The Kent News

MAYOR Charles N. Satterfield called a special meeting of the City Council for last evening to confer with a number of residents of the water-front section of the town, representatives of the State Department of Health, Kent County Public Health Association and representatives of town civic organizations regarding construction of a sewerage disposal plant. The estimated cost of which is said to be $25,000.

JAMES M. HEPBRON, a former Kent countian and director of the Criminal Justice Commission of Baltimore, who has just returned from a tour in European countries during which he studies the various penal systems in operation there, was called upon by the Treasury Department to explain a statement he made that Belgium prison-made goods were imported regularly in the U. S. Such an importation is prohibited by the Tariff Act of -930.

Mr. Hepbron stated that he had seen the goods, ready for shipment, addressed to the United States. He added, however, that it was possible that the goods might have been made by bagrants, who, in Belgium, are not considered convicts.

GALENA

Mrs. Sara Thomas has returned to her home in New York City after spending several days with her sister, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse E. Ireland.

The many friends of Mrs. Rachel Stradley were sorry to hear of her death on Sunday evening at the home of her daughter, Mrs. William Reynolds in Middletown.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. L. Starr visited her brother, Mr. and Mrs. Price Roe, in Dover on Sunday.

Harry Smith, of Salisbury, spent the week-end with his wife at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Scotten.

Miss Kathryn Thornton is enjoying some days with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Thornton, of near Worton.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Dixon and Miss Dorothy Fogwell, of near town, were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Jarrell at Hockessin.

Miss Lucy Ford, of Philadelphia, is the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Merritt S. Ford.

Ben Dill is spending some time with his son, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Dill.

Mr. and Mrs. Foster Ackerman, of New Brunswick, N. J., were Sunday guests of Rev. and Mrs. W. L. Hess. Their daughter, Miss Jean, returned home with them after spending several days here.

James and William Hoddinott and Miss Ruth Ellis, of Baltimore, were week-end visitors at the home of Dr. and Mrs. George R. Jones.

Dennis McCauley is visiting his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Hudson at Dagsboro, Del.

Mrs. Mary Mark, of Centreville, visited part of this week with Mr. and Mrs. Lemuel Mark.

Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Hicks, Misses Martha and Vera Whitaker and Ella Mae Hicks spent one day last week at Annapolis.

Mr. and Mrs. Holton Parr and daughter, Miss Kathryn, and Miss Lucille Parr, of Baltimore, are spending some time with relatives in town.

Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Cohee and son, of Washington, D. C., enjoyed part of last week with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. Frank Cohee at Georgetown.

THE deflation of agriculture and the effects of the Republican tariff policy for the last ten years are large contributing causes to the present depression in the opinion of Representative Clarence Cannon of Missouri, who, in a statement, says:

"The inability of the farmer to buy what he needs because of the curtailment of his income cooperating with the effects of the tariff account in no small measure for the great depression which is paralyzing business today. The extent of this loss in buying power is demonstrated by the Census reports on thirteen major farm crops which show a value in 1920 of $7,900,000,000 and for 1930 a value of only $5,888,000,000. If the 1931 figures were available they would show an even more disastrous condition."

FEEDING WHEAT

Elsewhere in the KENT NEWS is told of feeding wheat to make it worth 92 cents a bushel.

These experiments are interesting and helpful.

Some years ago a Mr. Wood removed to Kent and astonished the neighborhood by confining his crops to corn and hogs. He purchased the Leaverton farm in Quaker Neck where he died. Mrs. Wood continues to manage the farm and her tenant is Elwood P. Vansant. They have 150 hogs and two fields of 40 acres each planted in corn. He expects to get 50 more hogs and fatten the 200 by turning them into these corn fields. He raised 40 bushels of wheat off his corn ground and will save it for feed. It is this kind of farming that is bringing success in times of depression as well as in good times.

KENNEDYVILLE

The M. P. Church is being painted inside. William Lipscomb and Harry Lipscomb are doing the work.

Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Robinson, of Baltimore, are visiting relatives.

Mrs. Mary Spry is visiting relatives in Church Hill.

FOR SALE

Peach and Tomato Baskets. Price right. Morgan Bennett, Phone 826F11 Chestertown. jy25

By BILL USILTON

SUPPOSE most everybody remembers when Anheuser-Busch beer used to be one of the wonders of the world. I never tasted any but I've heard a lot of favorable comments, all of which class it far above the dish water that you can get nowadays in the speakeasy around the corner. Anyway, what I started out to say is: the same Mr. Busch who used to make the beer has just come out with a few devastating facts that are going to be hard for the Drys to explain.

Thirteen years ago, according to Mr. Busch, the Drys' chief argument for Prohibition was not a moral reason. They wanted Prohibition because the breweries were using too much coal, too many freight cars for haulage, and too many barrels of gasoline and oil. The breweries were using too many billion bushels of WHEAT and were employing too many men — about 1,250,000 — who could be used in other industries that manufactured necessities.

What Mr. Busch want to know, and so do I, is whether it wouldn't be a fine thing in these times to open up all this business for the railroads, the gasoline companies and the unemployed of the country

And Mr. Busch also wants to know whether it wouldn't help prosperity's comeback to reopen this vast outlet to the American farmer and his grain products. And I think it would, most decidedly.

As I have been informed by one of my most trusted operatives, the consumption of grain in this country has dropped an enormous degree since prohibition; and the prices, as Mrs. Nell C. Westcott will tell you, have also dropped to a new low in the annals of American farming.

But Mr. Busch's most severe slug to the dry chin-whiskers comes whizzing over when he quotes a statement made in June, 1918, by Herbert Hoover — before he really knew whether he was a Democrat or a Republican. In that statement Mr. Hoover said he did not want, as Food Administrator, to suppress beer-making, because he did not want to be responsible for a nation-wide orgy of hard liquor drinking.

All of which is very interesting to me, not to mention a paltry four hundred million dollars' taxation that the government would collect a year on beer manufacture; which would help to clear away some of Uncle Andy Mellon's deficit.

I don't know what made me get off on the above tack today but it must have been something almost as deplorable as the beer the Boys SAY you get nowadays. Anyway, the more you hear and see of the situation today, so far as the "noble experiment" is concerned, the more certain you are the Drys—those professional ones who wield the most influence—have a great big axe to grind, and they are making a lot of honest, simple-minded, church-going people turn the handle of their grindstone.

****

A FEW THINGS I'D LIKE TO KNOW—

When are they going to appoint a principal for the Chestertown High School; and will the building always be large enough to take care of the constantly increasing enrollment?

****

Why the Chester River should be accused of pollution all of a sudden. What's all the dirt?

****

Why Roger Babson, the economist, said the end of the depression is in sight because there are fewer members in our golf clubs?

****

Why no one has remarked or complained about the cut that heads this column? Maybe but few people have read Chic Sale's tome.

****

Did the writer in the Transcript last week, under the heading of "Furrows," take the hint from me to boost Ritche and organize booster clubs throughout the State?

****

Will Marion DeKalb Smith elect Ritchie president now that Mayor Satterfield and Governor Titsworth are safely installed?

****

Why a columnist thinks his personal experiences are interesting to other people?

****

Is the week before you go on your vacation really longer than the other fifty-one weeks in the year?

****

And will I have to change the heading on this column for next week's issue, with me planning to grind it out from the good old Kent News office?
