements as will give him an efficient and economical mixture. The County Agent would need to know the kinds and quality or condition of the roughages and grains on hand—the average weight of the cows—the butterfat content of the milk (cooling station tests will do) and the average daily amount of milk per cow. With these facts as a guide and a price list of available high protein carriers, he can work out a suitable, economical and efficient ration.

On the other hand, it must be recalled that proper feeding is but half the battle in profitable milk production. The care and management of the cows must keep step with the feeding. Too few realize that the worthwhile dairy cow is an extremely hard working animal and that as such she responds wonderfully to—water, minerals, shade, shelter, gentleness, grooming and care.

In the Balkans, where they have every other sort of excitement known to man, they naturally have earthquakes once in a while.

Circumstances are the rulers of the weak; they are the instruments of the wise.—Lover.

S. Scott Beck, Attorney.

SAYS WORLD'S BIG NEED IS RELIGION

It's not so much money or education the world needs today but a "lot of Christian religion," the Rev. K. A Jonsson, Swedish delegate to the ecumenical Methodist conference in Atlanta, Ga., says:

He said he considered the world needed a great spiritual uplift and that he would like to see the ecumenical conference go into a big old-fashioned revival such as characterized the church in John Wesley's day.

In reference to prohibition, Dr. Jonsson said he hoped the United States would hold to the Eighteenth Amendment and "not lose courage over lapses of enforcement." He added that "you can not expect to change the habits of a nation in a day. You must be patient."

FARMERS UNFAIRLY TREATED

Always interested in farming conditions we approve heartily the statements of Judge Edwin R. Cochran, of Middletown, when he declared some days ago, that the formers of his section have been unfairly treated by the Philadelphia Dairy Council and the buyers of milk in that city. (The Philadelphia Dairy Council and the buyers of milk in that city. (The situation of the Kent County producers is the same as that of the Middletown shippers. Both localities produce for the same market. We condemn the unfair treatment likewise, and heartily, agree with the Judge in his statement which follows—

"The Philadelphia Interstate Dairy Council, of which E. I. Cohee is the head, through their inspectors, are driving the farmers to do what they claim makes their cow stables and milk houses more sanitary. While I am a great believer in sanitation in that respect, I do not think that this is the time to do it, owing to the serious problems all of the farmers have with reduced prices, not only in milk, but all their products. I think that they should allow the matter to remain status quo until farming conditions improve and declare what President Hoover did with the war debts—a moratorium extending the time for at least a year, if not longer.

"There is some question with some of the leading veterinarians of the country as to whether or not the tuberculosis problem is as serious as it was outlined several years back. to the health of the ones using milk, anyway.

"In the first place, the farmers are not treated fairly, anyway, by these large consumers or dairy council, as they call it, in the prices they pay for thier milk. Their rule, or the basic table by which they go, is very unjust and unfair. The problem has reached such a stage that it is a vital necessity for the farmers, themselves and others, for them to bring this matter to a head. After going thru the country among some of the leading farmers of this county, as Kent, I am satisfied of their position, and have about made up my mind to call a meeting of the farmers at Middletown some date in the near future and at that meeting to outline plans and take the matter up for their consideration.

"Very few of the consumers of milk here in our city realize how little the farmer gets for his milk and have a mistaken idea thot he gets somewhere near the figure for which it is sold. Such is not the case. He only gets about one-fourth the price we have to pay here retail for milk we use."

Registration Notice

AFFECTING CITIZENS MOVING INTO THE COUNTY FROM ANOTHER STATE.

Citizens moving into Kent County from another State and desiring to vote in the elections of 1932 must comply with the Acts of Assembly of 1902, which require that such persons must declare their intention of becoming citizens of the State of Maryland before the Clerk of the Circuit Court one year before the next general election in order to be eligible to register and vote in such election.

The General Assembly of 1929 attempted to repeal this law and enacted a substitute which the Court of Appeals has ruled unconstitutional. The Attorney General of Maryland, by whose opinions this Board is guided, has ruled that the decision of the Court of Appeals has made the Act of 1929 imperative and that it will be necessary for all persons moving into the State to declare his or her intention of becoming a citizen of Maryland before he or she is eligible for registration.

The opinion of the Attorney General in part, is as follows:

In 1902 the Legislature enacted a law requiring every non-resident moving into the State, wishing to vote, to register his intention of becoming a resident before a Clerk of Court one year before an election, in order to register to vote at said election. The Legislature, by Act of 1929, Chapter 578, attempted to repeal said provision ond to provide that a non-resident need not go before the Clerk, but might register upon his own affidavit and that of two voters, before the registration officers, that he had actually resided in the State a year. This new law, however, excepted two counties from its operation and on that account the Court of Appeals declared it unconstitutional (on October 31, 1930, in Bangs vs. Fey, in Md., 548), as the Constitution says that the General Assembly shall provide for a uniform registration of the names of all voters in this State, and the Court of Appeals further declared that the said law of 1902 is therefore still in force.

"It is therefore, clear, under the law as it now stands, that no person who has moved into Maryland from another State is now entitled to registration unless he or she has complied with the above requirements of the law."

Persons who were able to get on the books under the act which was declared unconstitutional must appear before a clerk of the court in Chestertown before November 3 to declare their intentions. Otherwise, they may be placed on the suspect list and their names erased from the books. It would then be too late to file their intention and their right to participate in the Presidential election would be lost.
