The Kent News

SATURDAY, JULY 11, 1931

MORE than 1800 unlicensed signs were removed from the State highways in the Second district, which is under the direction of District Engineer Rolph Townshend, in a recent campaign conducted in accordance with the billboard law passed at the last session of the Legislature. A total of 15,250 illegal and obsolete signs were removed from all section of the State.

DR. RALPH G. BEACHLEY, resident deputy State health officer in charge of Kent county health work says, that the next step in the health program following the passage of pure milk ordinance last week by the Board of Town Commissioners of Chestertown a modern sewage disposal plant that will relieve a health menace due to the pollution of the Chester river into which all town sewage is at present dumped.

The State Board of Health has been cooperating with local health authorities for several years in an effort to secure this improvement and the Board of Town Commissioners submitteed a bond issue of $25,000 to the town voters looking to building the plant, but the proposal was overwhelmingly defeated by the taxpayers. Health authorities are now working out a plan by which the disposal plant may be erected probably this year.

Beginning July 1, 1931, a curtailment of the service at Chestertown postoffice was necessary, in order to comply with the recent law making it mandatory that each postal employee be given 4 hours off each Saturday, if possible, making it a 44 hours week instead of 48 as heretofore.

To comply with this law, on Saturday the Money Order window was closed at 1 P. M. All the other windows will close at 4.00 P. M. There will be no City Delivery of mail on Saturday afternoons.

JULY 4TH IN KENT

The glorious 4th was as usual a big day in old Kent. Betterton outdid itself in entertaining the largest crowd in its history while Tolchester and other resorts furnished the people attractions which were enjoyed immensely.

Baseball came in for its share of notice and drew quite a crowd.

The accident toll was unusually large. Dr. Atwell was called in seven cases at his office in Still Pond

Three members of one family, on an outing, were injured near Locust Grove, when the automobile in which they were riding skidded and collided with a telephone pole. The injured were carried to the Elkton Hospital in the Kent County Ambulance.

Joseph Hovestadt, his wife, Carlia, and their daughter, Marie, all of Raspeburg, Baltimore, were the injured members of the party of six in the automobile at the time of the accident. It is reported that the mother and daughters died soon after reaching the hospital.

Betterton is said to have entertained the largest crowd over the 4th in the history of the Kent County bayside resort. Good .

FAMOUS KENT COUNTIANS

A Kent Countian by adoption. Familiar with every road in the county. Created quite a stir when she married one of the supposedly confirmed bachelors of Chestertown . . .he is now the proud father of two children. Drives a Ford tudor. . . well, but with an air of carefree abandon. Speaks her mind . . . and will stand pat on her own conviction. Her former profession brought her into intimate contact with many families throughout the county . . . they profited by the association. She planted the seeds for many reforms that have recently been instituted in the county. Attends church regularly. . .not because its the thing to do but because she finds it helpful and resting. An interesting companion . . .witty, peppy, well-read. A public spirited citizen . . . interested in the schools and welfare organizations. Is a hard person to refuse when she is on one of her collecting rampages for a worthy charity. . .you feel like she is doing you a favor when she asks you to contribute. A born politician. . .goes out and gets the votes and taken them to the polls. Older women are fond of her company. Lovely complexion . . . dark-krown eyes. . .pleasing features . . . a brunette, with glasses to match. Likes to swim . . . golf. . .enjoys picnics. Can talk business with men, and they listen. And I think she will confess that she likes to travel without her husband, on occasion. . .though he's one of the finest. . .it recalls the days when she was a free-lancer. (The first two guesses don't count.)

****

Monday, July 20th, will bring into being Chestertown's first Mayor, encumbered with four councilmen to keep him out of mischief. An elaborate ceremony should be held and he should be handed the keys to the city. For now we will have an official welcomer. There will be no more bickering to select a representative to carry Chestertown's banner throughout the State and nation. But this Mayor has got to personify the spirit of Chestertown as accurately as Uncle Sam personifies America. To do this he must be wide-awake, abreast of the times, with a kindly smile and a cheery welcome for all. Let's hope that he isn't pompous, self-satisfied, intolerant of the views and thoughts of others, and of a reforming, disposition.

****

This is certainly an age of supersalesmen. Last week-end I journeyed some four hundred miles by train, motor-bus, and boat to a small island twenty miles off the coast of Maine in Casco Bay. Completely isolated by water, and inhabitated by islanders and summer folk who live in wooden bungalows of a primitive back-to-nature construction, this island seemed to me to be a haven from the inroads of man's mechanical ingenuity; and a pleasant hideaway from all that smacked of big business and efficiency. However, while seated at the table enjoying my first meal in this secluded spot, there came a knock at the door. My hostess opened it and was greeted by two young men. "Good morning madam, is there anything that you wish in our line. We are the Fuller Brush Salesmen!" Is it any wonder that the Indians had to give up the country when confronted with such persistency?

On the editorial page of the Baltimore Sun Wednesday there appeared a paragraph from the New York Herald Tribune, stating in so many words that not a voice was raised in protest when Jefferson Davis's statue was set up in the National Capital. The North and the South were as one.

It seems that the editorial writer on the Tribune doesn't read his contemporaries for when the statue was unveiled the New York Daily News devoted its entire editorial column to a tirade against all Southerners for their tribute to such traitors as Lee and Davis. It was so severe that I felt it my duty to join the ranks of the letters-to-the-editor addicts. There must have been several thousand others who felt the same way for. two days later and also the following Sunday, the editor devoted his entire column to the defense of his statements. Of course nothing was accomplished by us (He didn't give in an inch) but to provide him live copy for a column that would otherwise have been prepared with difficulty. And he surely showed that there was a lack of interesting material by opening up such an antiquated controversy. At least I made my debut as an historical commentator.

VOTERS AND TAX PAYERS OF CHESTERTOWN, MARYLAND

Extract from Auditors Report of the books and records of Commissioners of Chestertown made under order of Mayor E. Scott Thompson and Commissioner Henry Gill first audit for more than twenty years. Covering year prior to present boards administration.

To The Commissioner of Chestertown,
Chestertown, Maryland,
Gentlemen:

As per your resolution of June 2, 1930, appointing the undersigned to audit the books and make recommendations, we wish to submit the following statement;

We have taken the year starting April 25, 1929, and closing April 25, 1930, beginning with shortage of $176.88.

We have checked all receipts and disbursements showing balance in hand at close of business April 25th, 1930 of $1,457.17.

We find the administration of the affairs of the Town by the Commissioners have been very badly managed.

In defiance of the law which prohibits the Commissioners from borrowing money, in 1928, $6,000.00, in 1929, $3,000, $2,500, $1,500 was borrowed on notes with no record of the loans and no official action on the minutes for the borrowing of the money.

In most instances no official action on minutes of record were taken on important matters such as:

Gasoline tank permits given without charge,

Pipe line permits given without charge,

Sewer on Lynchburg Street,

Additional Street Lights,

Reduction of assessments for taxes to citizens,

Ordinances published,

Rebates on cement sidewalks given to citizens,

Bonus salary paid clerk to amount of $150.00,

Extra money paid stenographer for assistance to Clerk, $75.00,

Christmas presents given the employees,

Taxpayer's money spent for flowers,

And many other careless and irregular actions.

There is no record of the bonded indebtedness of the town showing maturities of the bonds;

We respectfully make the following recommendotions;

That new system of bookkeeping be installed,

That the town be operated on the budget system,

That committee be appointed at once to prepare and submit new charter to your Board for action at next Legislature which meets this coming January at Annapolis.

Respectfully submitted,
THOMAS W. PERKINS,
J. RAYMOND SIMPERS.

Under Commissioners Thompson and Gill's orders the auditors opened new system of books, put the town finanees on a budget system and paid off $4,000 of the towns old indebtedness during the year 1930.

For economy and better service we ask the support of every tax payer and voter of Chestertown, on July 20, 1931.

Respectfully.
HENRY GILL,
CHARLES A. BACON,
E. SCOTT THOMPSON,
R. HYNSON ROGERS.
